Not a blow was to be struck at those in arms in the South. The Government had no authority to call out troops to fight the traitors. It was the civil power which should be invoked. The courts should be convened to try "Northern abolitionists," while Southern traitors should go unmolested, reaping victories wherever they directed their armies, and pushing forward until they had subdued the Government to acknowledge every base claim of the slave power an this manner the Democratic leaders were to save the Constitution. In Favor of the Draft. A sudden change has overtaken the leader of the Democracy, in reference to the draft When the law looking to the conscription wapassed, as a military necessity, a t mible howl went up from every copperhead nest in the coun

It was advertised that men were to be seized and carried from their families-that the old cratic larty being dragged from its ancient and the young were alike "to be forced to bear arms in a war entirely waged for the benefit of the nigger." By such suptorfuges, the copperhead leiders sought to create division and dissension in the North, but they were startled from their attempts by the firm determination which the Government displayed to enforce the law. Hence it became necessary for these hypocrites to change their attitude, and strike another course in order to secure the accomplish and knaves.

Etheridge was evidently bidding for a favor of some kind, when he wrote this epistle, and we feel like predicting that it is the initial movement on his part to at tach himself to the fortunes of Jeff. Davis, where destroy the Union. As an evidence of this we need only sesert that this dirty villifler of good men actually refused to assist the Union men of Maryland by addressing the people of that Stat in favor of the Government at the precipitation of rebellion, because he was fearful it might compromise his father-in law, and lead to the confiscation of a few acres of land he owned in Tennessee. Yet this is the man that now attempts to vituperate those who have made noble sacrifices of property, of person and affection to promote the safety o the Government. Out upon such a dastard ! THE LOCUSTS .- The earth is now yielding up its long buried swarms of locusts. The hogs are rooting after them, and farmers are plowing them out of their holes. Let the owners of all young fruit and ornamental, decidnous and vergreen trees, procure a quantity of oat or other soft straw. As soon as the locusts com sence getting through the ground, soak the straw from six to ten hours in a strong lys, made from good wood ashes or lime. While wet make the straw into ropes and wind them into talls. Wrap the body of the tree with the bottom and fastening well at tep, so as to prevent it being lossned by the wind or sbaken off the tree. If the young tree has formed its top, wrap around the bottom of the m in branches. The locust bores into the main branches and sappy parts of the wood where the bark is tender, and deposits its egg. The bark soon opens and the limb soon dies, and unless removed, injures, if not kills, the tree. As soon as the locusts are principally goue, which will be in about six weeks after they ap-pear, remove the straw bandages and cut off the tops of the trees as low down as where they are stung. Now bioachog will immediately shoot out, and in two years yeu will have a unch. larger and healthier tree. - Putsburg to as to prevent any attack on his rear from Joe Gazette. Johnstoi

THE REPLY OF GEN. PEMBERION

WASHINGTON, Thursday, June 4.

Advices have been received by the Govern ment from Vicksburg up to Sunday night, May 31. They are of an encouraging character, but no specific intelligence is communicated. The rebel report that Grant had sent his whole army democrats and patriotic men of all parties to the Big Black, and the unofficial Union re to aid us in allying to rescue it and the country port that he had sent thither one corps, are in correct. Our troops are in good health and spirits.

We are assured upon the highest authority that since the 22 i no assault has been made upon the rebel works ; that since the 25th, up to the 31st, no fighting whatever had taken place; and that the Union loss in the assaults of the 21st and 22d has been greatly exagger

A telegram in the Richmond papers of Jar 8, dated, Jackson June 1, says that Grant had demanded from Pemberton the surrender of Vicksburg, which was refused. Grant had then given him three days' time to consider. The Government has official information of the close investment of Port Hudson by Gen. Banks, and the Richmond papers of June 8 assert that at the latest dates the situation there was unchanged. We are permitted to publish the following extract from a private letter from an officer of Admiral Porter's squadr n, dated near Vicks

Grant, stating that he was gaining ground and Waits, dating this is was gaining ground and advancing alowly but surely on the town. ment would have been ours, while the practical franchises and powers of the Government would have fallen into the hauds of the conspirators.

Gov. Andy Johnson, in a speech recently delivered in Philadelphia, satisfactorily illus trated this ridea of saving the Constitution while the Government was going to ruins. He said:

When slavery reared its arm against the Government it ceased to have any claim on the form Mount Sinai, it was made for the self-protection of every citizen. If we cannot save the nation but by trampling on the Constitu-tion, I am in fay r of doing it rather than lose the Government which has been bought with the blood of our fathers. We have been left as trustees of this Government, and we cannot surrender the rights conferred upon us. Remove the great evil of slavery, and the nation will be delivered from its worst foe, and will be destined to go on forever.

How nobly and sensibly this contrasts with the senseless and hypocritical howling of a certain class of demagogues about "the Constitution" and "saving the Constitution." The thing to be saved is the Government, not the Constitution. Of what use would the "Constitution" be without any Government? Put down ties, but the American Standard says that its the rebellion ! That is the thing to be done. And do it, no matter whether the Constitution is infringed, violated, destroyed, or not. The Constitution is not in issue. It is in no danger, if the rebellion is put down. But if it were - a matter of information to the dough face and circulation having been revoked by the Presi if it even should be destroyed-it would be copperhead democracy in this region, we quote much easier to make another than to make a number of the resolutions passed on that another Government, should the present one eccasion: be destroyed. All this cry about "the Constitation" is hypocritical-is for effect; and that effect is aid to the rebellion, either directly, or indirectly by throwing obstructions in the way of the Government in its efforts to suppress the rebellion: Put down the rebellion, we say, though the Constitution be torn all to flinders in the operation. Put down the rebellion, however, and the Constitution will take care of itself.

If he fails in that, he will attach himself to the rebel gov ernment just as soon as he can escape through our lines, provided that oligarchy of cut throat is in existence at that time. If not, he will join any new conspiracy to impair and destroy the Union. "Mark our prediction !"

OF COURSE the Tory Organ is bound to enderse all that our Congressman says or does, because he is our brother in law. That's well' enough as far as it goes, but when the question of loy alty gomes, up, when the fair question as to whether Miller has not already proven recreant the Revolution, will try to ayoid the just con-to pledges, made before the people as to tempt of all loyal men by removing into the his determination to support the Government, then the endorsement of the Tory Organ leaves him to the suspicion that he has been false to the truth, and is already engaged in misrepresenting the loyal people of his district.
