EXTENSION OF TIME FOR HOLDING THE UNION STATE CONVENTION.

To the Editors of the Telegraph:

PHILADELPHIA, June 24, 1863. At a meeting of the Union State Central Committee, held in this city to day, it was resolved to extend the time for holding the Union State Convention at Pittsburg, from July 1st to August 5th.

The following is the resolution adopted, providing for this extension:

Resolved, That in the present emergency, while many delegates to the Union State Convention are engaged in the military service, and cannot be present at the meeting appointed to be held at Pittsburg on the 1st of July next, it is deemed expedient to postpone the Convention until Wednesday, the 5th day of August next, at 11 o'clock, A. M., and it is hereby postponed until that time.

Editors of the different Union newspapers throughout the Commonwealth, will please give this notice an insertion in their columns.

P. FRASER SMITH, Chairman pro tem. Geo. W. HAMMERSLEY, Secretary.

PENNSYLVANIA, SS:

In the Name and by the Authority

OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA. ANDREW G. CURTIN, Governor of the said Commonwealth.

A PROCLAMATION.

The enemy is advancing in force into Pennsylvania. He has a strong column within twenty-three miles of Harrisburg, and other columns are moving by Fulton and Adams counties, and it can no longer be doubted that a formidable invasion of our State is in actual progress.

The calls already made for volunteer militia in the exigency, have not been met as fully as the crisis requires. I, therefore, now issue this my proclamation, calling for SIXTY THOUSAND MEN to come promptly forward to defend the State. They will be mustered into the service of the State for the period of NINETY DAYS, but will be required to serve only so much of the period of muster as the safety of our people and honor of our State may require.

They will rendezvous at points to be designated in the General Order to be issued this day by the Adjutant General of Pennsylvania, which order will also set forth the details of the arrangements for organization, clothing, subsistence, equipments and supplies.

I will not insult you by inflammatory appeals. A people who want the heart to defend their soil, their families and their firesides, are not worthy to be accounted men. Heed not the counsels of evil disposed persons, if such there be in your midst. Show yourselves what you are—a free, loyal, spirited, brave, vigorous race. Do not undergo the disgrace of leaving your defence mainly to the citizens of other States.

In defending the soil of Pennsylvania we are contributing to the support of our national government, and indicating our fidelity to the national cause.

Pennsylvania has always heretofore responded promptly to all the calls made by the Federal Government, and I appeal to you now not to be unmindful that the foe that strikes at our State, strikes through our desolation at the life of the Republic, and our people are plundered and driven from their homes solely because of their loyalty and fidelity to our free institutions.

People of Pennsylvania! I owe to you all my faculties, my labors, my life. You owe to your country your prompt and zealous services and efforts. The time has now come when we must all stand or fall together in defence of our State, and in support of our Government. Let us discharge our duty that posterity shall not blush for us. Come heartily and cheerfully to the rescue of our noble Commonwealth. Maintain now your honor and freedom.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State at Harrisburg, this twenty-sixth day of June, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, and of the Commonwealth the eighty-seventh.

By the Governor: A. G. CURTIN. E. L. SLIFER, Secretary of the Commonwealth.

THE SITUATION.

SATURDAY, 9 A. M.—Captain Murray's Cavalry troop had a skirmish yesterday at the Stone Tavern, Walnut Bottom road.

It appears that these men were on a reconnoitering expedition, and when they came near this Stone Tavern they inquired if any rebels were in the neighborhood, and receiving a negative reply, they advanced to the Stone Tavern, where they were met by the rebels, and after a desperate fight, in which two rebels were certainly killed, nine of them were captured. Mr. Rudy was seen to fall from his horse, but whether he was killed or wounded has not been ascertained thus far.

Seven deserters came in from a point below Mt. Union, and were turned over to the Provost Marshal in this city.

It is reported by telegraph from Hanover that there are 8,000 rebels at Gettysburg. Their pickets are eight miles from Hanover. One of the citizens performing scout duty was shot.

The rebels ran the cars on the Rock Creek railroad bridge, and then destroyed them with the bridge by fire.

The rebels must have entered Carlisle about ten o'clock to-day; at least the operator left at that time, and we heard nothing since then.

The train for Baltimore was detained this afternoon for fear that an attempt might be made to capture it. A locomotive would be an invaluable machine at the present time.

All the news concerning General Hooker's movements is contraband and it would not be proper to mention even the rumors. A battle may be expected daily.

12 o'clock, M.—The Bulletin at Headquarters reports the rebels at Carlisle.

Instead of one decided movement the rebels seem to be making demonstrations on a number of points at once, with the view, doubtless, of distracting our attention.

The Call to Arms.

The Governor asks for sixty thousand three months' men, to aid in driving the enemy from the soil of the State, and in the language of his eloquent proclamation, the time has now come when we must all stand or fall together, in defence of our State and the support of our Government.

There are sixty thousand well drilled men in the State of Pennsylvania, apart from those who are now under arms and posted along the borders, who must and will answer this call, and at least thirty thousand of these can be placed under marching orders, armed and equipped before the middle of next week. The entire number of sixty thousand can and will be placed in the field before the end of the coming week. Of course these results will not be brought about by meeting and resolving to respond to the summons of the Governor. Volunteering and marching are the responses now required to promote the public safety and insure the immediate repulse of the enemy from the soil of the State.

The invasion of Pennsylvania was practically the invasion of the North. It has taught us a severe lesson, and developed a strange feeling as well among our own people as among the people of our northern neighboring States.—That feeling has manifested in the expression that Pennsylvania should defend herself—that her broad bosom, presented as a barrier between the foe and all the other States of the northeast, should receive every blow struck by the invader, should resist his persistent efforts at progress, and hurl him back upon the soil which he claims as his own, but which is no more his by right, than is a single acre of the domain of the Keystone State.

While the border of Pennsylvania is the locality to defend the whole northeast, Pennsylvania now has the opportunity to show that her sons are equal to that defence. On two occasions, the militia of Pennsylvania thwarted rebel invasion of the North, unaided by the soldiers of a single other State. This is what we want to see repeated again. We want to see Pennsylvania defend herself—we want to see and hear the march of her own sons, hurrying to the border, there to meet and successfully repel the invader. This can and will be done, sternly but modestly, by sacrifices which will not affect our efficiency for other service to the Government, and which may doubtless dispense with any parade on the part of those who take advantage of necessities to contribute to the infatuation of their pride and their purses.

We repeat, that the call of Gov. Curtin for sixty thousand three months' men will be promptly filled. It will be filled by material at once efficient and ready for active service in the field. All that is necessary is for the summons to reach the people of the State. When they are reached the recruiting of sixty thousand men will be accomplished.

A New System of Recruiting.

It is stated that the Government has determined to adopt a plan for recruiting the army, which has long been under consideration, and that measures will be immediately taken to carry it into effect. By this plan it is hoped that a very large proportion of the two years' and nine months' men, just discharged, may be induced to re-enlist for the war. These veterans are to be offered, in addition to the $100 bounty and pay, which all the National soldiers receive, a bounty of $300, and are to form a special corps, distinguished both from conscripts and from other three years' men. The Government is to be reimbursed, man for man, for this $300 from the substitute fund to be raised under the draft, and which by the terms of the act must be devoted to this purpose. These advantages are to be forfeited in case the men to whom they appeal do not avail themselves of them within a fixed time, which will probably be sixty days. The large bounty is to be paid in instalments, to suit the convenience of the Government, and the wishes of the soldier.

—This liberality on the part of the Government should be without the restrictions of time either in the period allotted for its acceptance or that fixed for the payment of the $300 bounty. The money for this bounty must be accumulated by the payments of those seeking substitutes in lieu of the draft, so that there should be no delay in its disbursement to those earning the bounty under this proposed enlistment. The people know that the money for this purpose, raised by exemption, will be in the hands of the authorities, and therefore there should be no clause in the order for its payment to volunteers which divides its disbursement into fractional instalments. With liberality on the part of the authorities there will also be liberality on the part of the people.

CAUSE AND EFFECT.—A lady correspondent makes a suggestion to tax assessors and collectors, which is worth attention. She proposes that at the head of every tax-bill, notification, assessment, or other paper in relation to the new taxes, should be printed a sentence to this effect: "This tax you have to pay because three hundred thousand slaveholders choose to rebel against the Union." Then, while men are grumbling at the unaccustomed burden, they will be reminded whose crime it was that inflicted it upon them.

POLITICAL.

The platform of the Potter County Union Convention is one of the most patriotic we have met since the opening of the campaign. After the election of delegates to the Union Convention in Pittsburg the following resolutions were adopted by the Convention:

Resolved, That the delegate from this county to the Pittsburg Convention is earnestly requested to use his influence to put in nomination for Governor the man who will, beyond a reasonable doubt, secure the united and hearty support of all loyal men in the State, no matter what their political affinities may heretofore have been.

Resolved, That there are but two parties now in existence in this country—one in favor of sustaining the Government, the other in favor of its overthrow; and it is the duty of the Pittsburg Convention to go to act as to bring to the support of its nominee, all persons belonging to the party opposed to rebellion.

There is a ring of genuine Unionism in these resolutions that should commend them to the earnest attention of the Convention. Let us have a nominee upon whom all loyal men, irrespective of party, can unite, no matter what his political affinities may have been. There is but one issue now before the people, a vigorous prosecution of the war for the Union, or a shameful yielding to the demagogues who would sell every principle of honor for a temporary party triumph.

The following Union ticket has been nominated in Venango county:—Senate, Thomas Hoge; Assembly, William Burghwin; Prothonotary, C. E. Lytle; Register and Recorder, H. B. Gordon; Treasurer, Henry Dabbs; County Commissioner, Thomas Holmden; County Auditor, Daniel Pershing; Cononer, Dr. W. T. Hunter.

The Shooting of the Rebel Gen. Forrest. The Nashville Union, of Wednesday, gives the following account of the shooting of the rebel General Forrest:

A gentleman whose facilities for obtaining contraband information are excellent, informs us that the report of Forrest's death at Spring Hill was firmly believed. It appears that in the vicinity of Spring Hill there lives a lady whose popularity among the rebel officers is deservedly great. She is beautiful, witty, rich, young and enthusiastic in her rebellious sentiments; much so that many congregated there to have their devotion to Dixie commended. On last Saturday evening one of Forrest's lieutenants asked leave of absence from camp for a few hours. Forrest refused, at the same strongly reprimanding him for asking to desert his fellow soldiers for one moment. The lieutenant walked silently away. When the shades of evening fell upon Spring Hill, the young lieutenant mounted his horse, and sought the abode of the bewitching girl. Scarcely had the lady given him a welcome, when a rap was heard at the door of the mansion, and in a few moments he walked Gen. Forrest.

The general and the lieutenant confronted each other. "How dare you disobey my orders!" thundered Forrest, who was about to draw his pistol, but the vigilant lieutenant was too quick for him, and jerking out his pistol, shot Forrest through the neck, who fell and died in a few hours.

REBEL GOVERNMENT AND STATE RIGHTS.—If there have been two cardinal doctrines to which the Southern States have clung, with more tenacity than to any others, they have been State sovereignty and the right of secession. Scarcely had the Richmond Government been fully organized, neither of these fundamental doctrines receive the slightest consideration. The people who were duped into hostility to the National Government, under pretence of devotion to these great doctrines, now discover the hollow of the pretences of their leaders, and find that in reality a narrow, selfish, and narrow restrictions in commerce, the object aimed at. In a late number of the Montgomery (Ala.) Mail is an article under the caption of "Commerce is King," in which it is asserted that "in the early days of the Provisional Government the policy of free trade on a public policy at home and abroad were fully recognized. The now prevalent doctrine, that free trade and State rights were made from Fortland, Maine, to Washington, and making from New York to Buffalo, Chicago, Milwaukee, and all the western cities, also from Pittsburg to Cleveland, St. Louis and San Francisco, having no connections with any of the old combinations of lines.

VICKSBURG.

Johnston Moving towards Clinton.—The Negro Troops again Repulse the Rebels.—A Brilliant Cavalry Raid—Severe Engagement at Tallahatchie.

MEMPHIS, June 29, via Cairo, June 25. Official Intelligence from Grant's army to the 20th inst., has been received.

Johnston is said to have withdrawn his troops from across the Big Black, moving towards Clinton.

About one thousand Texans attacked Lake Providence on the 10th and were repulsed with loss by the negro troops, who fought bravely.

Colonel Phillips, with eight hundred cavalry, was attacked by a force of two hundred rebel infantry and one thousand cavalry, near Rockerford, on the Tallahatchie. The fight was severe. Colonel Phillips lost seven killed and ninety wounded. He cut his way out and arrived here yesterday.

The rebels are in force at Boonville. Generals Roddy, Ruggles, Chalmers and Biddle threaten our line, and troops are reported to be moving north from Oklaoma. Stirring news may be expected from this section.

MEMPHIS, June 24.—Colonel Misner has just returned from an extensive cavalry expedition south from Lagrange. He reports having broken up the command under Colonel George, at Panola. He destroyed the railroad bridge at Jackaway, the trestle work just beyond, and a portion of the road between Jackaway and Helena. He then crossed the Tallahatchie and pursued Chalmers beyond Coldwater, on the Helena road, at the mouth of the Coldwater, when Misner killed fifteen or twenty rebels, and took forty prisoners. He paroled all the sick at Panola, and brought away or destroyed all the arms, supplies, workshops, mills, tanneries, depots, &c.

He passed within three miles of Austin and Commerce, destroying an immense amount of forage and subsistence, taking from 800 to 900 horses and mules, and 600 head of cattle. He also sent detachments north and east from Helena, to destroy or bring away all the subsistence, forage, horses, and mules, and crossed three rivers.

Calmer had with him the commands of Stokes, Stemmens, and Blythesman, 900 strong, with three pieces of artillery. The remainder of the force, 300 troops, fled south via Charleston.

Phillips destroyed all the ferries at Panola and Coldwater, losing one man killed and five wounded. His flight at Tallahatchie was very severe. The enemy's loss was one hundred.

A large number of companies raised in Northern Mississippi have joined Faulkner, Chalmers, Ruggles and Roddy's commands, and a movement is contemplated, which was broken up by this raid.

Gen. Corlesman made a speech at Oxford, Miss., threatening to force into the service every man in the county if companies were not organized to reinforce Johnston.

There has been no news from Grant's army since yesterday. Heavy rains have fallen here and at Corinth.
