HARRISBURG, PA.

Friday Afternoon, November 28, 1862.

LOCUST TREES is becoming an article of great demand in the market, as that kind of wood is very largely used in ship building.

DEATH OF MISS THOMAS.—We regret to announce the death of a beloved daughter of Adjutant General L. Thomas. This severe affliction will account for the absence of this gentleman from the city for a few days.

BALD EAGLE VALLEY RAILROAD.—We learn that a passenger car is now running on this road from Tyrone to Port Matilda, and it is expected that by the middle of December the road will be in operation as far as Bellefonte.

SAD ACCIDENT.—Mr. John C. Ivory, a resident of Clearfield township, Blair county, was almost instantly killed on day last week by the upsetting upon him of a wagon load of lumber which he was transporting to market.

ORGAN HARMONIUM, on exhibition until to-morrow evening—a superb instrument equal to a $1000 organ, procured for the M. E. Church, Locust st., from the oldest, largest and best makers in the United States, Prices & Co., Buffalo, by their agent, S. Ward, No. 12 N. 3rd st. Professors, amateurs, call and examine.

DR. HAY'S SERMON.—Immediately after the conclusion of Dr. Hay's sermon, on Thanksgiving Day, and when the congregation had been dismissed, some of the most prominent members of the Lutheran Church solicited a copy of the production, with a view to its publication. To this request Dr. Hay cordially though modestly yielded, and we now have the pleasure to announce that the sermon in question will appear, in full, in the TELEGRAPH of to-morrow morning and evening. Persons wishing extra copies for circulation, should leave their order at the TELEGRAPH office before to-morrow at noon.

BEAR SHOT.—On Monday, the 17th, Mr. Norris, in company with another gentleman, who resides on Terrace Mountain, Huntingdon county, gave chase to a bear that paid them a visit and feasted himself in the orchard. After pursuing it for about two miles, the bear took to a tree from which he was brought down by a ball through the left breast. He soon after expired from the repeated attacks of the dogs and loss of blood. Though not being the largest bear that has ever been killed in this vicinity, yet it was of a good size—its weight being 252½ pounds clean meat.

TERRIBLE FALL.—Mr. Frederick Halcy, of South Pittsburg, met with a frightful accident on Tuesday last, by falling from the trestle work of the Connellsville Railroad, near the gas works, a distance of thirty-five feet. He crossed the railroad bridge to meet his coal teams at the upper Monongahela bridge, but slipping in some way or other, he was precipitated from the trestle work to the ground. He was found in a helpless condition, being deprived of the power of motion, and having no feeling in his lower limbs, the result of a fracture of the spine below the shoulder blade, and removed to his home in Monongahela borough.

MAN KILLED.—On Thursday morning last, a brakeman, named James McClure, running on one of the freight trains between Altoona and Harrisburg, fell from the train a short distance above Huntingdon and was instantly killed, the cars passing over his body and cutting it almost in twain. He had been directed by the conductor to assist in shifting some stock cars from the train on the siding at Petersburg, and it is supposed that while attempting to pass from his position, on the front of the train to the rear, over the top of the cars, he missed his footing and fell upon the track. Diseased was a native of Martinsburg, Va.

TIMELY SUGGESTION.—The following communication contains suggestions which will be approved of by all our readers. We earnestly commend the proposition of the writer to those having authority to act in the matter:

At this season, when sickness is prevalent in every city, and more particularly in this, from the great influx of strangers, and the heads of many families here absent in our army, will not our citizens, through our Councils, establish a Dispensary, where the poor can obtain medicines, and employ one or more physicians to vaccinate all our citizens; and call the attention of the State authorities to direct the vaccination of the soldiers in the camps. Please publish this, and oblige

STRAWS SHOW WHICH WAY THE WIND BLOWS.—Money Makes the Mare Go—are two ancient and common proverbs, which suggested themselves to us the other day, as we heard related an incident at once rich and racy. A certain well known secession sympathizer, whose proclivities are all opposed to virtue, temperance and religion, justified his boasted neglect to attend church, on the ground that the Harrisburg clergy are given to fanaticism. This fanaticism consists of an outspoken, fearless and manly attachment to the cause of the country, as that cause and country are imperilled by the hellish influences and servile adulators of the institution of slavery. Lately, however, this secession sympathizer has discovered that one of our ministers never preaches "fanaticism"—never alludes to the country in his prayers or his sermons—but in private conversation proclaims himself the friend of slavery, on the ground that human slavery is essential to the prosperity and the progress of the American nation. Secesh dough-facism became convulsed with ecstasy with this feeling on the part of the pastor, and in high approval, sent him a check for fifty dollars. Truly, straws show which way the wind blows, and money makes the mare go!

DOWN COMES HIS HOUSE.—The Altoona Tribune thus disposes of impudence and plagiarism, as both are developed in this region:

The local of the Harrisburg Patriot and Union trails out against exchanges copying items from that paper and changing them to suit their respective localities, without giving credit. Consistency is a jewel not possessed by the local of the Patriot and Union, as we find, in the same column with the complaint, a local notice of the killing of Barney Gaven, which appears without credit.

KISSING.—A gentleman wrote: "Men scorn to kiss among themselves, And scarce would kiss a brother, But women want to kiss so bad, They kiss and kiss each other."

Whereupon a lady pencilled this reply, and left it for the fool's instruction:

"Men do not kiss among themselves, And it's well that they refrain; The bitter dose would vex them so, They would never kiss again."

As sometimes on poor woman's lips Is applied this nauseous lotion, We have to kiss among ourselves, As a counteracting potion."

STRICKEN FROM THE ROLL OF ATTORNEYS ON HIS OWN MOTION.—The Pittsburg Dispatch says that Jacob B. Miller, Esq., of Fayette county, in the Supreme Court, on Tuesday afternoon, moved that his name be stricken from the roll of attorneys, for the reason that one of the Judges had impeached his integrity, and therefore he was not willing to practice in a court, one of whose members might entertain a suspicion of his fidelity as an attorney.

Justice Woodward interrupted Mr. Miller to say that he had misunderstood the reference made to him, and intimated that it would be better to withdraw the motion.

Mr. Miller insisted upon his motion. He might rest under the imputation if he were a young man, ambitious in the profession, but at his time of life professional interest could not induce him to yield at the expense of self-respect. He could defend and vindicate, out of court, his character, which had, for the first time, been impeached in court.

Chief Justice Lowrie said Mr. Miller had a right to have his name withdrawn from the list of attorneys. The motion was granted.

Mr. Miller complained of the language used by Justice Reed in the opinion delivered by him in the case of Jacob B. Miller vs. Elmina Reynolds, error to the Court of Common Pleas of Fayette county, the judgment of the Court below being affirmed. Judge R. says: "There were two uncommon provisions in this contract which we hope never to see again in such agreements between attorney and client—that she should not compromise without his consent in writing, and that the attorney should procure indemnity for costs, so that she should in no event be liable for costs."

CHAPTER OF ACCIDENTS.—The Altoona Tribune of the 27th ult. says that on Wednesday last, the engine of the mail train eastward struck a man named Henry Noel, and threw him over the embankment in the vicinity of Alleghrippa station, on the mountain above this place. It appears that he was walking on the track, and observing a freight train approaching from the east, he stepped over to the south track just as the passenger train, which he had not noticed, came along, and he was knocked over the embankment. The train was immediately stopped and the injured man taken up, placed on board and brought to this place, where his wounds were dressed by Dr. Gemmill. Strange as it may appear, all the injuries he received were about the head—a cut on the chin, one on his forehead and another on the back of his head. No marks whatever can be found upon his body.

On Friday last, Thomas Carson, an engineer on the mountain division, had his left leg broken between the knee and ankle, and badly squeezed above the knee by being caught by some of the machinery of his locomotive, in attempting to oil it while it was in motion. Dr. Gemmill reduced the fracture, and Tommy is now as comfortable as the nature of his wounds will admit.

On Saturday afternoon, a brakeman named Walter Davis, while attempting to couple a coal car to a truck car, in the yard in this place, received a compound fracture of the right leg below the knee. It appears that he was standing on the coal car, the bumper of which is lower than that of the stock car, and the latter ran over the top of the other and caught his leg. Dr. Gemmill was called in and reduced the fracture, and at this writing the unfortunate man is doing well. He was taken to Greensburg on Monday morning, to which place he belonged.

PLAIN TALK AT THE PROPER TIME.—It would not be out of place if the following communication were read from every pulpit in the city. Fearing, however, that it will not be given to the public through that medium, we cheerfully give it a place in our columns, commending it alike for its truthfulness and frankness. Let those derelict in the manner of which a volunteer complains, heed the complaint and advice which follow and then amend their conduct:

EDITOR OF THE TELEGRAPH.—When a friend or half a dozen of them calls to pay me a visit I expect them, before entering my house, to make use of the scraper at the door and the rug inside, though there are some few who neglect it, and ladies, I am sorry to say, amongst them. But if a gentleman would come in with mud on his shoes and amuse himself by rubbing it off on the carpet in my parlor; I would most likely request him to walk out; and if he would indulge in the use of tobacco, and saturate my carpets with the same, I would most likely kick him out. I think the majority of well bred folks feel as I do on this subject, and if we feel thus with regard to our own houses, how should we feel with regard to the house of God. The citizens of this place, with commendable zeal, have been at great expense in furnishing their churches and putting them in such a condition that we can say, "Lord, I have loved the habitations of Thy house, and the place where Thine Honor dwelleth." We cordially invite all to come in and worship with us, but may we not expect the same regard of propriety to be observed in the churches that we do in private dwellings? Let those who come with large parties, see to it that all mouths are clear of tobacco before entering, that the scraper and rug are used, the feet kept on the floor instead of against the point on the back of the pew, and the house of God regarded at least as equal to a private residence.

FIVE THOUSAND SCHOOL TEACHERS have enlisted in the army from Ohio.

CRIMES IN THE WEST.—The following description of a horrid cutting affair in St. Louis, on the 21st inst., reminds one of the earlier days of the west, when carving a human body was esteemed quite a manly accomplishment among the pioneers and bravados of the frontier.—The St. Louis Democrat, of the 22d inst., thus describes the affair:

The parties were James Kelly, alias "Little Red"—a well-known desperado and thief—and a river man named James McInerney. They were formerly associated as boatmen, and "old grudge" appears to have ripened between them. Meeting each other at a house, they were soon in an altercation that resulted in Kelly's exclaiming, "D—n you, you drew a knife on me." This McInerney denied, but Kelly reiterated it, and at the same time drawing a knife, quickly cut McInerney twice transversely in the abdomen, causing an immediate and fearful protrusion of the bowels. The perpetrator fled, and since that time eluded arrest. The victim was committed to the care of Dr. Grinstead, the Health clerk, who re-arranged the displaced viscera, sewed up the wound and dispatched the patient to the city hospital. Happily the intestines were not cut.

THE PAST AND THE FUTURE.—After the beautiful sunshine that seemed to bless yesterday, which was set apart for thanksgiving and prayer, we find this morning cloudy, and the white winged messenger (snow) is fast descending to tell us that stern winter is now upon us. It is prudent then to provide against the cold weather, and in selecting winter garments it is our privilege as well as our interest to consult durability, style, cheapness and the place at which the best assortment can be found. We are speaking of those handsome cloth coats, sacks and sets of furs at the cheap dry goods house of Ulrich & Bowman, south east corner of Front and Market streets. nov28.

Asthma.

Jonas Whitcomb's Remedy.—Prepared from a German receipt obtained by the late Jonas Whitcomb, in Europe. It is well known how he has alleviated this disorder in his case, when all other appliances of medical skill had been abandoned by him in despair. In no case of purely asthmatic character has it failed to give immediate relief, and it has effected many permanent cures. Within the past two years this remedy has been used in thousands of cases with astonishing and uniform success. It contains no poisonous or injurious properties whatever; an infant may take it with perfect safety. For sale by C. K. Keller, Druggist, No. 91 Market street, sole agent for this city. n24-1w-eod-wit

A MODEL ESTABLISHMENT.—Among the many improvements lately made in our city, to which we can point with pride as an evidence of prosperity and as a determination on the part of our business men, no longer to remain behind the "light house," is the completion of Eby & Kunkle's large brick building at the corner of Market and Fifth streets, which is alike creditable to the owners and ornamental to that part of our city.

The building is not only one of the largest, devoted to the grocery business, outside of New York, but the stock challenges comparison. Without going into detail, we may safely say that the firm keep on hand everything usually kept in a grocery store, (liquors excepted), and that they sell at very small profits. Their clerks are civil and accommodating, and have strict instructions under no circumstances whatever to misrepresent or take advantage of any customer. A general invitation is extended to the public to visit the new building and examine the extensive stock, whether they purchase or not.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 3, 1862.

Mrs. Ball.—I feel no hesitancy in acknowledging the virtues of your medicine, its soothing influence and healing power. For several years I was afflicted with dyspepsia, and during my stay in Harrisburg you cured me in the short space of one month, of that annoying and distressing disease, and at the same time also cured me of a running sore, which had existed for over one year without ceasing. During my years of affliction, I applied frequently to doctors of medicine, but they proved ineffectual. I have the utmost confidence and belief in the power of your medicine, and would say to those afflicted, who wish to enjoy life in its natural element, with a system renewed to vigorous nature, to try your medicine as I did. Yours, truly, GEO. J. McOBERY, 54 North Eighth Street, Philadelphia.

[Extract from a letter on the Battle Field.]

This battle (Antietam) has been the most sanguinary of the war, and the only one fought with visible design and upon military principles. The arrangement of our corps—the overlooking position of the commanding General—the sending into action of the right and the left division—the closing up of the centre, and final success—excites bewildering admiration, and carries the mind to the great fields of Austerlitz and Wagram, fought by Napoleon. Of all this have I spoken: The heart history of such a conflict, purchased by the life and blood of twenty thousand men must be found in the hospitals. War has its glories—but it has its ten thousand demons in these human tortures, that make the eyeballs ache—the heart bleed—the lips pale, and the brain reel. The sight is at first positively unendurable. The life-blood of some is still trickling away in silent calmness—while the disengaged limbs and maniac brain of others give rise to sounds God grant I may not again witness.

But ye mothers who here seek a son—or wives who here seek a husband—or sisters who here seek a father—know and be consoled that even here the hand of mercy is watchful, and better care is bestowed upon your loved ones than might at first seem possible. It was in the hospital where rested the gallant Hooker, that I learned the history of those mythical words so often seen and so little understood, "S. T.—1860—X." Anything alleviating the sufferings and saving the lives of our soldiers, is a national blessing. I witnessed some astonishing results from this article.

It is well known the effect of burnt gunpowder and excitement is thirst, which added to the loss of blood in the wounded, creates the necessity of a reviving stimulant. In this particular hospital, the physicians were allowing their patients to drink Plantation Bitters, otherwise called S. T.—1860—X, and although the wounded are most numerous here—this division having opened the fight at 5 in the morning—the men were mostly composed, and there was very little fainting. The article acts upon the stomach and nerves in a most incomprehensible manner, superior to brandy, and without subsequent stupefying reaction. It originated in the West Indies, composed of the celebrated Ollisays Bark, Roots, Herbs, &c.; all preserved in St. Croix Rum—the S. T.—1860—X being a secret ingredient, not yet revealed to the public. It is principally recommended for want of appetite, disordered liver, intermittent fevers, stomachic difficulties, &c. I understand it was somewhat known in the Southern States prior to the war, and it appears an agent of Jefferson Davis recently applied to the proprietors for the privilege to make it for hospital purposes during the war, to which they made the following reply: New York, Jan. 16th, 1862.

Mr. Agent of, &c. Dear Sir.—In reply to your communication, offering us "Fifty thousand dollars for the recipe and right to make the Plantation Bitters for your hospital purposes during the war," we beg to say, your price is a liberal one, considering it would cost us nothing to comply, and that otherwise we can derive no revenue from the Southern States; but sir, our duties to our Government and our ideas of consistency would not allow us to entertain it, although it might please us to assuage the sufferings of your misguided followers. We remain, Very respectfully yours, P. H. DRAKE & CO.

These gentlemen give the history of certain ingredients to their article for over two hundred years—showing that through all changes of the medical profession and the practitioners, strength, composure and cheerfulness have been derived from these sources. Dr. Woods in the Washington Hospitals informed me that one patient was fast sinking and crazy, and had not slept an hour for two weeks, until the Plantation Bitters came to his knowledge, when one day's trial gave him a night's rest, and he was now fast recovering. I am surprised our Government has not equalled Jefferson Davis in energy, and adopted this invaluable article in all our hospitals. The weak soldiers clinging to it like a brother. As a lay member, I can bear witness it is "good," "safe," and affords more energy and life than anything I ever tried. Success to the Plantation Bitters.

But I have digressed. In my next I shall speak of gathering in the wounded, burying the dead, &c. NICODEMUS. nov5-d&wlm oct&sew
