THE PEOPLE'S CHOICE FOR PRESIDENT,

ABRAHAM LINCOLN

HABRISBURG, PA Friday Evening January 15, 1864.

How Pennsylvania is Represented in Congress.

The decisive battle of the war was fought on the soil of Pennsylvania. Had Lee, with his heretofore characterized his administration of cut-throats, been able to have passed over that department. the territory and crossed the northern and eastern boundary of Pennsylvania, the Union would have become a honeless wreck, the Goveinment a mere objet to be contemned, and civil liberty been forever banished from these States. Pennsylvania constituted the great barrier to obstruct the invasion and desolation of the North. While her fields were being ravaged-while her people were being plundered-while her women and children were flying from their homes - the great cities of the North and East were out of danger, their wealth safely guarded, their homes made secure, and their peace undisturbed. We do not claim that ganized from the first experiment of the draft, on the people of Pennsylvania alone accomplished the principle that overy active and efficient man the security of the North against the invasion of the rebels; but we do insist that had not ships of the strugg le would have been more the rebel army been met and worsted on the soil of this State, the entire Northeast would ernment is now engaged, there should be no have been at the mercy of the invader.! We claim, also, that the suffering which was entailed upon the State, the loss of property. the services of our people while in the emergency, constitute a claim as just upon the Government as any which the authorities ever aclic who is in receipt of six or eight hundred knowledged and liquidated. In addition to the dollars a year, gives just that amount to his Pennsylvania regiments in the Army of tile Po- Government, when her enters the army. He tomac, the State had in the field during the emergency created by the invasion, at least forty thousand men. This force was teffective in every particular. But it beoms that some of our Representatives in Copgress are not willing that these men should be paid. neither are they disposed to indomnify the people whose property was destroyed by the rebels during their bloody and cowardly proceedings while in the State last summer. When a propo- ment. Without that Government fortunes sition was made to Congress a few days since would have been inscente—and two thirds of to re-imburse Pennsylvania with the money expended in subsisting and paying troops for the emergency, not a single Democrate from | claim upon the money and the personal service the State opened his mouth to advocate that of the rich, just as much as it has upon the in the Chair. measure. Our own Congressman, Miller, personal service, alone, of the poor. This with Coffroth, from the adjoining district both representing people who suffered greatly during the invasion, and who contributed largely to the defeat of the rebels, sat dumb in their seats during the discussion, having no word their seats during the discussion, having no word to utter in advocacy of these just claims of their constituents. This is the way Ponnsylvania is represented in Congress! We leave the people of these districts most interested in the people of these districts most interested in the people of these losses, to remember the duplicity with these losses, to remember the duplicity with tute brokerage by which the last draft was so which Miller and Coffroth have treated their just foully disgraced. If $300 is to exempt a man, claims. Miller held an appointment asta staff let him pay that sum directly into the Treaofficer during that raid, the duties of which he discharged at home in bed, which fact may account for his inability to appreciate the just claim of during the last draft. There was many a subhis constituents on this subject. This is the stitute who imagined that the taking of a sum his constituents on this subject. This is the stitute who imagined that the taking of a sum sible judicial position of Assistant United only apology which we can make for him in of money from a drafted man was not binding States Attorney General at Washington, susthis connection. And we have a notion that on him for service in the army. There were hunin his ingratitude for valuable services of this dreds and thousands of drafted men who were always is, an organized body and ready to proin his ingratitude for valuable services of this dreds and thousands of drafted men who were kind, he will refuse us the acknowledgments wofully imposed upon in this manner—while Mr. BUCHER moved to adjourn to Monday with the General!

The factious attitude of the minority of copperheads in the State Senate, culminated yesterday, in as base an attempt at revolt as ever disgraced an equal number of demagogues conspiring for the assumption of power. In refusing to enter into Convention of both Houses, the minority clearly confessed that the motive of their revolutionary course in the Senate, was not actually to secure offices, (though that is almost invariably a controlling feeling with these leaders) but to destroy the State Government, and thus place Pennsylvania outside of the Union. It has already come to this important stand. Acting on a premeditated purpose, the leaders of the copperhead faction in the State Senate now seck the destruction of the State Government. There can be no going behind this purpose. They comtemplate leaving every Department of the State Government without a Head. They design If possible to prevent the inauguration of a Governor, and have without doubt, so far as they are concerned, entered on proceedings which can only mean revolution.

As we have declared, we heretofore imagined that the object of the faction in the Senate, was the mere sharing a few offices of trust. The demagogues disgracing the Senate sought to leave this impression on the public mind. But the proceedings of that body, yesterday, uncovered the real designs of these tricksters, and now we have their real object exposed to view in the effort to strike down the State Government. It is the only hope of the trailors in and out of the Smale! If they can organize anarchy and revolution in Pennsylvania, it will be the signal for revolt and rehellion to all the free States!

-We trust that the people of Pennsylvania will not allow themselves to be deceived any longer by the action of the minority of the Senate. Backed by the Knights of the Golden Circle: encouraged by their old allies, the traitors, the Governor elect of Pennsylvania! Let every true, brave and loyal man in the Commonwealth ponder well the position of the minority in the the honor and the power of the State Governconspirators in the Senate!

> The Three Hundred Dollar Exemption. In the U. S. Senate, yesterday, it was decided not to strike the $300 exemption clause from the conscription act. Whether or not military men will regard this as a discreet act, calculated to facilitate the filling up of the armies, we will not venture to write; but it is very certain that to have amended the conscription act, so as to strike out the commutation clause, would have given the army the rervices of men who have as yet borne none of the brunt of the war. Had our armies been orowes a service to the Government, the hardfairly distributed. In a war such as the Govexemptions, except for actual and total physical disability. And above all, there should be no purchased exemption. The rich menshould do as the poor man does, who enters the army, give a large share of all he possesses. The mechanwas enabled to carn that sum through means derived from prosperity afforded by the stability of his Government. The same principle applies to the opulent. There has not been a fortune made since the formation of the Federal Union, for which the possessor is not indebted to the equity and the liberality of the Government. Indeed, all the prosperity of the people can be directly traced to the Governthese would never have been accumulated. Hence, we argue that the Government has a Government is so pure and glorious, and so worthy of being perpetuated, that every man owes the peril-of his life, at least, in an effort for its proservation. -If the three hundred commutation clause which are our due. But we refer the whole the Government was the sufferer all the time next at 11 o'clock. Agreed to.

On motion of Mr. CLYMER, the Senate subject to his constituents. They will settle in the loss of money and men, as well as in the loss of prestige and influence among the igno rant on account of the enforcement of a rigorous law. We trust, then, that if the $300 commutation clause is to remain in the conscription act, that the Government will in all cases demand that sum, and claim the right of furnishing all substitutes.

> The Schate Opposed to the Restoration of the Tonnage Tax.

An amusing scene took place in the Senate yesterday. It is well known that Senator Hop kins has labored hard the past two sessions of the Legislature to have the law relative to the release of certain tonnage duties repealed, and in order to test the sincerity of Mr. Hopkins on this subject, Mr. Graham, the able Senator and as the site for the projected navy yard.

Resolved. That the Speaker be empowered to appoint a committee, whose duty it shall be to ring in a bill for the repeal of the act know as An act for the commutation of tonnage duties," approved the 7th day of March, 1861, said committee to consist of three Senators, whose duty it shall be to report the same at the earliest possible day.

On the question, Will the Senate proceed to a second reading of the same? the yeas and nays were as follows :

YEAS-Mesers. Champheys, Dunlap, Graham, Hoge, Householder, Johnson, M'Candless, Turrell, Worthington and Penney, Speaker—10.

Nars—Messrs. Beardslee, Bucher, Clymer, Connell, Fleming, Glatz, Hopkins, Kinsey, Lamberton,—Latta, M'Sherry, Montgomery, Smith and Stein—14.

The vote looks rather queer in print to cur breadstuffs. Flour, only 800 barrels sold at friend Hopkins, who has been such an ardent family and $9@10 for family flour; there is alvocate of that measure, when a majority of but little rye flour here and it commands $6.40; his fellow members were opposed to it. We supposed that he would have rejoiced to vote for his darling measure at any time, but wise men will change their opinions sometimes.

The Pay of Assistant Assessors. Mr. Moorhead, of Pounsylvania, presented a memorial, on Monday last, in the House of object is if possible to prevent the inauguration of the Representatives, algned by over one thousand of the assistant assessors of internal revenue in all parts of the United States, praying an increase of pay, which is, we think, manifestly ponder well the position of the minority in the crease of pay, which is, we think, manifestly Stocks irregular; Penna. 5's 95c.; Reading Senate. And let all be prepared to maintain just and proper. The laborer is certainly worthy R. In the cities we meet them, in sunshine or The Union men of the Legislature, yesterday, rain, during the intense heat of summer, or have called a meeting of the State Convention nominated Henry D. It is very important to the Government that it should have intelligent, honest and capable Philadelphia, presented to the soldiers of Genmen for the performance of this duty. Such Birney's division, Third Army Corps, seven the capable for the pay they are thousand pairs of woolen gloves. The firm of men cannot be retained for the pay they are now receiving, and should Congress fail to make some provision for an increase of com-pensation it is not at all improbable than many all appears that Hon. John Minor Botts has pensation, it is not at all improbable than many of them will seek more lucrative positions, and missioner, Hon. Joseph J. Lewis, aware of these facts, has, in his report, called the attention of Congress to the subject.

The Speeches in the Senate.

During all the efforts to organize the State Senate, the friends of the Government in that body have displayed great ability in the speeches which they have made while replying to the sophistries and falsehoods of the factionists. To discriminate in referring to these efforts, by alluding to that of any particular Union Senator, would seem almost like injustice; and Yankees busy repairing damages to their batteyet, disdaining all intention to be unjust, we cannot refrain from alluding to the masterly effort of Senator Johnson, this morning. His reasoning was overwhelming. His authorities were carefully arranged and forcibly quoted—

Morgan and staff had authorities were carefully arranged and forcibly quoted—

Morgan and staff had authorities within the first three years after being made. while all his positions were impregnable. Indeed, the attention which was accorded to him by his colleagues, indicated the power of his effort. And we are not going too far in declaring that the minority fairly blanched before the force of Senator Johnson's speech. Hereafter, this speech will fix the doom of every man who thus far factiously opposed the organization of exemption law.
