Hard to Resist.

In voting for Governor of the State of Pennsylvania, at the coming October election, the fact that Andrew G. Curtin is a loyal man, conscientiously devoted to the preservation of the Union, the enforcement of the law and the full and unlimited operation of the Constitution, will be hard to resist.

The fact that Andrew G. Curtin, has been and him the right to exercise all the privileges of a citizen even while he is absent from the locality of his citizenship lending his aid in enforcing the national law and periling his life to vindicate the national authority, will also be hard to resist.

The fact that Andrew G. Curtin supported and still continues to support the National Government in all its efforts to maintain its power and enforce its laws, and that such s support coming from one of the mightiest of the sovereign States of the Union, has been one of the main influences contributing to our suc power at home, will likewise be hard to resist.

The fact that the State Government of Pennsylvania was never more wisely or economically administered-its expenses reduced, its revenues abridged, will assuredly be hard to These beneficial results—the good aimed at and accomplished by Andrew G. Curtin in the and accomplished by Andrew G. Curtin in the of your remarks in your paper of July 30, re General, with a New York commissary, and the past, can only be prolonged by his election as flecting on Harrisburg for inhospitality. They are "subsistence" sent here from New York! And only an echo (somewhat diminuendo at that) of yet I have reason to believe, that the supplies Governor for three years to come. Let every voter remember these facts!

This healthy condition of the revenues and the excess of the receipts over the expenditures. secured by the rigid and general economy which was insis ed upon by Governor Curtin in every d partment of the State Government, induced him to recommend to the Legislature a revi sion of the revenue laws, with a view to the to the Legislature the justice and expediency has been and still is, in some parts of the Commonwealth, oppressive.

Considering the increase of taxation by the National Government, and considering, too, the enormous enlargement of the war expenses, these figures at once redound to the credit of Governor Curtin and the people of Pennsylvania. We want the fax payers carefully to ponder these facts. We want the tax payers to temember, in the first year of Andrew G. Curtin's administration.

That Andrew G Curtin, by the rigid econom which he enforced during his en ire administration even while he was quipping and sending out thou sands of sold ers, while he was relieving the wants of the soldier's family, while he was succoring the sick and wounded, and bringing the dead from the buttle fields home to be buried amony their kindred, HE WAS ENABLED TO RECOMMEND, IN THE FACE OF THESE EXTRAORDINARY PEPENSES A REVISION OF THE REVENUE LAWS WITH A VIEW TO THE RE DUCTION OF THE RATE OF LOCAL AND STATE TAXATION !!!

The Adm nistration of no other State Gov ernment in the Union can point to such a re cord for the past three yeas. The bistory o no government in the world exhibits such re alts. These acts prove a rigid economy and ws stat smallship entirely due to Audiew G turtia. They put to test all doubt as to his laims to a re-election. Inhospitality of Harrisburg.

[The following article was sent to the New York Evangelist, from this place, but like other communications defensive of Harrisburg to other cers in the field—our standing abroad, and our New York papers, its publication was declined.
