HARRISBURG, PA.

Saturday Evening, Sept. 12, 1868.

VOTERS!

See that you are assessed: To make your right to vote certain this duty must be attended to. Of course there is an officer appointed to attend to the assessment; but, accidentally, he might happen to miss you. Look to the published list, to be seen in the county offices, and other public places. If your name and your neighbor's name, and the names of citizen soldiers, absent in the late nine months' service, and perhaps absent now in the service of the country, are not on it, see that they are placed there. Every citizen having a residence within the bounds of this Commonwealth has a right to vote. We have reason to believe that a conspiracy has been organized by the Democracy, where the assessors are of their ilk, to defraud honest, confiding men of their votes. See to it, freemen, that you are not thus defrauded.

Postponement of the Appearance of General Benj. F. Butler.

By a notice of the Chairman of the Union County Committee, in another column of today's TELEGRAPH, it will be seen that the speech of Gen. Butler, announced to be delivered on Monday evening next, has been postponed. The postponement is constrained by prior engagements of the distinguished statesman and patriot, but it will not interfere with his appearance in this city at some day before the close of the campaign in which we are now engaged with the avowed enemies of the Government. Hence we can afford to wait. Due notice will be given of Gen. Butler's appearance in Harrisburg; when the time can be definitely arranged to suit his other engagements.

Suppression of a Tory Organ in Baltimore.

Our Baltimore exchange, to-day, contain accounts of the suppression, in that city, by order of Major General Schenck, of a vile, treasonable, Tory-organ newspaper, known as the Baltimore Republican. Its editors were arrested and sent South, and the establishment closed. General Schenck would do well to direct his attention to other portions of his Department where he can find a Tory Organ viler in its opposition to the Government and more intense in its treason than the Baltimore Republican, and the suppression of which would give the people renewed confidence in the vigor and purpose of the Government to crush traitors. Will Major General Schenck cast his eyes in this direction?

"Troops at the Election."

Under this head, the Tory Organ continues to publish a garbled extract from the act of Assembly of the State of Pennsylvania, of 2nd July, 1868. The purpose which the Tory Organ has in view is the perversion of the law, by which perversion it hopes to create the impression that the Legislature of Pennsylvania deliberately passed a law disfranchising the soldier, simply because he carried the arms and wore the uniform of the Government. Here is the deceptive manner in which the Tory Organ quotes the law on the subject:

"No body of troops in the army of the United States, or of this Commonwealth, shall be present, either armed or unarmed, at any place of election within this Commonwealth, during the time of such election."

A New Game to Perpetuate the Disfranchisement of the Soldier.

Every man of sense is perfectly well aware that the leaders of the Democratic party, in Pennsylvania, long since conspired to disfranchise the soldier—the soldiers who are now perishing life and limb in a fierce struggle to crush the slaveholders' rebellion. This conspiracy is spread out in the proceedings of every copperhead meeting held for the last two years. It is contained in the debates of Legislative bodies, and is a portion of the records of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania. It has been and is, in fact, the leading policy of leading Democrats, to effect this disfranchisement, in order that they may be enabled to overrule the loyal sentiment of the land—beat down the devotion to the Government by a political victory at home, that they may be placed in position where they can betray the loyal valor in the field, into the hands of the enemies of the Union. All this is a fact, long familiar to the people, but the mode is not so well known. As the campaign for Governor and other officers progresses, developments are made by which the people become daily more enlightened on this subject. One of the plans now adopted to further the success of this diabolical scheme of disfranchisement, is confined to the execution of the different copperhead assessors in this and other cities. THE GAME CONSISTS IN OMITTING THE ASSESSOR'S LIST, ALL SOLDIERS WHO ARE ABSENT FIGHTING THE BATTLES OF THE UNION. This is the last trick in the infamous plans of the opposition, to degrade, outrage and disfranchise the soldier. But these wretches overreach themselves, in this desperate business; as it matters not whether a voter is assessed or not, so that he has paid a State or county tax within two years, he is still entitled to his vote. The conspirator, or the negligence of an assessor, cannot disfranchise a freeman.

Keep It Before the Voter.

That George W. Woodward, in 1837, opposed the right of foreigners to become citizens of the United States. His plea in opposition to the naturalization of the foreigner amounted to the charge, that the Irish were too treacherous and the Dutch too mercenary, for the high political privilege of American citizenship.

That if George W. Woodward's doctrine with regard to foreigners were now the law of the land, the gallant Irish hero, Mosher, would be in the position of a slave, disfranchised by a Government for whose safety he crimsoned himself with his own blood—and Sigle, the undaunted German veteran, would be in the same position, after he had fought like a lion in defence of the Union. And with these brave leaders would fall thousands of others from the native lands of each, all degraded by the disfranchisement policy of George W. Woodward.

That George W. Woodward gave encouragement and comfort to the rebellion when it was precipitated, and that he has applauded all its acts, from the murdering of defenceless women and children to the sacking of unarmed villages, on the plea that the slaveholders had reserved rights in slave property, for the defence of which they were justified in going to any length in war, and to any extreme atrocity.

That George W. Woodward declared negro slavery to be an incalculable blessing, to think against which was infidelity, and to oppose which was a crime.

The Tory Party.

We have long been convinced, and have so denominated it, that what is now claimed by a band of demagogues as the Democratic, is only the Tory party. Like the Tories of the Revolution, the Democracy of to-day affiliate with the enemies of the Union—are the allies of those who oppose freedom. But it is somewhat remarkable, that away off in the golden State of California, the rotten carcass of Democracy should also be regarded as only the representation of the Toryism so repugnant to all true Republicans. By the following circular, issued to the people of California prior to the late election in that State, which resulted so gloriously to loyal men, it will be seen that the idea of the Toryism of modern Democracy is well sustained. (What is said of this nefarious dogma in California will apply to the same heresy in Pennsylvania. We print the circular for the benefit of our friends and foes.)

TORY PARTY.

There is a party, or rather a faction, in this State, and in the United States, who are at this time using their utmost efforts, and by means the most foul, such as false pretensions, hypocrisy, and lying, to ensnare and cripple the Government of their country, while said Government is engaged in a desperate war, to suppress a powerful and most wicked rebellion against the Constitution and integrity of these United States.

Most of the leaders of this faction have long affiliated with the Democratic aristocracy of the slave States, and are now in sentiment and action with the Tory aristocracy of England; believing and bitterly denouncing every act of the United States Government in its efforts to suppress the rebellion. Yet these traitors to the Union cause, these open enemies of the country, have the unblushing impudence to call themselves "Democrats"; while they are actually part and parcel of the English Tory party. Dr. Russell, the London Times, and other English Tory papers being the exponents of the opinions and feelings of said Tory party on both sides of the Atlantic.

Invasion—the Game of the Rebels and the Reciprocities of their Allies.

We have had dark hints and vague rumors of late, as to the design of the rebels, and the raids which they contemplate on Maryland and Pennsylvania. We have had rumors on the streets of the State Capitol, within twenty-four hours, that the rebels were even now making demonstrations of an advance northward, and that Lee was preparing again to precipitate his hosts of cut throats into the peaceful valleys of Pennsylvania, there to incite them to rapine, plunder and murder, once again, in the name of slavery and Democracy. Whatever there may be in these rumors, we believe that the extent of the operations designed to be carried on by the rebels, and the exact point at which Lee intends to aim future blows at the north, are both as well known to the Copperhead State Central Committee as they are to the Confederate Government. We believe as firmly that the chairman of that State Central Committee is as well posted with reference to Lee's movements as is any member of the rebel government. It is natural that these parties should be apprised and acquainted with each other's movements and designs. One cannot succeed without the co-operation of the other. The rebellion would have long since been a failure, had the sympathy which it received from the north never been allowed to flow southward—had the Democratic leaders been made answerable for their treason beneath a gibbet's beams. So with the prospect of the political allies of treason: "Here in Pennsylvania, their only hope of success depends on some successful movement of the rebels—a movement by which large bodies of men will be called to the army, and then by the decision of Justice Woodward, establish the disfranchisement of such as these, and thus carry the election for Woodward, Lowe and treason."

This is our view of invasion as it is talked of and now threatened. We believe that the rebels will attempt cavalry raids between this and the day of the election. We believe that they have been advised to attempt these raids by the friends of Woodward, with the object of giving aid to traitor daring and enterprise, and of accomplishing the certain triumph of Woodward at the polls. Of course both objects will fail. Neither fraud or force will be able to secure the election of the friend of traitors, George W. Woodward, as Governor of Pennsylvania. The Army of the Potomac is ever at the heels and ready to confront the cut-throats of Lee. And the army of loyal men in Pennsylvania will meet and defeat, at the polls, the copperhead allies of these traitors. Thus the objects of this beautiful plan of invasion, arranged between the Cabinet of Richmond and the Copperhead State Central Committee at Philadelphia, will be frustrated.

LATE VICTORIES!

The Record of the war for and against the Government.

The following constitutes the record of the unarméd struggle for and the armed assassination against the Government. Comment is useless:

UNION. The Union party has been successful, and with large majorities carried the States of CALIFORNIA!!! KENTUCKY!!! VERMONT!!! KANSAS. The Democratic Copperhead Peace party gained a bloody victory at LAWRENCE, LAWRENCE, KANSAS.

Knights of the Golden Circle—Secret societies in Lebanon County.

The Lebanon Courier, of yesterday, says that this traitorous organization, under the direction of men without character or patriotism, has been insidiously spreading itself through Lebanon county. It is a secret that it exists in many of our townships, and leading Copperheads openly boast that through it they are not only going to break down the loyal Administration of the Government, but that they are going to use it to control the Democratic party to fast themselves into office. Any Democrat who acts with that party, and does not join this secret society, practically, has no voice in the management of the party. He is really just as much an outsider as any Republican. The management is all done in cash bound secret cabals of the society, and after the thing is "fixed," the outsiders may go through the equality of endorsing it. Let the Democrats of South Lebanon, Holdsburg, Jackson, Millcreek, Cornhill or Bethel, just watch the movements of some of these fellows who go sneaking about barns and school houses at night, and they will soon discover the influences which are controlling their party; and controlling it too in a way calculated to aid the rebels, and greatly to lengthen the war.

GENERAL GRANT'S latest and happiest expression is contained in his letter, read to his friends at the recent dinner given to him in Memphis. In speaking of his noble army, he says: "They will rejoice with me that the miserable adherents of the rebellion, who bring bayonets have driven from this fair land, are being replaced by men who ACKNOWLEDGE HUMAN LIBERTY AS THE ONLY TRUE FOUNDATION OF HUMAN GOVERNMENT."

General Grant, fairly states the question upon which all political contests must rest, until the country is rescued from rebellion, and the Government once more restored to a permanent footing of peace and prosperity. Without the fullest and the freest acknowledgment of human liberty, as the only true foundation of human government, there will never be peace in the United States. Slavery and freedom cannot exist in peace together in the workings of the same Government. The assumption and the arrogance of the one will impair the equalities and obstruct the progress of the other. Hence, the miserable sympathizers with slavery, from whom the adherents of treason derive their strength, must be driven from the land, like those adherents themselves, by the bayonets of our soldiers. The question is, then, between the friends of peace and liberty and those of slavery and rebellion. And it is a fact, too, that those who are in arms for the defence of peace and liberty, do not constitute the only power for the achievement of such a victory. In the contest for this, and a ballot will have as much influence as a bullet. A vote properly cast for loyal candidates, will have as much influence in putting down rebellion, as will the bayonet in the hands of a loyal soldier, in driving traitors from this free land.

NEW ORLEANS.

ACCIDENT TO GENERAL GRANT.

New York, Sept. 12. The steamer Evening Star, from New Orleans, with dates to the 6th instant, arrived at one o'clock this morning. She was detained six hours by General Banks to carry dispatches. On September 6th, in the Mississippi river, passed a fleet containing Gen. Franklin's command out. General Grant had arrived in New Orleans, and had a grand levee, at the residence of General Banks, on the evening of the 4th. The troops under command of Gen. Washington were reviewed on the 9th by General Grant and Banks. Subsequent to the review Gen. Grant was mounted upon a resident horse, which became frightened, and attempted to run away, came in collision with a carriage horse and partly fell on the general. The injuries received are not of a formidable nature.
