Rebel Advice and Copperhead Response " The success of the Democratic party would be no longer doubtful, should Gen. Lee once more advance on Meade. Let him drive Meade into Washington and he will again raise the spirits of the Democrats, confirm their timid and give confidence to their wavering .- BICHMOND ENCUIRER.

"We must arouse ourselves, and reassert the RIGHTS OF THE SLAVEHOLDER, and ADD such GUAR-ANTEES to our Constitution as will protect his property from the spoilation of religious bigotry or persecution or else we must give up our Constitution and Union .-GEO. W. WOODWARD.

Daniel Agnew-A Correction.

We see that the officers of the Union State Central Committee have fallen into the error of printing the name of Daniel Agnew, in one of their addresses, Daniel H. Agnew. The "H" is superfluous, and to guard against any mischief growing out of the error, the officers in question have called the attention of the press to the matter, asking that care be taken to have the tickets properly printed. Our brethren of the leval press throughout the Commonwealth will of course see that the proper correction is made.

REMEMBER, Loyal Men, that in two years, nearly TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND MEN, TO AID IN CRUSHING A WICKED AND CAUSELESS REBELLION, were furnished from Pennsylvania, by ANDREW G. CURTIN!

impose upon the troops by getting them to endorse a certain memorial, artfully framed, and calculated to do much mischief. The officers and men were to sign it, and they were also to subscribe money for carrying out the object aimed at; the Colonels $3 a piece and so on down to the enlisted men, who were to give ten cents a piece. The purpose of the move ment was to aid the copperheads at the election in this State. But the soldiers discovered the trick, and in several regiments where it was attempted, indignant meetings were held, and the scheme was entirely frustrated. The copperheads are resorting to every expedient to carry the election, but this attempt to use the brave soldiers of the Union is the most desperate of all.

WE RESPECT THE OPINIONS of all men, when we have reason to believe that they are honestly entertained, but when we are forced to behold the vascillations of those who have professed the utmost and the most uncompromising loyalty, we cannot but turn from the spectacle with sorrow and contempt. Such, at least, was our feeling when we read the announcement in one of the vilest copperhead journals printed in the Cumberland valley, that "B. A. Lamberton, Esq., of Harrisburg," would address a copperhead assemblage in Chambersburg in a few days. Mr. Lamberton has a right to be whatever he pleases, but we submit it to him whether he has a right to profess one thing to loyal men and then join traitors to do another. But as he is now fairly joined to his idols we are willing to let him slone.

WE have as yet heard no Pennsylvania soldier approving George W. Woodward as a candidate

"Everywhere in the South the people are beginning to look out for the means of self defence. Could it be expected that they would be indifferent to such scenes as have occurred? That they would stand idle and see such measures concerted and carried forward for the such measures concerns and corried forward for the annihilation, somer or later, of their property in slaves? Such expectations, if indulged, are not when he epoke to loyal men in the Court House, he declared that the only hope of the copperhead Democracy was in the defeat of our armies. If the rebels could succeed in slaughtering loyal men by tens of thousands, by which THE REBELLION—THE TRIUMPH OF THE "STARS AND STRIPES." AND A STRICT MAINTENANCE OF THE INION. the copperhead Democracy would be able to so zealously to prove that Rosecrans was defeated, when the rebels themselves admit that others: ly, and that after he had inflicted the heaviest months! blow upon the rebels of the Southwest they God! he fervently ejaculated. 'That looks as had ever received, he was able to fall back into the fact that the copperhead Democracy all base courage which these trying times demand.

"After some other stirring items of news," their hopes of success on the victories of their Organ insists upon the defeat of Rosecrans .-There is no hypocrisy about this persistency. It is all honest hope, fair desire and determiwill be worth a thousand votes to Woodward. October, it will be worth more than thrice ten thousand men to Rosecrans.

> REMEMBER, honest men of Pennsylvania, that in one year the ordinary receipts of the State Governmen were increased ONE MILLION THIRTY THOU-SAND ONE HUNDRED AND SEVENTY-SIX DOLLARS, ($1,030,176 00.) This increase was effected by forcing payments from the old debtors of the State—from men who had postponed paying their honest dues to the Commonwealth for years, and who would have repudiated their indebicdness, had it not been for the sleepless vigilance of ANDREW G. CURTIN!

HEAR A DEMOCRATIC CAPTAIN. A Soldier's Tribute to a Statesman.

The following frank and patriotic letter was written by Capt. Henry Forster, a son of Capt. written by Capt. Henry Forster, a son of Capt: down his furrowed cheeks, he prayed in fervid and eloquent lauguage from his heart of hearts both of whom are endorsed by the Lewistown Gazette, as true soldiers and men of unimpeachable veracity. Capt. Henry Forster has commanded a company from Centre county, in hard service him in the day of sorest need, and uphold his during most of this war, and was severely hands in the hour of our Nation's direct exwounded, but is now again with his company in the Potomac Army. The Gazette says that for fifteen years he has been a personal and political friend of George W. Woodward. These facts attach much importance to his views, as given in the following extract from a private letter to a family and party friend:

"I have just learned by the newspapers, that "I have just learned by the newspapers, that Gov. Curtin has been re-nominated by his party friends. To tell you a little secret, at which I do not wish you to be at all surprised, I feel, at present, that I could vote for him, even against so good a man as Judge Woodward, and at the fearful risk of being called an Abolitioust, and not strain my conscience a particle. I am as good a Democrat as I ever was, but I must congood a Democrate as I ever was, dut I must conitess, that, much as I have always esteemed Judge Woodward, I firmly believe that his elevation to the Executive chamber of Pennsylvania, at the present time, would be the most dire calamity that could befall our noble old State, as well as the cause of the Union everywhere.—

Seems to have spent its fury, and the gloom to be fast disappearing. Shall these clouds again roll up? Shall this Cimmerian gloom again come back? Or will you send to staunch Southern Union men the news that will cause

Southern Union men the news that will cause the sun of our grand political system to burst forth in his glory, shedding a saving flood of shout Chattanooga, is quite desponding.

Novements to Relieve Rosecrans. cursed febellion, I do not know that he has ever taken any pains to express them in favor from Andrew G. Curtin! It will thrill the war or the men engaged in hearts of true men there as nothing has thrilled the several commanders in the Southwest all of sustaining the war, or the men engaged in the duty of carrying it on. Bold, able, and independent as he undoubtedly is, how long do you suppose he would occupy the Executive Department of the State without an open rupture with the [National] Administration? And of the consequences to follow such a rupture, who can tell? Let me tell you, (the those who know Judge Woodward as you do not need to be told, that his opposition to the Administration in the prosecution of the war, would not be of the milk and water mixture that characterizes the conduct of Seymour of New York. From the character of the man, we might look for something bold, determined, real and defiant, and unless the rebellion is crushed this fail—I earnesty hope that it may—we who are en-gaged in the fearful work, at some dark and trying hour, when we most needed cheering and hopeful words of sympathy and support from home, instead of receiving them, might bave our hearts crushed almost to despair, by OF THE STATE! God forbid that enything so direfu should happen within the limits of Pennsylvania! Ye if my estimate of Judge Woodward b that, were I at home, I do not think my previ and seeing him allied as he is to the Vallandigham endorsers who nominated him; is it an overdrawn picture? I think not. I think I may therefore safely say, ous admiration for the man would permit me to do so great a wrong to my country and the cause of loyalty to the best Government on the face of the earth, as to vote for him. I am in the field, and I want a man in the Executive chamber o Pennsylvania who will give me his aid an sympathy in the work at which I am engaged regardless of former political opinions and as sociations; a man that will give the National Government all proper aid and assistance, in its endeavors to crush out the foulest rebellio that ever cursed a nation; and not one who would give aid and comfort to traitors, and lace every obstacle in his power in the way o a vigorous prosecution of the war, and a final restoration of the Union. Gov. Curtin is therefore the man I want. He is able, loyal, approving George W. Woodward as a candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania. How could this be, with those terrible words, (never recanted by Woodward,) uttered by him in December of 1860, just after Mr. Lincoln's election, seared into avery soldier's memory?

But his prayers and those of thousands and tees of thousands of Union men through-out the South, to whom the cheering words of your Governor came as the first sweet promise of hope, have been heard and answered in the extraordinary exertions which Pennsylvania has put forth since this rebellion burst upon us. Your Governor has been sustained and blessed, his hands have been upheld!

"And now, voters, the promise of his mighty legions, cheering the hearts of our Union men, was the first ray of sunshine to penetrate the midnight gloom settling around us. Many changes have taken place since then; many victories have been won; much territory has
