Thanksgiving and Prayer. If ever a nation had reason to be thankful, with which Christ's religion makes conquest of under whose auspices they were recruited. all who come within its mighty sway. For this command-and what force it can bring to bear upon its enemies. Such knowledge is not derived from the lore of men. It comes from the action of multitudes-from the noble energy tions. For this we should be thankful to God!

which to morrow has been set apart, will be respected by all. Now is the time to be thanknation's valor aroused to its highest inspira for that further aid without which we cannot goes on to say: hope completely to succeed. Wrongs such as overthrown by an Omnipotent aim. It is God's cause and man's battle for and in which we are engaged. For this we should be thankful, because it is the faith of this that makes us sure of victory!

Kentucky Election.

We have already given the readers of the TELEGRAPH ample returns of the election in umphant election of the Union candidates for in their own good time. They will not be bur-Governor and Congress. This fact is corrobo rated by the silence with which the Tory Organ treats that election; and when the result is fairly estimated, it assumes a significance which it would be well for the true friends of the Union everywhere candidly to consider. The election in Kentucky was contested on the broadest is in Kentucky was contested on the broadest is reconstruction would be impossible? Does he sue which could possibly enter into any political not know that Mr. Lincoln would say: "Gentlecampaign. It was made a test, whether the men, you cannot reconstruct what you have national government possessed the power for cat of the Union. You thought you were but its own preservation, or whether as was claimed you are mistable. Pour thought you were, but its own preservation, or whether as was claimed you are mistaken. Resume your duties as memby James Buchanan, there was no power vested bers of the Union, on a fooling with the most in the hands of those called to administer this favored States?" We tell him that we have government, to protect it from internal strife and safely guard it from the plots of traitors. The policy to preserve the government at all against us. We did not make those chances, and we cannot change them. We are despondent enterest to secure the general safety and the truth, and for this we are censured. We should justice of the war for the Union, were all involved in the contest, and of course all en Government as profoundly and as acutely as dorsed by the result. By that result Kentucky of this State with subjugation or restoration declares against that corrupt combination of the monstrous assumption of secession, which now shows itself in a bloody rebellion .-From the very altar of slavery, Kentucky declares for freedom. In the face of the most horrid front of treason, Kentucky avows her loyalty. She is true to the traditions which record the sufferings of her early settlers in defence of the Government of the Union-true to the fame which her sons won on many a hard fought battle field-true to the memory of "Harry of the West," whose ashes now mingle with her soil, and whose soul now rejoices over the last grand victory of the sons of the sires whom he so long and so faithfully served --Kentucky has spoken to the loyal men of all the States. What will Pennsylvania answer when her turn to speak arrives? Will it be with groans of shame or shouts of victory? Let our loyal brethren of the Keystone State prepare at once to respond with victory !

Inspection of Horses. -- General Heintzelman has recently appointed a board for the inspection of horses offered for sa'e to the Government by contractors. This board, we understand, examine horses with more than ordinary care, and thus save to the Government large sums of money. One hundred and sixty horres were recently inspected by the board, and only twenty of them were accepted as fit for the service.-The remainder had either been previously condemned or were wholly worthless.

A New York Herald Lie.

The State of New York is the only Middle State that has furnished more than its quota or former calls.—Herald.

The statement which we quote above forms a sentence in a long article which appeared in the New York Herald of yesterday. A baser lie was never uttered by a bolder liar than Bennett. Not only did New York State and New York city fail to send out their full quotas it is that nation which alone, of all the people under any call, but the State authorities were the on earth, represents fairly man's capacity for self first to wink at an organized effort to resist government. The Standard concludes its article—which has some significance from the apparent conscious ness of nonular sympathy which characterizes it—with the following remarkable language:
