How to ROAST & PIG .- To have it in prime order it should be from four five weeks old, not older, and should be killed and dressed the day before roaating Make a stuffing of bread crumbs, dry, aud two or three good onions chopped fine, and about two tablespoonfuls of finely powdered sage, well seasoned with salt and pepper Allow no water in the pan; bake whole in a good oven, and rub often with a little bag of butter. When done, the fat should be all poured from the pan, a little water added to the brown gravy, boiled up, and either poured over the pig or served in a tureen. It should be served with hot plates apple sauce, hot, and very nice oniou sauce The onion sauce is made in the following way, and is excellent with roast leg of mut ton, roast pork. Peel six or seven good sized onions, and boil in water. When tender, drain and chop fine. Set it to boil a little over a pint of milk-water will do if you have no milk but it will require more butter. Take a tablespoonful of flour, blend it with a small piece of butter, and stir the milk. when boiling, put in the onion and serve hot.

HOW TO MAKE RAILS DURABLE .-- Almost every one notices a difference in rails used for fencing material, Timber lett with the bark on rots very much quicker than that which is split and seasoned. Some rails last but three or four years, and others are good for fifteen or twenty. There is a difference of course, in the woods used for this purpose. Birch poles are sometimes worthless after a year's use, and chestnut s very durable. Experiments show that rails cut and split after midsmmer last much longer than those prepared in winter but summer is usually full .occupied with tillage and harvest, and of necessity fencing material must be prepared at a time of more leisure. If cut early in winter. (and none should be cut late) have the logs split immediately, and the rails piled where the sun and wind can have free access to them. It is a good plan to draw them to where they are to be used, as the ground is now frozen. Peel poles too small CORNER OF COURT HOUSE SQUARE, for splitting.

STRAY GRAINS FOR CHICKENS---Under this tittle the Gardener's Magazine (English gives the following sensible hints: "Feed your poultry on raw onions chopped fine mixed with other food. about twice a week. It is better than a dozen cures for chicken cholera. Fowls exposed to dampness are apt to be troubled with catarrah, which will run to croup, if not attended to. Red pepper, mixed with soft feed, several times will remove the cold. Pulverized charcoal, given occasionally, is a preventive of putrid affections, to which fowls are very subject. Setting hens can be cured by putting water in a vessel to the depth of one inch, putting the ben into it and covering the top of the vessel for about twenty-four hours. The vessel should be deep enough to allow the fowls to stand up. This is the best remedy I ever tried. Pulverized chalk admininistered with soft feed, will cure diarrhœa. This disorder is caused by want of variety in the food. Garlic fed once or twice a week is excellent for colds "

ORCHARD SITES .--- Those who are about farming new orchard should study well the location remembering that an elevation of only a few feet often renders a location free from frost, and thus insures the crop of fruit. Again, it is not only that the bills are more exempt from frost than valleys in summer cause a more rapid and succusent growth, less capable of enduring uninjured the severity of winter.

ABOUT HORSES .--- From the Rochester Union we take the following:

Horses as a general thing get too much licking and too little feed. If a man loses his hat while driving his horse. he licks the horse, to pay for it. If he runs into another wagon through his own careless ness, he licks his horse to make it all right If he slips or stumbles he gets licked for it .-- if he dose anything he gets licked, and if he don't do anything he gets the same A great many horses know "a sight" more than their drivers, and if they could change places with them society at large would be the gainers, and so would the borses.

RANCID BUTTER To a pint of water add thirty drops (about half a teaspoonful) of liquid chloride of lime. Wash in this two and a half pounds of rancid butter. When every particle of the butter has come in contact with the water, let it stand an hour or two; then wash it well in pure water. The butter is theu left without any odor, and has the sweetness of fresh butter These preparations of lime have nothing injurious in them.

We copy tht above from one of our ex changes, the editor of which says:

"We forthwith obtained some of the most rancid butter, and bad enough for any stomach that had more sensibility than a wagon-wheel. We doctered it as per recipe and when placed on the table along with new, good batter, very able judges could not distinguish which was the new butter. Here is a fact worth a year's subscription to a paper."
