" 'MAKE YOUR VAUNTING TRUE.'-We hope to see the Curtinites, the Loyal Union Leaguers who have talked and printed so much in favor of crushing the wicked rebellion, avail them-selves of the opportunity offered by the Presi dent's proclamation for '800,000 more,' and rush valiantly to the field. They are in duty bound to do so; to make their words good, to square their practice with their professions, they must do so. Let us see, Curtin polled over together the leading men of both town and 269,000 votes on the 13th. More than one half country. It will be of great use to these reof these ought to be good fighting men, between gions to have a respectable club room of this the ages of twenty-one and forty-five. At least about 150 000 of them are able bodied, loyal abolitionists, fit for the field, chuck full of pa triotism, in favor of all Lincoln's war measures wild with anxiety to 'crush the rebeltion,' and panting for confiderate blocd 'as the hart panteth after the water brook.' The quota of Pennsylvania will not exceed 50.000 exactly one-third of the 150,000 shoddy warriors who voted for Curtin. Now, unless these men are liars, hypocrites, base pretenders, or mean. cowerdly wretches, Uncle Abraham's requisi-tion should be filled immediately, or at less within one month, from their own ranks. without calling upon a single 'disloyal copper head' to shoulder a mustet. They have it in their power now to serve their country, and prove the truth of their assertions at the same time, by falling into the ranks as privates at $23 or $24 per month, and marching to the front, 'away down in Dixie,' to shoot, flay, disperse and subjugate the hatred Southrons. Will they do it? A friend looking over our shoulder whispers, 'Of course they will.' We coubt it, but shall wait to see."

Of course every Union voter whom these copperheads can drive into the army lessens the strength of the Union forces at home, and increases the chances of the copperheads obtaining possession of the offices. Here is the exact measure of the patriotism which prompts these efforts. We e it not that we interfere with their attempts to get possession of the offices, we might stay at home and welcome, and the army might go without reinforcements for all they care. But as the Union men were not the advocates of the volunteer system, we ing that its commander will maintain the cannot understand why it should be any more strictest neutrality. And as for the Imperial incombent on them than anybody elss to vol tobacco, the Emperor knows very well that is unteer. Indeed, the obligation is on the other he goes into trade he must observe the laws of side altogether. The Union men are in favor trade. He is not likely to do differently. of the draft, and have sustained it consistently The copperheads demanded volunteering, and now that their demand has been conceded, it behooves them, not us, to find the volunteers. The President's preclamation has now been The President's preclamation has now been should of all men have taken no part in this issued long enough to allow ample time for its contest, even if his political prejudices were effects to be witnessed. The copperhead Governors of New York and New Jersey have also issued proclamations. But we have yet to hear of any Democratic politicians responding to it command of the Army of the Potomac he ac by entering the service. The municipal Councils of Philadelphia and New York cities, both controlled by copperhead majorities, have appropriated several millions of dollars for bountles to induce recruits, but that is in the hope position to him—that he refused to believe and in 1862, and also that he had on all occasions disagreed with his political friends in their opposition to him—that he refused to believe and in 1861, 142,529,166 American bushels; and in 1861, 142,529,166 American bushels; and in 1861, 142,529,166 American bushels; of persuading Union men to enlist, so as to their imputations against his character as leave a copperhead majority in each city to loyal man and a soldier, and had lost influence 1863; that from the present condition of the with the authorities at Washington on this according to England, the demand for 1864 would copperheads has set the example of enlisting under these offers, or of starting a rendezvous among his fellow-copperheads.

Ample time will be allowed for them to show what they can do, and the field will be left clear for their operations. No Union man will interfere with them. And when they have manifested the hollowness of all their pretensions by refusing to volunteer or raise volunteers, the loyal Governors and the Union men will raise the troops in their own way, and the effort to obtain a copperhead majority at home by sending away the loyal voters will be as complete a fizzle as all the previous attempts of the same kind have been. It will be many a long day before the people of the free States will be caught napping as they were last fall. They have learned the severe lesson that they are a home garrison who have onerous duties to Derform. Let the copperheads contemplate the recent vote in Pennsylvania. They had piled up the following resolutions: pyramid of fraud so high that they fondly imagined they had the game in their own imagined they had the game in their own hands. But the patriotic people have nobly dinary crists of our courtry's history, when arrayed themselves on the national side in such arrayed the national side in such arrayed the such arrayed the national side in such arrayed the natio numbers as to overtop the enemy, and exceed threaten to subvert our liberties, should again crop there had been gathered before the frosts even our great aggregate of 1860. No amount place upon record her utter condemnation of of September 18th, and seventy-five per cent. of drain of the Union strength to supply troops the infamous traitors engaged in this unboly more ground had been planted than in 1862. for the army can exhaust the wonderful elasthat are the witelity of the grant of the grant of the witelity of the grant of the g determination to sustain the General Government in its effort to restore the Union of the States at every hazard.

But before we conclude to do so—as no doubt United States would become felo de se. in the end we shall have to-we want this boastful friend of the volunteer system, the Democratic party, to take the charge of the thing and show what it can do.

Union Leagues.

No instrumentality of recent origin has proved more effective against copperheadism than the opposing a draft and advecating the volunteer formation of Union Leagues. These combine system was to avoid taking the Democrats into the merits of the social club with those of the the army, and keep up the drain of the loyal political association. They collect together in the war began. In proof of this see the annexed means, of most business capacity, and of largest selves the character of strong public bodies capable of no small exertion. We have noticed with much pleasure the spread of these valuable institutions in various directions, and believe they contributed a great deal to the reelection of Gov. Curtin. There is not a town, city or village in the Commonwealth where they cannot be successfully instituted by associating gions to have a respectable club room of this sort, furnished with newspapers and books of reference, to which the influential men of the district could always go with a certainty of meeting only friends, or being in an agreeable place. These Leagues are of great use as contres of political interest, to which all the local occurrences connected with the pending canvaes can be carried for information. If properly conducted, they soon become of great social importance also, and, indeed, open to the people of the interior a new phase of life to which many of them have previously been strangers. We, therefore, heartily commend to our Union friends all over Pennsylvania the formation of to the press generally by the Commissioner of Agriculture, in advance of his monthly report
