Medical.

DR. JOHNSON
BALTIMORE
LOCK HOSPITAL.

HAS discovered the most certain, speedy and effectual remedies in the world for

DISEASES OF IMPRUDENCE.

RELIEF IN SIX TO TWELVE HOURS.

NO MERCURY OR NOXIOUS DRUGS.

A Cure Warranted, or No Charge, in from One to Two Days.

Weakness of the Back, Affections of the Kidneys and Bladder, Involuntary discharges, Impotency, General Debility, Nervousness, Dyspepsia, Languor, Low Spirits, Confusion of Ideas, Palpitation of the Heart, Timidity, Trembling, Dimness of Sight or Giddiness, Disease of the Head, Throat, Nose or Skin, Affections of the Liver, Lungs, Stomach or Bowels—those terrible disorders arising from the Solitary Habits of Youth—those secret and solitary practices more fatal to their victims than the song of Syrens to the Mariners of Ulysses, blighting their most brilliant hopes or anticipations, rendering marriage, &c., impossible,

YOUNG MEN

Especially, who have become the victims of Solitary Vice, that dreadful and destructive habit which annually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of Young Men of the most exalted talents and brilliant intellect, who might otherwise have entranced listening Senates with the thunders of eloquence or waked to ecstasy the living lyre, may call with full confidence.

MARRIAGE.

Married Persons, or Young Men contemplating marriage, being aware of physical weakness, organic debility, deformities, &c., speedily cured.

He who places himself under the care of Dr. J. may religiously confide in his honor as a gentleman, and confidently rely upon his skill as a Physician.

ORGANIC WEAKNESS

Immediately Cured, and full vigor restored.

This distressing affection—which renders life miserable and marriage impossible—is the penalty paid by the victims of improper indulgence. Young persons are too apt to commit excesses from not being aware of the dreadful consequences that may ensue. Now, who that understands the subject, will pretend to deny that the power of procreation is lost sooner by those falling into improper habits than by the prudent. Besides being deprived the pleasures of healthy offspring, the most serious and destructive symptoms to both body and mind arise. The system becomes deranged, the physical and mental functions weakened, loss of procreative power, nervous irritability, dyspepsia, palpitation of the heart, indigestion, constitutional debility, a wasting of the frame, cough, consumption, decay and death.

OFFICE, No. 7 SOUTH FREDERICK STREET, Left hand side going from Baltimore street, a few doors from the corner. Fail not to observe name and number.

Letters must be paid and contain a stamp. The Doctor's Diplomas hang in his office.

DR. JOHNSON,

Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, London, graduate from one of the most eminent colleges in the United States, and the greater part of whose life has been spent in the hospitals of London, Paris, Philadelphia and elsewhere, has effected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known; many troubled with ringing in the head and ears when asleep, great nervousness, being alarmed at sudden sounds, bashfulness, with frequent blushing, attended sometimes with derangement of mind were cured immediately.

TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE.

These are some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, viz: weakness of the back and limbs, pains in the head, dimness of sight, loss of muscular power, palpitation of the heart, dyspepsia, nervous irritability, symptoms of consumption, &c.!

MENTALLY.—The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded—loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion to society, self distrust, love of solitude, timidity, &c., are some of the evils produced.

YOUNG MEN

Who have injured themselves by a certain practice indulged in when alone, a habit frequently learned from evil companions, or at school, the effects of which are nightly felt, even when asleep, and if not cured, renders marriage impossible, and destroys both mind and body, should apply immediately.

What a pity that a young man, the hope of his country, the darling of his parents, should be snatched from all prospects and enjoyments of life, by the consequence of deviating from the path of nature and indulging in a certain secret habit. Such persons must, before contemplating

Reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to promote connubial happiness. Indeed, without these, the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage: the prospect hourly darkens to the view; the mind becomes shadowed with despair and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happiness of another becomes blighted with our own.

DISEASE OF IMPRUDENCE.

When the misguided and imprudent votary of pleasure finds he has imbibed the seeds of this painful disease, it too often happens that an illtimed sense of shame or the dread of discovery deters him from applying to those who, from education and respectability, can alone befriend him. He falls into the hands of ignorant and designing pretenders, who, incapable of curing, fill his pecuniary substance, keep him trifling month after month, or as long as the smallest fee can be obtained, and in despair leave him with ruined health to sigh over his galling disappointment, or, by the use of the deadly poison, Mercury, hasten the constitutional symptoms of this terrible disease, such as affections of the Head, Throat, Nose, Skin, etc. progressing with frightful rapidity till death puts a period to his dreadful sufferings by sending him to that undiscovered country from whence no traveller returns.

INDORSEMENT OF THE PRESS.

The many thousands cured at this institution year after year, and the numerous important surgical operations performed by Dr. Johnson, witnessed by the reporters of the Sun, Clipper, and many other papers, notices of which have appeared again and again before the public, besides his standing as a gentleman of character and responsibility, is a sufficient guarantee to the afflicted.

ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.

HEADQUARTERS 84TH P. V., NEAR STONEMAN'S SWITCH, ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, May 9, 1863.

Correspondence of the Telegraph.]

Your paper having always manifested a lively interest in the Pennsylvania troops, and being read extensively in the State, I take occasion to write you concerning the late battle at Chancellorville, and to describe the fortunes and misfortunes which two famous Pennsylvania regiments experienced therein, viz:—the 84th and 110th P. V.

These regiments, together with a splendid regiment from New Hampshire, the 12th N. H. Vol., constituted the 2d brigade, 3d division, 3d corps, and were commanded as follows:—The 84th by Lieut. Col. Milton Opp, the 110th by Col. James Crowther, and the 12th N. H. by Col. J. H. Potter.

Col. S. M. Bowman, of the 84th P. V., has been for some time acting Brigadier General, commanding the brigade, and was in command throughout the entire engagement. After marching down the river, and up the river, and across the river, and after skirmishing to front, and dashing here and cautiously feeling our way there, for several days and nights, our brigade lay down upon its arms in front of the enemy on the night of the 2d of May, near Chancellorville, expecting an engagement as soon as it was daylight next morning.

It is wonderful how little of a great army one can see, and how little of a great battle one can know, although he may be of the one and in the other. Batteries in the open field—batteries in the roads—batteries down the ravine and up the ravine, and troops all around—it was difficult to tell our own from the enemy, except by the direction of the fire and whizzing shot.

Our brigade, soon after daylight, lay stretched along a small creek which meandered through a field and near the base of a plateau on which our artillery had been placed.

It was our duty to support the batteries on our right, or in case of need, support Birney's division in front. On our left rifle pits and temporary cover made of fence rails had been constructed during the night, and a line of our troops occupied those slight defences, and from all the indications it would seem that our brigade might not be actively employed, unless the enemy should break through our line.

At daylight the engagement began. The enemy seemed to have massed his troops on our left and made a most vigorous attack in that direction before sunrise. The firing was at first fitful and scattering, but soon the enemy plied his artillery, and his infantry advanced, and it soon became evident that the fight was nearer at hand and nearer us than we had supposed. In a few moments more the rebels were in sight upon our left approaching nearer and nearer to the thin line of troops which separated us from them.

It was the duty of this line to hold the rebels and drive them back; but, to our mortification and dismay, we saw them at one point waver and at another ingloriously abandon their defences and run, without discharging a single volley, leaving a great gap through which we could be attacked—our left turned, and the most disastrous consequences be inflicted at the very beginning of the engagement.

Under these circumstances what was to be done? There was no time to be lost. The enemy was making for the snug cover abandoned by our troops.

If they could once attain that position we were completely flanked. But there was a brigade commander not far off not easily surprised. His eye caught and his mind comprehended the emergency. Dashing to the left of the brigade, he ordered the 84th and 110th to left face, double quick, march! and in less time than it takes to record it these two regiments started on a race for the same cover abandoned by our troops, which position we attained and drove the enemy back, held the position and captured several prisoners, who had advanced too far to make good their retreat. Not one of our men hesitated or faltered.

I need not say Col. Bowman was the brigade commander alluded to—nor need I say he is an exceedingly able commander in action, but these are sad and fearful times, and he will pardon the liberty I am taking with his name. I think his men would follow him anywhere, even in the face of death.

He charged us to hold the position at all hazards and at any cost, and right well did we do it for two hours.

It was a terrible battle, and our part of it was especially so. After driving back the enemy and holding him in check for two hours, we were completely flanked, and the only way of escape was to cut our way out. We had been left entirely alone. The artillery had been removed. The line to our right had given way. Our left had been turned and the rebels came down at our backs demanding our surrender. We preferred a running fight, but, alas, this was severe. We were closed upon by two parallel lines, and in running the gauntlet but few escaped. The 110th was on our right and started first and thereby avoided much of the enemy's raking fire. The 84th was last to start and consequently suffered most. The 84th lost in killed, wounded and missing two hundred and nineteen, and the 110th forty-three. The 12th New Hampshire fought in another part of the field and fought bravely too, and lost heavily. Its aggregate loss was three hundred and sixteen. Total loss of brigade five hundred and seventy-eight, and yet I see it stated in the Washington Chronicle that our loss was only twenty-three.

General Whipple, our division commander, a brave and good man, passed unhurt through the battle, and was killed by a stray ball the next day. His death is universally mourned. He lived long enough, however, to tell us we had fought bravely, that we had done our duty to admiration, and congratulated Colonel Bowman for his admirable conduct, assuring him we had, by our courage and gallantry, saved the fortunes of the day, almost before sunrise in the morning.

Colonel Crowther, of the 110th, was killed, and Major Jones wounded and made prisoner. The conduct of these officers is highly spoken of. In fact, these two regiments cannot be surpassed in a fight, and it is only to be regretted that regiments on the right and left had not stood by us. If this had been done, the rebels would never have crossed that line. I send you a list of casualties.

FROM WASHINGTON.

A FUGITIVE SLAVE CASE

WASHINGTON, May 13.

A fugitive slave case is pending in the Supreme Court for this District, which excites much interest

Chief Justice Carter, to-day, said it was not for the tribunal to review the decisions already pronounced by superior courts, and the practice of both the executive and legislative departments. As to the constitutionality of the law that is settled. This institution of slavery, this madness arbitrarily to control men involves the nation's life struggle, and has sent some of the best men of the country to premature graves; but the case will be executed because it is in the bond, and no further. No man can be arrested and sent back to a disloyal master. The men who owned this property are apparently dead to the love of country, and would give it for a nigger.

FROM FORTRESS MONROE.

FORTRESS MONROE, May 12.

The rebel commissioner for the exchange of prisoners came down the James river to Newport News yesterday for a conference with Colonel Ludlow, United States commissioner, in reference to the delivery to the latter of the large number of officers and men now in Richmond and recently captured at Fredericksburg.

Transports have been sent up this morning to City Point to bring down our released prisoners. Suitable provision has been made for the sick and wounded.

General Hays is not wounded as reported.

The steamer State of Maine left here this morning for City Point with nine hundred rebel prisoners, who were captured at Fredericksburg.

The 3d New York Regiment, Col. Alford, has been on garrison duty for several months past; about four hundred of the members of this fine regiment will take their departure to-night for their homes, their term of enlistment having expired. The most of them leave on a short furlough, however, having re-enlisted for the war.

Some three hundred contrabands, with as many horses, followed Colonel Kilpatrick's cavalry into Gloucester Point, and were there turned over to the Provost Marshal.

General Dix has gone to West Point.

A prize schooner, with a cargo of cotton, arrived here this afternoon. She was captured whilst coming out of Stono inlet.

LIQUID RENNET.

LIQUID RENNET yields with milk the most luscious of all deserts for the table; the lightest and most grateful diet for invalids and children. Milk contains every element of the bodily constitution; when coagulated with rennet it is always light and easy of digestion, and supports the system with the least possible excitement. When still greater nutritive power is desired, cream and sugar may be added. A teaspoonful converts a quart of milk into a firm curd. Prepared and sold, wholesale and retail, by S. A. KUNKEL, my5 118 Market street.
