Senator Francis was opposed to the Senator thus intoxicated, but when the vote was taken, he voluntarily paired off with his besotted colleague, declaring that he could not take a mean advantage of an opponent when ardice. he was incapable of performing his duty. Here are two instances in which the oppo nents of the Democracy acted with a manly and patriotic courtesy in cases similar to that which now exists in the Senate. But how is this noble action reciprocated? A Republican Senator is now in the hands of the enemies of his country. A Republican Senator was taken prisoner while perilling his life in the defence of our nationality, our freedom and our religion. Yet the minority in the Senate refuse his seat because he went forth to battle for his country. What that is more monstrous can South?
