

MEETING OF THE COUNTY COMMITTEE.

The Union County Standing Committee of Dauphin county will meet at the house of Benjamin Buck, in the city of Harrisburg, ON WEDNESDAY, JUNE 17, 1863.

A full attendance is earnestly requested, as important business will be laid before the committee. By order of ALEX. KOSER, Chairman. SAMUEL K. SANCHE, Secretary.

Military Schools.

We have had several private attempts at military schools in this State, none of which ever succeeded to an extent to make their influence felt in the knowledge thus proposed to be inculcated. In this city, it will be remembered, we had a military school, which for a time excited our wonder and surprise, and from which some of those who have shed honor on Harrisburg during the war with rebellion, derived their military education.

It is suggested by some of our loyal cotemporaries, that the loyal editors of the State assemble at Pittsburg on the 1st of July, ensuing, for the purpose of that interchange of sentiment so essential to the success of the great principles which we advocate. The matter has been delayed, and little time is now afforded to prepare for such a meeting, but we are nevertheless in favor of securing the attendance of as many of the loyal editors of the State as possible, in the locality and on the occasion to which our cotemporaries refer.

Intercepted Dispatch. A few days since a young man named Douglas, of Mason county, Ky., a bearer of dispatches from Pemberton to Johnston, gave himself up. He was from Mason county, Illinois, and was in the regular service at the time of the breaking out of the war; and as he had lived in Texas, was given the alternative of joining the Rebel army or being hanged to a tree.

There are 18,000 fighting men in Vicksburg, commanded by Generals Pemberton, Stevenson, Reynolds, Bowen, Forney, Morris, Lee and M. L. Smith. Pemberton is chief in command, and he thinks of surrender. Referring to this, Bowen said in his (Douglas's) hearing, "that if Pemberton made the first movement toward giving up the city, he would hang him as high as Haman." The evident policy of Pemberton will be, when he is satisfied that all hopes of success from Johnston are gone, to break out through our lines on the left, and endeavor to cut his way through to Big Black.

With Democrats entertaining such views, we have the warmest sympathy. The Administration may have made mistakes—mistakes which men who are not infallible are all likely to make. Because such is the fact, however, is no reason that the government should be destroyed. No evil could possibly overtake us, so great as that of the destruction of the government. That evil has been imminent for two years, and to escape it successfully, we must support the Administration, support the government, which literally means in both cases, that we must put down the rebellion.

In a Bad Fix. The pecuniary exemption clause of the conscription act, leaves two classes of the mean portion of the copperheads in a bad fix. The rich copperhead declares that if the Secretary of War attempts to annul that provision, he should be seized and held strictly to account for his presumption; while the copperhead demagogue who desires to make capital for his party and organize a resistance to the draft, declares that the pecuniary exemption must be annulled, or the poor man would resist, on the ground that all should share equally the personal dangers of the conflict.

CAPTAIN SPEKE, the African explorer, discovered a country in the heart of that heathenish continent, in which the people had attained to a degree of civilization unknown in Europe or America. In this land the laws required the sacrifice of one man each day for the good of the State. In reference to this fact, The Daily Telegraph writes: "It must be cruel only to be kind." Were this custom introduced into the United States, what gratifying results would follow! But the deaths should not be compulsory; those unfortunate politicians who must feel that their lives are injurious to the welfare of the country, cannot shut their eyes to the moral obligation of death. We want volunteers for the Black List. Where is the copperhead who will let his party a virtuous example of hari-kari? When will Charles J. Ingersoll commit suicidal infanticide? When will Fernando Wood, with a noble spirit of self-sacrifice, immolate on the altar of his country the leader of the rowdies of New York? Can it be possible that these men care so little for the good of the State that they will hesitate to die? Are they less patriotic than the negro inhabitants of Uganda? What! will Governor Seymour, Mr. Yallandigham, and Mr. Hughes consent to be eclipsed by negroes? It cannot be believed. We shall have additional reason to congratulate the world upon the discovery of the Nile, if it should result in the general suicide of these conscientious gentlemen. Life is precious, but then, as we all know, "it is sweet to die for one's country."
