In selecting a cow, procure, if poss ible, one with a very yellow skin, black ose, and black about the hed and legs, and I warrant you she will give rich milk.

Honeycomb Gingerbread - Half-pound flour, half a pound moist sugar, quarter of a pound of butter, quarter of a pound of treacle with ginger and lemon to the taste.

Flax seed occasionally given to horses, or cattle, will make them shed their old hair-and whether old or young soon get sleek and fat. It is the only thing which will fatten old horses.

FITTING HORSE COLLARS.—An exchange recommends wetting a new collar just before putting it on the first time, and then adjusting the hams to suit the neck and shoulders and setting the horse to work, so as to have the collar adjust itself to the proper shape.

Hıram Woodruff says, in his book about trotting horses, that a pull on both reins will not bring up a horse when he has broken from a trot. A firm, quick pull should be given on one rein, letting the other give a little, as much as you want the horse's head thrown out of line,

A correspondent of the New England Furmer does not approve of growing grape vines on trees. He says he planted a grape vine close to a tree. As long as the tree was small he was benefited by the grapes but when the tree became large the biris lodged in it and devoured the grapes.

It is said that a small quantity of sun-flower seed mixed with the food of a horse, will impart a gloss to his coat, and is a sure cure for founder, if given immediately after that disease is discovered .-When given as a remedy about one pint of seed should be mixed with oats or other

Cows should be dried off a month before the time of calving. Keep an eye to their coats, and if they stare, instead of lying close and sleek, or if there be a glassy unnatural appearance about the eye, there is something the matter. If there be eos tiveness give feeds of bran until it be cor-

Guard very strictly against lice. There are, very commenly, only the accompani ment of some podily disorder which should be corrected, but should be promptly de stroyed be the use of of cabolic soap.

-RAISING GRESE - Grese are very easil. reared, and grow very fast. If they have plenty of grass, they need not be fed more than other fowls, and some. I believe, do not feed them at all except in winter After the goslings are all well out of the shell, they should be taken from the nest and put in a coop, in which they should stay until they are a week or two old When they are comparatively strong, the may be turned out with their mother. A hole should be dug large enough to hold two three buckets of water, for the goslingsto drink and wash themselves in. This hole, of course, will not answer after they are grown to a large size. When youing, they should be fed three or four times a day, on meal and milk, and some give cooked potatoes. Geese do not lay any eggs in their first year, and those three or four years old make better breeders than those younger. The gander can generally be told by his color, and by his pom pous and stiff bearing. The young are troubled by the cramp when they sleep on a damp, wet place.

LIMA BEANS.

All will agree that there is no bean grown at all to compare with the Lima, especially when eaten green, but even as a winte bean. Used in the winter it is, different from all others from the fact that it is nearly equal in quality to what it is in its green state. But all may not know that it is the most difficult of beans to raise, its principal enemy is a wet spring, It is of so large a size and infirm that when planted, if the weather is moist, it become soaked through and rots, sometimes even after it has sprouted. It not infrequently happens that two and even three planting are necessary and the crop fails afterward Sometimes a hot, dry August renders the vines barren; sometimes heavy rains just at the period of inflorescence will "do" for

The best mode to raise Lima beans suc cessfully is to select a dry spot for the bed, plant the poles firmly, elevate the hills, and set the seed perpendicularly just under the surface, first greasing the seed with lard or butter. If the soil is rich and not too we the chances are that a good crop will be the result.

But to insure a good crop as nearly a it can be done, plant the beans in a shallow box filled with the best soil about one incl each way, says about the middle or 20th of April, place the bex in a hot bed, or it a sunny window of a constantly heated room of a house, and start the plants there. When the period arrives for transplanting that is, when the period of probable fros is over- set them carefully out by the pole taken as much earth with them, sufficiently moist to adhere, as possible, make a hole with a round- printed stick of suitable size and draw up the earth and press gently Should a frost threaten, cover with old paper, straw or hay, the former being the st as it is easier to manage, makes less dirt and can be saved for future occasions A few clods will keep the paper covering in its place. But this should be what might be called the early or first crop of Limas. The sec pad crop should be planted in the usua way, and from the two it would rarely hap pen that enough for summ r and winter use in case the plot of ground is large enough would not be secured.

C. J. WRIGHT. Tunk, Pa., Jan. 1st, 1869.—v8n22-lv Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color. A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color

with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sedi-ment, it will keep it clean and vigorous Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet kists

long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume. Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., PRACTICAL AND ANALYTICAL CHEMISTS,
