HARRISBURG, PA. Friday Evening, May 15, 1863.

TOWN AND COUNTRY.

ATTENTION.—First City Troop of Harrisburg meet punctually, this evening at seven and half o'clock, at Quartermaster Peters'. The 27th is confidently expected to arrive tomorrow, May 16th, 1863. By order of CAPT. BYERS, CHAS. C. RAWN, O. S.

N. B. BROWN, Esq., who was postmaster in Philadelphia under Mr. Buchanan's administration, is now President of a Union League in that city.

THE LARGE FLAG OF THE STARS AND STRIPES, originally intended to fly from the staff on the Capitol building, and which has been hanging at the front for some time, is to be raised to a place on the staff to-day, in honor of the soldiers now in the city.

Don't forget the sale of flowers at auction tomorrow morning. All who delight in ornamenting their cemetery lots or yards with beautiful flowers, had better attend. In consequence of the return of our regiment tomorrow, the sale will be at early market. See advertisement.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE IN INDIANA COUNTY.—On Monday last, the dwelling house and barn of Mr. James Spence, of White township, were totally consumed by fire. The fire originated in a defective flue in the kitchen chimney, whilst Mrs. Spence was preparing dinner; and none but the family being about the premises, and the building being dry, the flames could not be subdued. The furniture in the second story of the building was entirely consumed, whilst but little below escaped the devouring element. The fire soon communicated to the barn, and in a few minutes it too, together with most of the contents was destroyed. His loss over $1,000.

A FIRE IN THE REAR.—The Lebanon Courier of the 14th inst. says that a few weeks ago, a copperhead of East Hanover, who was carrying "peace petitions" about for signatures, visited a plain farmer over the mountain and presented his petition, but was received by the loyal farmer in a way that was not agreeable to him.—Being told to leave the premises, and hesitating, the copperhead received the honest farmer's foot in his rear with a force that startled him some yards in advance, and made him think that instead of being a bearer of a peace petition there was danger of his giving a practical illustration, in his own person, of several pieces. He mazed with the industry of a heaver, and has since, we are told, let peace petitions alone.

INCIDENTS AT THE CIRCUIS.—The soldiers had a "gay time" at the Circus yesterday afternoon and last night. One of the richest was in reference to a doggerel "warbled" by a cracked voiced buffoon, the refrain of which was composed of a play upon the word McClellan. At the first mention of that name the soldiers present began to shout for Hooker! Old Joe Hooker!! Fighting Joe Hooker!!! The songster could not stand the pressure, was compelled to stop in the middle of his tune, and as he "tired from the ring, he was followed by additional cries for Hooker.

Another incident grew out of a gawky looking individual who strutted around outside of the canvass, evidently impressed with the idea that he was "some." He assumed himself by starting in the "face of all," as he called it, "Does anybody swell copper?" He had displayed on his vest collar an enormous "copperhead," to which he pointed as he repeated his enquiry. Suddenly a party of soldiers crossed the path of the gentleman anxious on the subject of copper, who, discovering the badge of infamy thus tauntingly displayed, seized the wearer, divested him of his shameful insignia, admonished him gently with the toes of boots still covered with the sacred soil of the Old Dominion, and thus sent the copperhead tramping, a wiser if not a better man than he was four and twenty hours before.

PLAIN "MR. PORTER."—The ways of the transgressor are hard—hard indeed, when he essays to stand in the path of that progress which leads from liberty to God. Of this fact we were never more impressed than when we over the "Register" of Wednesday evening. Among the arrivals on Wednesday, our attention was directed by a "friend" who recorded plainly and unostentatiously "Mr. Porter." It would have been satisfactory to any one seeking an acquaintance among the "Porters," as the family is rather extensive. Our friend then informed us that the name "Mr. Porter" should have been written, "Fitz John Porter," but that the man who answered to that famous (or infamous, just as the reader desires) cognomen did not want to attract the attention of the soldiers. Such is the fate of those who violate their country's faith and who have been proven guilty of faithlessness to their country's honor. They do not desire to attract the attention of "the brave defenders of their country!" They are ashamed of their own names, and fear to record them on the Registers of the hotels they occupy. What more terrible punishment could follow a man than this? The curse which made Cain fly a fugitive and outcast from the fair fields and gardens of Eden, was not more terrible than the conscience which pursues and lashes such men as this "Mr. Porter." God thus ever punishes the wrong and vindicates the right. Will not traitors be warned, then, that he is on their path—that his arm is bare and will sooner or later fall upon their guilty heads.

THE ALLEGHENY COUNTY REGIMENT, (123d.) was paid off this morning, and will at once proceed on its way homeward. Every man belonging to that regiment was able to sign his name in full to the pay roll, a fact never known in the history of the army. So at least says an officer of experience.

THE 180TH REG. P. V. arrived this morning, Col. Levi Markle. They number about 550 men fit for duty. They have been in the front of the army of the Potomac since the 7th of last September, at which time they were attached to the 2d army corps. They lost their (Col. Henry Zinn), 3 line officers and 66 private killed in battle, and 246 wounded, and have been in Antietam, Fredericksburg and Chancellorsville.

THE 127TH REGIMENT.—We learn from H. M. Graydon, Esq., one of the reception committee, that a dispatch was received last evening from Mr. Dubarré, stating that the 127th Regiment had arrived in Washington last evening, and that in all probability they would leave in the night some time. If they left last night, they will arrive here in the afternoon, but we can hardly expect them until Saturday.

THE NATIONAL CIRCUIS AND GREAT SHOW.—Owing to the great success that this fine concern met with in this city, and the many strangers who flocking to it, the management has determined to remain here one day longer, this Friday afternoon and night. On account of this arrangement the show will not be in Lebanon, but on Saturday night it will open in Reading. The company is a good one, and the performances gave universal satisfaction to all who witnessed them.

DISCRIMINATING BETWEEN TREASON AND LOYALTY.—As the One Hundred and Twenty-sixth regiment passed along Third street, this morning, and when it was opposite the Tory Organ office, the men broke out in three terrific groans. As the head of the regiment reached the TELEGRAPH office, loud and enthusiastic cheers were given and continued until the regiment passed. If this is not discriminating between treason and loyalty, what is it? Is it a violation of the Constitution or an infringement of the rights of our dear brethren of the South? What copperhead can tell?

THE COMMISSIONER OF INTERNAL REVENUE has decided that in the case of incomes received partly from Government securities and partly from other sources, the exemption and deduction allowed shall, so far as practicable, be deducted from the latter, so as to give full effect to the provision taxing Government securities but one and a half per cent. Manures purchased for maintaining lands by farmers are considered repairs. Billiard tables taxed for public use are taxable tan ($10 dollars in addition to the license tax).

SERENADE TO THE DEPUTY SECRETARY OF THE COMMONWEALTH.—Last evening a band of music from Coatesville, Chester county, serenaded the Hon. Samuel B. Thomas, Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth. Mr. Thomas appeared on the balcony of the Jones House, where the serenade took place, and acknowledged the honor in a few appropriate words, after which the band and the clerks of the State Government with whom Mr. T. is brought in official contact, partook of a repast, provided by the host of the Jones House, with the liberality and luxury peculiar to that establishment. The affair was a pleasant re-union of personal friends, and a deserved compliment to a worthy gentleman.

THESE WERE THE DANGER DAYS.—We understand that His Honor, Mayor Boumfort, yesterday appealed to the Colonel of one of the regiments now in Camp Curtin, requesting that he should use his influence in restraining the soldiers from any act of violence while waiting pay and to be mustered out of service in this city.

After a moment's pause, while the gallant soldier contemplated the portly dimensions of His Honor, doubtless dreaming how magnificent Gen. Boumfort would appear at the head of a Division, he deliberately answered: "Give your own shops, silence the treason fulminations of the Patriot and Union, AND THEN THERE WILL BE NO DANGER OF EXCESS FROM THE SOLDIERS, BECAUSE THE TEMPTATION AND THE PROVOCATION WILL BE REMOVED!"

—There's where the danger lays. Don't censure with whisky, and then madmen then with the language of traitors, your Honor, Mayor Boumfort, if you want to preserve the lives and property of the people over whom you exercise municipal authority. Close the rum shops and the Tory Organ, the one the bane of manhood, and the other the poison of loyalty, if you want to preserve the peace of the city!

DEATH OF A YOUNG SOLDIER.—The melancholy intelligence is received here of the death of Cyrus Hamilton Jacobs, a son of Thos. B. and Mary E. Jacobs, of West Chester, and a grandchild of the late Com. Jesse D. Elliott. He was attached to the 73d Regiment of Illinois Volunteers, and died in the United States Hospital steamer Nashville, on the Mississippi river. Our young friend was in business in Chicago, and when more men were needed by the Government, he gave up his situation and entered the army. He was one of our most intelligent correspondents, and his occasional letters in the "Telegraph" did him great credit. Of him it may be truly said, he was a good boy. We knew him from childhood, and when but quite a lad, he identified himself with the Episcopal Church in this place, and ever remained a consistent Christian. His friends here, knowing his slight physical strength, thought his entering the army as a private unwise, but his young and manly heart was full of patriotic ardor, and he manfully gave his life in the great struggle. His whole family and weary march to and from the front, and his constant fatigue, which he did not complain of, were the prevailing diseases, his age being 20 years, 8 months and 18 days.

ATTENTION SOLDIERS.—It is now thought with confidence that Col. Jennings' regiment, 127th, will arrive at Harrisburg on tomorrow (Saturday). While the loyal heart feels proud and generous to Pennsylvania's brave and noble soldiers, it is not strange that Harrisburg should take special interest in those composing this regiment, or that they should view with each other in acts of kindness towards the brave soldiers in their proposed reception. The public voice says let them have a big dinner, and give them the special attention of those who wish to replenish their wardrobe cheap, to call on the south east corner of Front and Market streets.

Reception of the Dauphin County Regiment.

THE 127TH REGIMENT.—The 127th regiment, Pennsylvania volunteers, will reach Harrisburg tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock. The procession of reception will be ready to receive them at that hour, and will move over the route adopted by the Committee of Arrangements.

The carriages for the use of the public bodies invited to participate in the reception, will be at their appointed places at 8 A. M., viz: Carriages for the Governor and Heads of Department and Supreme Court at the Capitol; those for the judiciary, county officers and common councils, at the court house; those for the reverend clergy, at the office of the Young Men's Christian association; those for the Committee of Arrangement, at Jacob Eby's, corner Market and Fifth streets. The omnibus for the soldiers of 1812, at Brant's European hotel. The public bodies above enumerated are invited to attend without any further invitation.

The clerk of the market and the city police will notify farmers to clear Market and Second streets of their wagons by 8.30 A. M., on the morning of the procession.

A. L. ROUMFORT, Mayor, Chairman Committee of Arrangements.

NOTICE.—The committee of arrangements have information that the 127th regiment P. V. have arrived in Washington, and may be expected here this afternoon or tomorrow morning.

Upon the departure of the regiment from York, a signal gun will be fired and the bells of the city will be rung for five minutes. The several bodies and companies will meet at their respective rendezvous, and within one hour thereafter take their places in line, as follows, viz:

The military to participate in the procession will form in Second street, with their right resting upon Market street, under the direction of Assistant Marshal Capt. Byers.

The carriages will form line along the north-west side of Market street, with the right upon Second street, under the direction of Assistant Marshal Metzgar.

The several civic societies and the militia of 1862 will report to Assistant Marshal Strominger, who will place them in position, with their right resting upon Third street.

The Fire Department will form upon north-west side of Market street, with their right upon Fourth street, and under the direction of Assistant Marshal Samuel Sarch.

As the regiment crosses the river, a national salute—34 guns—will be fired. When they shall have disembarked from the cars they will take their place in line, and the procession will move over the route prescribed. During the progress of the procession guns will be fired every two and a half minutes.

Assistant Marshals Dr. Geo. Bailey and William M'Fadden will act as aids to HENRY M'COORMICK, Chief Marshal.

To the Women of Dauphin County.

While with open arms and hearts full of love and thankfulness, we welcome to the joys and sorrows of home, our regiment of battle-stained and weather-beaten heroes, a voice asking "help! help! instant help," comes to us through all this gladness and rejoicing, from whose appeal we must not and dare not turn aside. It comes from the thousands of sick and wounded maimed, fever-ridden, helpless, and desolate, who find solace in our tenderness, devotion and loyalty; it tells of the intense suffering for our common country's common good, nor the sublime endurance of long continued agony, whose bare recital thrills us with horror; it only asks for aid to sustain the lives almost wrecked in our defense, and to build up the shattered bodies broken in their attempt to shield us from a danger without which the death of Women of Dauphin county! you have done much, but you must do a great deal more. The time for considering the work of "giving" as something to choose or refuse is past.

Upon the first call for relief for our dear sufferer, your gifts of prompt benevolence flowed from every village and town in the county; and so it was that the first glow of enthusiasm has proven to be no play, but to every man of a bitter and life-long reality, our share of every day sacrifice and labor, a responsibility to be assumed and cheerfully borne, until our Federal Union is saved, and each home throughout our broad land gathers in its braves. With your undoubted willingness to give and do, the question naturally arises, how can we best help them in our "homes and hospitals?" Many organizations are calling for money and supplies to be used for this purpose. Contributions sent through any channel may, no doubt, do more or less good, but how to most carefully economize the people's bounty and apply it to the best possible advantage, it becomes the duty of every one to seriously and earnestly inquire.

To this question the united testimony of the Generals in the field, the President of the United States, and army medical staff, Surgeon General Ingham, unhesitatingly answer: "The U. S. Sanitary Commission—no agency so broad in its operations as this, having its depot at every military station from Fredericksburg to Port Royal, Vicksburg and New Orleans; so impartial in its distributions to the needy, recognizing no State lines, nor distinctions, but caring for the soldier as he lies in slow torture in some distant hospital; or so efficient and systematic in its vast services to the army, from the Atlantic to the Mississippi, none but thoroughly drilled and responsible relief agents, recognized throughout our lines everywhere as entitled to the confidence of Government, and as the only helpers of the people's bounty, who are officially bound to uphold military discipline, and who work in strict conformity to military laws."

"From 'The Women's Pennsylvania Branch' of this Commission an appeal is now made to you, begging you to consider how you can most surely reach the suffering soldier where he is most exposed and most forgotten. Organize a circle in your church, town or village. Dress in it all your loyal women. Constitute clothing, bedding, and edible and medicinal stores. Make up monthly or weekly a box (large or small) directed to 'Women's Penn. Branch, U. S. San. Com., 1807 Chestnut street, Philadelphia,' where it will surely and speedily find its way to the most central depots, and be received in the shortest possible time by those needing it most. Freight will be paid on all boxes forwarded them by the W. P. B. Lose no time, nor let your energies flag. The supply is not abundant. Our country has given of her best; let her daughters who stay at home do more than pray. Aid by your needles and darning to assist in sustaining a reserve of comfort and necessities which will equal any contribution. F. A. BERTS, Associate Manager, W. P. B.

A Communication.—Although our confidence in mankind may have been abused, in this naughty world of ours, it is conbling to see patient, honest, and laboring on and striving to better the condition of our fellow creatures. In this connection our attention has been called to the merits of Mrs. Westhoven's German Vegetable Medicines, and the success attending those manufactured by our favorably known citizen, Mrs. L. Ball, No. 27 South Pine street, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania. In view of these valuable medicines, which can be procured from Mrs. Ball at a small compensation, we have thought it our duty to say this much for the benefit of the afflicted.

We have taken over on the 1st of April the balance of goods bought of Mr. Boger, to our own store, and we will continue to sell the balance left at very low prices, until the whole are sold. Among those goods are: 1,000 yards remnants, calico and calico, 16, 18 and 20 cents. 500 yards remnants, lawn and other dress goods, 16, 18 and 20 cents. 200 yards of barge and lustro, 20 and 25 cents. 1,000 yards of linen crash, 16, 18 and 20 cents.

100 yards of brown and grey cloth for summer coats. 1,000 yards of linen, cotton and wool pants stuff, cheap. 800 dozen of the very best spool cotton, white and colored. 1,000 papers of the very best of Smith's needles, 5 cts. a paper; also stockings, gloves, pocket handkerchiefs, hoop skirts, all kinds of combs, patent thread, tapes, socks, either by the dozen or piece. We have also on hand yet about 10 pieces of CARPET, which we will sell at 75 cents per yard. 20 pieces of straw matting, cheap. 20 pieces of splendid figured window curtains S. LEWY.

SAPONIFIER, OR CONCENTRATED LYE, THE FAMILY SOAP MAKER.
