adouted without one descriting voice: WHEREAS, It is our opinion that none can have a more lively interest in the i-sues of the political contest now pending in the State of Penn sylvanis, than her sons now in the field, con tending for the vindication of the offended majesty of our common country; therefore,

1. Resolved, That although we deem it incom nessed the reception, and much good feling ountry, that political opinion, as such, should in any way guide the operations of our great armies in the field, yet our vocation as addiers has neither deprived us of our interest in the second of the operation as addiers has neither deprived us of our interest in the second of the operation as addiers has neither deprived us of our interest in the second of the operation as addiers has neither deprived us of our interest in the second of the operation and the operation are dependent of the operation has neither deprived us of our interest in the sehas neither deprived us of our increase in the selection of those who shall represent and care te dered, and the guests review of the military. The whole aff in passed off flucty. for us, in the executive and legislative chamber of our State, nor of our right to be heard in this behalf.

2. And further resolved. That the only party lines recognized by us, are those unmistakably drawn b tween accorable, devoted and uncon disonal loyalty to our Government, and that cowardly and contemptible sympathy with re-bellion, which has given, and still continues to give, so much substantial aid and comfort to a malignant and rebellious enemy, with whom we can make no terms lut those of submission be alleged, we now thus early in advance call of extermination; that in the attempt to divide the sentiment of the people upon any other tion of this law in letter and spirit, at the October elections. every loyal man; that the paltry argument by which those who call themselves Democrats endeavored to distinguish between local transfer and legs broken. The secesh of the city thought it a plot to murder the prisoners, and collected in such numbers that they had to be discovered to distinguish between local transfer and legs broken. which those who call themselves Democrats endeavored to distinguish between loyalty to the Administration and loyalty to the Government, is a specious sophism, too shallow to be worthy of the consideration of any sound mind.

4. Resolved, That in Audrew G. Curtin we recognize one who has never faltered in his self-organize one who has never lattered in his sett-sacrificing devotion to the cause for the success of which we, as soldiers, are contending; that as Pennsylvania volunteers we do and shall ever regard him with filial affection; that inaswhich as uncontrollable circumstances prevent our voices from being heard at the ballot box, as they would be in unmistakable tones, the anxiety with which he has ever watched over, and the energy with which he has ever advanced our comforts and interests as soldiers, makes it the imperative duty of our friends at home, without regard to distinction of party, to labor for and achieve his election to the Executive chair of our State; that we are unwilling that our interests as Pennsylvania soldiers should be committee to the keeping of any other man, and especially to one who does not profess to be the friend of the soldier and his cause.

5. Resolved, That copies of these resolutions be forwarded, for publication, to the Pittsburg Chronicle, Dispatch, Gazette and Commercial, to the covered which, being translated, disclosed in-Ehiladelphia Press, Inquerer and Sunday Dispatch, structions to destroy all the steamers that can to the Record of the Times, Wilkesbarre, Pa., to be of any service to the Government. (Three cheers for the resolutions and three cheers for Gov. Curtin )

Col. Smith being collect upon, said that he was a firm friend of Gov. Curtin, and that the regiment had sent a message to their friends at home, which would leave them no room to doubt what the soldiers wished in the matter these resolutions would encourage patriots and undeceive those croakers who professed to be ieve that there was no more patriotism in the army. His remarks were vociferously applaud ed throughout, and three cheers given for the neaker at their conclusion

Capt Orr being called for, said that this regiment had given an expression of their sentiment that could not be misconstrued. The meeting then adjourned with prolonged cheers for Gov. Curtin.
