was raging there, and was greatly troubled in finding a boarding-house. He inquired of the first one he saw if they had the cholera in the house and learning that they had, he went to another, and another. determined not to stop at any house where the dreaded disease was doing its work of death. At last, after a long and weary search, he found one where there was no cholera, and he took up his quarters there. The master of the house was a godly man, and had a rule to have family worship.--While he was offering prayer, he groaned with some force and fervor, when the Dutchman started up and cried out-

"Vot is ter matter ! "Nothing," said the host. In a short time he groaned again, and the Dutchman started, his eyes glaring like saucers, and exclaimed -

"Oh ! mine God ! der is something ter matter mit vou." "No," said the landlord; and to calm his apprehension, he added, "I am a Methodist, and it is the custom of the members of the Metho list Church to groan during their devotions."

This was enough for the Dutchman, who at once rushed into the street for a doctor, and then begged him to run to the house on the corner. "Have they got the cholera?" asked the doctor. "No, worse; dey got ter Mettodis, and der man will die if you don't run quick !"

A RASCALLY URCHIN .-- A Boston man tells the following newsboy story:

Coupon, the corpulent banker, WO standing in State Street one hot day in August, "wiping the serville drops off his brow," when a ragged but a sharp-eyed newsboy accosted him with; "Please, sir, tell me the time ! " Coupon lugged out his Fordsham, and looking benignantly down to his interlocutor, responded : "Just two o'clock."

"All right, old buffer," said the gamin gathering his legs together for a run .--You can sell out for soap grease at three o'clock " The insulted man of money raised his cane and, making a frantic rush at his tormentor, nearly fell over a friend that was coming up; the street.

"Hallo, Coupon, what's the matter ? said the other.

"Matter" said Coupon, puffing with heat and anger, why one of those darn newsboys asked me the time, and when I told him two o'clock, the impudent young heart. The warm sympathies of his wife scoundrel said I might sell out, for soap grease at three."

"Don't be in such a hurry," was the malicious response, "it's only five minutes past two ; you've got fifty-five minutes to do it in."

"A GAL BABY AT THAT." -- To desire a change of sex is not commonly considered a manly aspiration; to weep about it seems ludicrous. Yet the thing has been done, and on the tented field.
