Saturday Evening, October 31, 1863.

Democratic Frauds in Pennsylvania. There are some facts connected with the re cent astonishing vote in Pennsylvania, says the North American, which are deserving of rather more than a passing notice. The figures we have already given respecting the extraordinary increase of the vote in Berks county are suffi cient to arouse investigation. But the facts show that what is true of Berks county applies to the whole vote of the State, as the subjoined comparison will illustrate:

1860	Curtin. 263,397	Foster. 230,269	Total 493,666
1863	Curtin.	Woodward. 254,171	Total. 523,597
Gain		23,902	29,911
	/ 10 . 1	_:41

Here it is shown that, with an aggregat gain of 29,911 votes over the great total of 1860, the Union gain is only 6,009, while that of the Democrats is 23,902. Since that general rally of 1860 was made, the State has sent into the field 163,000 soldiers, recruited for the three years' service. Of the 200,000 men reported by General Fry as having been discharged for physical disability, probably one-tenth were from these 163,000, so that by that cause some 10,000 have been returned home. Of the 88,-000 deserters, perhaps the same proportion were from these 163,000 men, so that here are 8,800 curiosity, the following fact: men returned home. The number of men sent home in consequence of disabling wounds we the recent Pennsylvania canvass, states that in cannot estimate, but it would be eafe to suppose them about 10,000 from this same force.— backs' are immensely popular. They are hearded by the farmers, mechanics and laborers. He Allowing for the diminution of the force by other causes, perhaps 30,000 would altogether cover its returned men who were permanently at home to vote, and about 9,000 still in the service were furloughed and voted at the late election, making altogether lass than 40,000. Now of these men not one in ten voted the Democratic ticket at the election this fall, and yet the Democratic vote is increased 23,902. It Allowing for the diminution of the force by was assured by collectors of the internal revedid not come from the Union ranks, for the

Indeed the statistics of the election show any since 1860, has gained in the aggregate. We polled 263,397 votes in 1860, and we polled sally have a faith in it which cannot be shaken 269,406 in 1863. Where, then, did the Democratic increase of 23,902 come from? His letter was without fitness us suppose that of the returned soldiers they and gigantic frauds perpetrated in the Demohad what we have allowed them above—one in cratic strongholds of this State in the late elechad what we have allowed them above—one in cratic strongholds of this State in the late election and childish weakness, and all parties intenstill voting with them—that would be 4,000 tion. We have reason to believe that they exvite oblivion as a refuge for himself and his men, increasing their vote to 193,300. Now ceed in magnitude even the notorious frauds of keep up the strength of the party beyond this The object of the recent effort was to foist a the male population for soldiers and sailors, and the far greater drain of the Democratic ranks caused by the changes to the Union side. To render the matter clear we append a comparative table showing the increased Democratic vote in certain counties:

Remarkable Statement—The Secret History of Gen. McClellan's Letter in Favor of Woodward.

St. Michael's Church the Mark of the Gunners.

A Philadelphia correspondent of the Cham bersburg Repository makes the following remarkable statement concerning General McClellan's letter in favor of Judge Woodward for Gov ernor, which appeared day before the election. It is from an able pen and apparently by one who knows whereof he writes:

The letter written by Gen. McClellan in favor of the election of Judge Woodward was re-perved with mingled pain and surprise by very many who had been his devoted friends. It was well known that he cherished for Governor Cortin the warmest friendship; a grateful appreciation of the fidelity with which he had been sustained by the Executive of Pennsylvania when in command, and it was generally believed that these considerations, with his supposed interest in and love for his old Army of the Potomac, would make him solicitous for the success of Governor Curtin, regardless of his political views. It was well known to Gen McClellan and his friends that Judge Wood-McClellan and his friends that Judge Woodward was at heart opposed to the war, and if chose Governor would have embarrassed its prosecution in every way by imposing conditions upon the administration which, if accepted, would be but the harbinger of dissolution. It was known that Wm. B. Reed, one of the leading orators in behalf of Judge Woodward, declared the war for the maintenance of the Union was one which the people. In their hearts ab horred; and however Gen. McClellan might differ with the National Administration, it was supposed that his regard for himself as a soldier and his desire for the welfare of the army. Casualty occurred on our side during the day.

a devoted friend of Gen. McClellan's, who either was expressly authorized to speak for him or felt that he had the right te do so, met Gov. Curtin in the northeastern part of the State during the late canvass, to consult with him as to the expediency of Gen. McClellan writing a letter declaring himself in favor of Gov. Curtin in the re-lection; or in some other way indicating himself in some himself in some other way indicating himself in some other w ting his conviction that the cause of the army and of the government demanded Gov. Curtin's success. I have every reason to believe, that bore a conspicuous part, at which it was resolved that the General must be made to throw his voice into the contest in behalf of Woodward. The Doctor | ad been a Douglas Democommand, the Doctor has become a bitter foe of the Administration, and he had resolved that before the rising sun of Woodward. It was feared that the General could not be carried by storm, and a system of gradual approaches was determined upon. The State Fair at Norristown was bit upon as a good shelter and the state appointed superintendent for the carried that the General could not be carried by storm, and a system of gradual approaches was determined upon. The State Fair at Norristown was bit upon as a good shelter and the carried by the carried that the carried by the ristown was hit upon as a good shelter for the design; and the General was brought over ostensibly to attend it. He came innocently cratic caucus there, ready to mark out a politi-cal campaign for him. Part of the programme was to have him serenaded on sight; make a speech with a moderate copperhead tint; send him to the fair the next day in company with Judge Woodward; and by the influence of as sociation carry him into the copperhead camp by degrees. The General revolted at the aringement; would not swallow the dose at all. either pure or diluted, and like all boys when about to be dosed unpleasantly, he played truant. When the band came according to appointment and played "Hail to the Chief" and other airs, the only chiefs on hand were the chiefs of the small beer politicians of Philadelphia. The General had found a back door and slipped off to the La Pierre House, and the only trophy of the movement thus far was the death of Grund. Woodward was then serenaded, and politely informed the crowd that he lected Governor. Various efforts were made to induce General M'Clellan to throw himself into the political struggle in behalf of Woodward; but all failed He neither made the hoped for speech, wrote the coveted letter, nor played companion to Woodward at the Fair. In spite of all the political strategy practised upon him, he retired to his quiet retreat in Jersey, unspotted by ar open avowal of copperheadism. But the prospects of Woodward becoming more and more desperate from day to day, a renewed assault was made upon the General to break down his to make the overwhelming popular verdict carry with it Gen. M'Ciellan's positive vindication and insure his nomination for the Presidency, would be for the General to espouse Woodward's cause openly and thus make the triumph measureably his own. Thus hunted, worried and flattered, he finally, at the very last hour, set his house in order, made his last political testament that anybody will over care to read, and sank into the embrace of the foes of the gallant army he once led, and of the country that exhausted itself in fruitless effort to make him great, and now-
