Medical.

DR. JOHNSON

BALTIMORE

LOCK HOSPITAL.

HAS discovered the most certain, speedy and effectual remedies in the world for

DISEASES OF IMPRUDENCE.

RELIEF IN SIX TO TWELVE HOURS.

NO MERCURY OR NOXIOUS DRUGS.

A Cure Warranted, or No Charge, in from One to Two Days.

Weakness of the Back, Affections of the Kidneys and Bladder, Involuntary discharges, Impotency, General Debility, Nervousness, Dyspepsia, Languor, Low Spirits, Confusion of Ideas, Palpitation of the Heart, Timidity, Tremblings, Dimness of Sight or Giddiness, Disease of the Head, Throat, Nose or Skin. Affections of the Liver, Lungs, Stomach or Bowels—those terrible disorders arising from the Solitary Habits of Youth—those secret and solitary practices more fatal to their victims than the song of Syrens to the Mariners of Ulysses, blighting their most brilliant hopes or anticipations, rendering marriage, &c., impossible,

YOUNG MEN

Especially, who have become the victims of Solitary Vice, that dreadful and destructive habit which annually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of Young Men of the most exalted talents and brilliant intellect, who might otherwise have entranced listening Senates with the thunders of eloquence or waked to ecstasy the living lyre, may call with full confidence.

MARRIAGE.

Married Persons, or Young Men contemplating marriage, being aware of physical weakness, organic debility, deformities, &c., speedily cured.

He who places himself under the care of Dr. J. may religiously confide in his honor as a gentleman, and confidently rely upon his skill as a Physician.

ORGANIC WEAKNESS

Immediately Cured, and full vigor restored.

This distressing affection—which renders life miserable and marriage impossible—is the penalty paid by the victims of improper indulgence. Young persons are too apt to commit excesses from not being aware of the dreadful consequences that may ensue. Now, who that understands the subject will pretend to deny that the power of procreation is lost sooner by those falling into improper habits than by the prudent. Besides being deprived the pleasures of healthy offspring, the most serious and destructive symptoms to both body and mind arise. The system becomes deranged, the physical and mental functions weakened, loss of procreative power, nervous irritability, dyspepsia, palpitation of the heart, indigestion, constitutional debility, a wasting of the frame, cough, consumption, decay and death.

OFFICE, No. 7 SOUTH FREDERICK STREET,

Left hand side going from Baltimore street, a few doors from the corner. Fail not to observe name and number.

Letters must be paid and contain a stamp. The Doctor's Diplomas hang in his office.

DR. JOHNSON,

Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, London, graduate from one of the most eminent colleges in the United States, and the greater part of whose life has been spent in the hospitals of London, Paris, Philadelphia and elsewhere, has effected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known; many troubled with ringing in the head and ears when asleep, great nervousness, being alarmed at sudden sounds, bashfulness, with frequent blushing, attended sometimes with derangement of mind were cured immediately.

TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE.

These are some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, viz: weakness of the back and limbs, pains in the head, dimness of sight, loss of muscular power, palpitation of the heart, dyspepsia, nervous irritability, symptoms of consumption, &c.

MENTALLY.—The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded—loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion to society, self distrust, love of solitude, timidity, &c., are some of the evils produced.

YOUNG MEN

Who have injured themselves by a certain practice indulged in when alone, a habit frequently learned from evil companions, or at school, the effects of which are nightly felt, even when asleep, and if not cured renders marriage impossible, and destroys both mind and body, should apply immediately.

What a pity that a young man, the hope of his country, the darling of his parents, should be snatched from all prospects and enjoyments of life, by the consequence of deviating from the path of nature and indulging in a certain secret habit. Such persons must, before contemplating

MARRIAGE,

Reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to promote connubial happiness. Indeed, without these, the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage: the prospect hourly darkens to the view; the mind becomes shadowed with despair and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happiness of another becomes blighted with our own.

DISEASE OF IMPRUDENCE.

When the misguided and imprudent votary of pleasure finds he has imbibed the seeds of this painful disease, it too often happens that an illtimed sense of shame or the dread of discovery deters him from applying to those who, from education and respectability, can alone befriend him. He falls into the hands of ignorant and designing pretenders, who, incapable of curing, filch his pecuniary substance, keep him trifling month after month, or as long as the smallest fee can be obtained, and in despair leave him with ruined health to sigh over his galling disappointment, or, by the use of the deadly poison, Mercury, hasten the constitutional symptoms of this terrible disease, such as affections of the Head, Throat, Nose, Skin, etc. progressing with frightful rapidity till death puts a period to his dreadful sufferings by sending him to that undiscovered country from whence no traveller returns.

INDORSEMENT OF THE PRESS.

The many thousands cured at this institution year after year, and the numerous important surgical operations performed by Dr. Johnson, witnessed by the reporters of the Sun, Clipper, and many other papers, notices of which have appeared again and again before the public, besides his standing as a gentleman of character and responsibility, is a sufficient guarantee to the afflicted.

DR. KEYSTONE'S CONVERSATIONS.

IV.

In which the Doctor says but little, and hears a soldier's opinions on rattlesnakes and copperheads.

Major Dash is a soldier who is not only skilled in the profession of arms, but thoroughly understands and appreciates the importance of the struggle in which he is engaged. As he entered the Doctor's library, and saw there several of that class of citizens known as "doubtful," he gave the Doctor such a glance of inquiry and surprise as impressed him with the propriety of explaining their presence in his house.

"I am trying to remove from the minds of these gentlemen, some of the objections made to the acts of the Administration in its struggle with rebellion."

"A very absurd and useless effort," said the Major.

"Why?"

"Because the Goddess of Liberty herself might crack her voice in such a task without producing a good result. The men who occupy themselves in hunting flaws in the sword that is pointed at the rebellion, are mortified at finding themselves mistaken—but never convinced."

"That would imply," said the Doctor, "that they are not sincere."

"Not sincere!" replied the Major in surprise. "Would to heaven that half of their earnestness could be infused into loyal men. Why sir, they are terribly sincere! They work assiduously to weaken the Government, neglecting no chance to emit their poisonous objections. They publish newspapers at great pecuniary loss, filling them with treason, so carefully dressed in the garb of plausibility that it gains admittance into minds to which naked treason would be revolting. They perjure their very souls, sir, to help their darling South."

The Doctor explained that he meant to suggest that they might be sincere in a proper anxiety for the cause of liberty.

"A charitable supposition, but a very absurd one also," replied the Major. "To a soldier there are but two sides to this question. Every man is either for, or against the government. Those who have taken up arms against us, are traitors of the rattlesnake school. They have the courage to spring their rattles and announce their purpose openly. But the thousands in the north, although equally sincere in their efforts to subvert the government, are traitors of the sneaking copperhead order—more contemptible, but not less dangerous."

"Do you regard all as traitors who question the acts of the Administration?" asked one who could not resist making a mental application of the denunciation.

"No," said the Major. "I except fools—partial and total."

"Well sir, that is harsh language to apply to persons who are opposed to a sectional war for the abolition of slavery."

"Suppose, if you like it, that it is sectional," said the Major. "This is your section, and sectional pride is enough to bind honest men together in hopes for the success of their side. Or suppose it an abolition war. Everybody knows that slavery is the ulcer that has affected the health of the nation these many years past. Like all diseased spots, it has been very sensitive to the slightest touch, and has kept the whole body politic turbulent. It must be removed, or we die. The incision, to reach the roots, is necessarily deep. Blood flows freely, but by the help of God, the operation will preserve the life of the nation; and the miserable creature that cannot pray for its success, because a few millions of slaves will become free, is not much credit to humanity. Such wretches have my contempt, and always will have it."

"A free people, knowing their rights, will hold contrary opinions nevertheless," replied a "doubtful."

"You may hold any opinion that your minds and hearts are capable of," said the Major, "but I shall take care they are not expressed to me. I don't want to test my amiability by talking with you. Traitors are detestable company, and I don't like to meet them anywhere. In the line of duty, I have met them on the field. There their object is to deal death to all who oppose them. They come up in a manly way—their weapons drawn—it is the rattlesnake giving warning of the impending blow. But, here, concealed behind civil laws and striking in a cowardly manner, they assume the nature of the copperhead. I may be provoked into saying something discourteous if I continue, so I will only add that while it is in my power to avoid traitors either developed or in embryo, I will exercise that power. And as it is inconsistent for a soldier to retreat from an enemy of his cause, somebody must speedily find business elsewhere." And the Major gave his wounded arm a significant glance, as if calculating the amount of help it would afford in an encounter.

The Doctor's apprehensions of a "scene" in his house were relieved by a prompt movement of the "doubtful citizen" towards the door. He followed them out as well as his infirmities would allow, and is faintly suspected of drawing upon the fund of his amiability for an apology for the Major's rough method of discussion.

"You are only encouraging these fellows by arguing with them," said the Major when the Doctor returned. "Controversy is the part they are appointed to play in this terrible drama. And while they are getting the good natured North into discussions, the allies of these villains are acting with unanimity in the South and gaining advantages for which they must thank these mischief breeders. Discountenance them entirely. As for myself, I hate hypocrisy, always; but the hypocrisy of a northern man, as shown in his serving the southern cause under the cloak of a pretended anxiety for the preservation of the Constitution, I nauseate!"

FROM GEN. GRANT'S ARMY.

Rebel Account of the Fight at Jackson, Miss.

REBEL GENERAL TILGHMAN KILLED.

WASHINGTON, May 22.

The Richmond Examiner of the 21st contains the following dispatch:

MORTON, May 19th.—The special reporter of the Advertiser and Register, under date of the 18th, at Jackson, furnishes the following particulars of Saturday's fight, received from the Adjutant of the 15th Mississippi regiment, who arrived from Canton last night.

The battle was fought at Baker's Creek, about twenty miles West of Jackson. We whipped the enemy badly until he was reinforced from Jackson.

Gen. Pemberton then fell back to Big Black bridge. Gen. Pemberton estimates our loss at 3,000, and that of the enemy three times as many.

Gen. Loring on the left was cut off, but he cut his way through to Crystal Springs, 25 miles south of Jackson. His loss unknown.

Gen. Tilghman was killed.

FROM PORT ROYAL.

ENGAGEMENT AT MORRIS ISLAND.

NEW YORK, May 22.

The steamship Conner from Port Royal brings news of a small engagement which took place on the night of the 14th inst., between a detachment of our forces and about 100 rebel soldiers, on Morris Island, in which the latter were driven back across the creek. Our loss was one man slightly wounded. It seemed to be the general impression that the Monitors would attempt a reduction of the outer forts along the beach before again attacking Fort Sumter.

A British and a French man-of-war arrived at Charleston on the 14th. A flag of truce boat from Charleston was refused admittance by the blockading fleet, within their lines, on the ground that similar boats had used the flag of truce as a deception, in order to gain information of our movements.

From Bermuda.

NEW YORK, May 22.

Advices from Bermuda of the 5th inst., give a rumor that Capt. Semmes has resigned the command of the Alabama to his first officer, and taken command of a fine confederate ship mounting twenty-two guns.

The schooner Sunny South, which arived at Bermuda, reported that on April 24th, lat 27, long. 71, she passed the wreck of a vessel bottom up. On the previous day she saw several chests of tea, and picked up one, the contents of which were spoiled by salt water. It is surmised that they were the remains of a homeward bound East Indiaman destroyed by the Alabama.

Vallandigham.

CINCINNATI, May 22.

Vallandigham, who has been under guard on the gunboat for two days, bade adieu to this city last evening. He goes to Rosecrans's lines and thence to Dixie. The change of sentence from Fort Warren to the Confederacy seems to please him. There is a poetic justice in the final disposition made of him. He has talked a great deal about going down South with a "sword in one hand and the olive branch in the other." He can take the branch; the sword we entrust to worthier hands.

From Fortress Monroe.

FORTRESS MONROE, May 22.

Gov. Pierpont arrived here this morning by the Baltimore boat, and left immediately for Cherrystone, to visit the Eastern Shore.

Last night four men, named Ward, Wilson, Thomson and Bell, were arrested in an attempt to pass our lines at Deep Creek, about four miles from Norfolk. They had some $2,500 worth of contraband goods with them.
