HARRISBURG, PA

Monday Evening, October 26, 1863.

The State Election.

In another column we present a full record of the official returns, from which it will be observed that the official majority of Gov. Curtin home vote. Had the soldiers in the field been permitted to vote the majority of our candidates would reach 75,000 or 100,000, but they were disfranchised by a Democratic Supreme Court, who regard the brave veterans good enough to large as some persons expected, yet it is large enough for all practical purposes.

Both Houses of the Legislature present also Union majorities, which will enable the friends of the Union to make an honest apportionment of the State and elect a Union State Treasurer. The victory is complete.

Fifteenth Senatorial District. The official vote for Senator in this Senatorial district shows the following result:

Betting on Elections. We have always been opposed to this species of gambling, and have frequently advised our friends to abstain from betting, yet the Union men were frequently met by Copperheads of this city with taunts that they were afraid to bet, and consequently a good deal of money was staked on the result. We hear now that some of these foul-mouthed Copperheads have given the stakeholders notice not to give up these bets, under the plea that fraud was practiced at the election, and this plea is made by one who is well aware that whatever frauds were practised they were executed by their own Copperhead friends: We need only point them to the conduct of the election officers in the First and Fourth wards of the city of Harrisburg. That enormous frauds were practised by the Copperheads, there can be no shadow of doubt. In Philadelphia some half dozen Copperheads were arrested for fraudulent voting at the last election, whilst not a single Union man is specifically charged with violating the election law. A man is guilty of a mean act when he induces another to bet or gamble on an election, but he is certainly meaner than the meanest creature on which he has honestly lost.

We shall endeavor to collect all the names of these Copperheads, who made bets on the late election and now refuse to let the stakeholders pay over to the winner, and publish them to the world, so that their neighbors may watch them henceforth.

Speaking of frauds, we will only present one Copperhead county, which will convince any honest thinker, that if frands were committed they were certainly practised by the Copperheads. Read these facts from the Reading Jour-

"In Berks county, for example, the whole

3,000 of our citizens are absent in the army, at least 2,000 of whom are voters; the increase in the late vote is open to suspicion to say the least. Most of the increase is indistricts where the copperheads polled their heavy majorities. to is said that in some townships persons under age were allowed to vote. We infer from the returns that at least 1,000 illegal copperhead votes were polled in Berks, and some 10,000 or 15,000 in the State. The leaders had laid their plans to carry the election at all hazards, and this is why they were so sadly disappointed at the result.

Our Young Men.

There need be no fear for the fate of the country, says the Washington Chronicle, whose young men promptly rally for its defence. By this we mean no disrespect to age. It ha other duties to perform. Grey hairs give authority to counsel. When the aged speak it is for the young to listen reverently to their words of wisdom; and it would be an evi omen for our own glorious republic if its ven erable mentors had no controlling influence over its destinies. But for action, the young men of a nation are its strength and hope, an history does not afford an instance in which th youth of a country have so marvellously ral lied under the blood-stained banner of war and become men in fight, as ours have in th present conflict. One of the most serious di ficulties that have beset the military author ties has been the impetuous patriotism of th youth of the Republic, which has led so mar "mere boys" to claim a share in fighting fo its defence. Paternal in its character, th Government has been reluctant to let the youthful scions encounter the perils and dan gers of the field. But no precautions or reg lations have been found effectual to prevent th practical display of their zeal in the cause the Union, and we insist that the sign is o of glorious portent and meaning. It an unquestionable evidence that patriotis is an innate, inborn principle with or people. They draw in love of country with their first nourishment, and while yet the first intuitions are untainted by self-interest unworthy ambitions, their whole "heart and nind and soul and strength" are as fervently given to their country as the Christian's to his God. And when they go forth to battle, it is with the same unselfishness and fervor that distinguish the convert to a religious faith. In Country that distinguish the convert to a religious faith. In Country as the Christian's to his D. Agnew's vote.

truth, patriotism is their natural religion. They given in the different counties for the various go forth; they "quit themselve; like men;" they fall; and because of their youth we mourn over them with a sorrow that the fall of older men scarcely excites; yet we remember gratefully what enthusiasm their youthful devotion excited for the glorious flag of our country, and, while we regret that our victories have so often been purchased at the price of much young, heroic blood, we cannot help feeling at the same time that their willing sacrifice of themselves is the grandest tribute that could possibly be paid to the vigorous life and progressive genius preme Judge, 12,402. This majority is on the tions. And our living young men yet stand ready to breast the torrent of rebellion that has so fear fully overflowed the land. They have then fight, but refuse them a voice in the election of their rulers. Although the majority is not as in the day of their country's trial. The young man who fails now can never attain greatness and honor in the eyes of his countrymen here after. But the young men of our country do not fail us in this grand struggle. The ranks of the army are full of them, and ever will be, so long as the President calls for the services of his countrymen. The three hundred thousand men now called for will be largely made up of those whose future is all before them. Thou sands of them will come home full of honors. and will be revered in the next generation a the heroes of a war waged only to perpetuate Union and liberty, one and inseparable, nov and forever."

Ohio Election --- Majority 100,000. Iowa Election --- Majority 30,000 FOR THE COLORADO TRUE TO THE UNION

We give below a carefully revised and complete tabular statement of the official vote for Governor and Supreme Judge, as cast in Pennsylvania, October 18, 1863. It will be seen by this vote, that the majority of Governor Curtin is 15,325 and of Judge Agnew 12,402, and that Gov. Curtin leads the the face of the globe if he refuses to pay that Union candidate for the Supreme Judgeship 2,923 votes. These results are highly gratifying.

Union maj, on joint ballot. 5 In addition to the above, we learn from the Armstrong Free Press that our friends in that region will contest the seat of Mr. Chambers, the Coppernead candidate returned as elected from the district of Armstrong and Westmoreland, on the ground of a plurality of votes in the county. Mr. M'Kee has been made the clean made the clean go by default. At all events, we have clearly of the results of choice of the people of that county, and as such wecan see no good reason why he should not be allowed to represent it, It is true Mr. Cham-775 bers has a majority in the district by the vote of Westmoreland, but that that county should be privileged to say who and who should not be our representative, it seems to us as no jus-1,108 tice at all. It will be recollected that in the 2,540 session of '61, Mr. Cessua, of the Bedford District, contested the seat of Mr. Householder, on precisely the same grounds, and it was decided in his favor. That this will be the result doubt.

The same rule will apply to Franklin and elect Lieut. Nill by a majority of 173. The principle of a separate representation was es tablished by a vote of both branches of the egislature and strenuously advocated by lead ing Democrats in both Houses. Let the rule now be applied when it operates against them

BALTIMORE CITY ELECTION. Baltimore, on Wednesday, held an election for City Councils, resulting in the success of al the unconditional Union candidates.

We hope the above record will convince on copperhead friends that the North is true to Prejected Raid on the Memphis and herself, and will stand by the Government.

OHIO ELECTION.

A table of the official and unofficial returns Bragg of the Ohio election for 1863, embracing all the counties in the State, makes the majority of Brough, the Union candidate, on the home vote, 62,000! The soldiers' vote will probably increase this to 100,000! or more.

VERDICT OF THE OHIO SOLDIERS. The returns of soldiers' votes continue at about the same rate as first received. The traitor Vallandigham, who "waits and watches" on the Canadian frontier, is properly appreciated by our gallant soldiers. We give below the votes of the army as far as they have come to hand:
