THE PEOPLE'S CHOICE FOR PRESIDENT, ABRAHAM LINCOLN

HARRISBURG, PA.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 3, 1864.I

Volunteering with Maj. Gen. Hancock. We have witnessed no more sublime or gratifying spectacle during the entire struggle with the slave-holders and their allies, the copperheads, than that furnished by the late uprising of the people of Pennsylvania, in response to the appeals of Maj. Gen. Hancock. When Sumter was fired upon, the heart of the nation throbbed with a mighty impulse and men rushed to arms inspired almost with a wild and vengeful zeal. When the disaster of Bull Run appalled the country the people aroused themselves with something like the same spirit. Each occasion was a great crisis. Men had no time to deliberate. Death and duty joined hands in every path. The hour was fraught with danger and big with mighty deeds. Unlike these occasions only in the wild tumult which marked the military operations of the people, the appeal of Maj. Gen. Hancock is producing the most wonderful effect all over the State of Pennsylvania. Men are now acting upon their solemn judgment and the impulse which belongs to the love they entertain for a great and a glorious cause. Gen. Hancock is known only to the people of Pennsylvania as a leader—as a hero—as a great and a true soldier. He i identified with no element in society or politics that do not contribute to the glory of his country. He is acquainted with no combinations but those which are formed for the safety and perpetuity of the Government. He fights because he loves the Union. He leads because he knows he can be of service to the Government. And while he does this, he neither thinks of himself in the present or his fame in the future. Conscious rectitude renders him calm and unselfish on these points. Is it any wonder, then, that such a man should rally, the true men of the old Keystone State? Had he come to Pennsylvania a month earlier, our quota of troops would have been full and ready for the field to-day!

-Men like Maj. Gen. Hancock are independent of newspaper commendation, and hence we are not impelled by any desire of flattery, thus to refer to him. Our only regret is, that the service is not made up of such officers; because with such men in command throughout the country, our battles would be victories and our struggle with the traitor foe of short duration. Let the gallant young men of Pennsylvania think of these facts, and rally promptly to the support of Hancock. He is one of us—a Pennsylvanian by birth and love. He is a soldier in heart and feeling, fit to lead heroes in a cause such as he has pledged his life, his fortune, and his sacred

The Quarters of the Veterans.

To show how totally incapacitated Lieut. Col. Bomford is, to discharge the important duties involved in the command at this post, when he issued an order to the effect that the returning veterans should occupy Camp Curtin, he had neither the on-ergy or the promputude for its execution. As tissued to Bomford, from the War Department, impressing him with the importance of being properly prepared to receive the returning veterans. It was the object of the War Department to convey to the veterans not only the high regard in which they were held by the National Government, but impress them with the real value of their past services, and the great importance of their re-enlistment. Yet t hese purposes were entirely frustrated by the inefficiency and lack of vigor of the commandant at the post. Capt. Johnson, A, A. Q. M. at this post, more than a month since, urged the importance of making active preparations for the reception of these veterans. He appealed to his superior in command, Lieut. Col. Bomford, for orders to prepare quarters for these troops. These appeals were responded to by extravagant suggestions on the subject of locating a new camp, by hesitancy in construing plain orders of the War Department, and by an inactivity and lethargy which plain business men could only regard as imbecility. The time thus consumed was of the utmost. importance. Every day wasted in idle pleasure on the skating pond, by Bomford and his coterie, was time consumed which belonged to labor for the care and comfort of the returning Pennsylvania veterans. In this dilemma, Capt. Johnson, A. A. Q. M., was left entirely to act on his own responsibility. By his efforts and energy, Camp Curtin was prepared for the reception of the veterans; and had it not been for the promptitude of Capt. J., the veterans would have been compelled to bivouack on the cold ground and wallow in the mud of Camp Curtin. The flooring of the tents with timber, was suggested to Lieut Col. B., but he declined to issue an order on the subject .-The Quartermaster of the post, with a humanity that ever fits well the valor of a true soldier, then ordered the flooring of these tents' immediately, and thus prevented sickness, suffering and death among the veterans who came. home anticipating generous welcomes and royal treatment We are weary of calling the attention of the proper authorities to the woful derelictions of duty daily occurring at this post through the inactivity, lethargy and even imbecility of Lieutenant Colonel Bumford. That officer, by his mismanagement, has done more to discourage re-enlistments than all the imbeciles in command in the army. Had the veterans been allowed to return home, before re-enlistment, to endure the insults and the neglects. of Lieut. fellows would have re-enlisted; at least not until they had forgotten the wrongs which they now endure, and been able once more to see the necessity of continuing the battle for the Union to a glorious and a triumphant terteer forces came from social stations equally as good as that occupied by Bumford or his surroundings. These men feel and understand what is due them; but this is a fact which the Government has not fully learned, and yet the sooner the lesson is inculcated, the better for those in authority, as well as for the stability of the Union and the Government.

-While on this subject, we cannot refrain from calling the attention of the War Department to the fact that there are more officers detailed for service at this post than there is labor for them to perform. Captain R. I. Dodge at one time, when the recruiting and mustering operations were on a larger scale, discharged all the duties of the post with less confusion, less complaint, and two-thirds less expense than it now costs the Government. The idle officers at this and other posts throughout the country, are devouring the vitals of the Government and disgracing the dignity and energy of the service. They are here as elsewhere, mere appendages to snobsocial circles, where they flourish to the dehight of themselves and their social toadies The people are weary and dissatisfied with these evidences of waste, profligacy, idleness and imbecility. Good soldiers who come here fresh from the field are disgusted with the exhibition. Business men, upon whose thrift, energy and enterprise the Government depends for resources and support, are losing confidence in those who detail these officers, and the whole community demand in thunder tones that retrenchment and reform should be had immediately. We want no idlers, no vain glorious upstarts to close up the path of victory. We live in an age of iron, when wooden men are of no service. Let the Government study these facts, act on their teaching, and then the people, who support those in authority with their labor and their lives. will stop complaining.

The Anxiety of "Our Congressman" for the Safety of the Negro.

The following preamble and resolution passed the Congressional House of Representatives by a vote of 80 to 46: WHEREAS, The war policy of the Govern-ment has brought into the service as soldiers and laborers colored men and persons claim-ing to be held by rebels, who have rendered nvaluable service to the army; And whereas The further employment of colored soldiers would relieve the demands for northern labor and prevent men from that section from being taken from their homes and industrial pursuits; therefore,

Resolved, That a more vigorous policy, in order to secure a larger number of persons of African descent in the army, would meet the approbation of this House. It will be seen that the object of this preamble and resolution is to place a fair portion of the labor and the danger of the conflict for the Union, upon the shoulders of the negroand in all cases where a negro can be of service in the operations to crush the rebellion, to call on him without delay, and by legal enactment, compel his presence in the army. This is done to save the white man. The purpose of the resolution is expressed in the preamble, to be the use of the negro, in order to prevent [white] men from this section [the North] from being taken from their homes and industrial pursuits! General William Henry Harrison Miller voted against the passage of the resolution, thereby evincing a higher regard for the negro than he has for the white man and his family. Oh! consistency! thou art, indeed, a jewel! Make mark here, white men of the district! -

Another Rebel Raid on the Baltimore and Ohio R. R.

Fighting at Patterson's Creek and North Branch

APPREHENDED ATTACK ON MARTINSBURG.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 2. Information received from the Upper Poomac to-night indicates that the rebels are making great efforts to destroy the Baltimore and Onio Bailroad. The telegraph lines were cut about noon to-day, east of Cumberland, and the bridges at North Branch and Patterson's creek were burned. Some fighting took place at the latter point. It was feared that an attack would be made on Mostingham. an attack would be made on Martinsburg. A rebel force about five hundred strong, under General Rosser, made an attack on Patterson's creek and North Branch. After burning the bridge, they moved towards New

Our Men Re-Captured and the Rebels Put to Flight.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 3.

The American has received the following special dispatch:
Cumberland, Md., Feb. 3, noon.—The combeniand, Mil., 160. 3, noon.—The guard of the company of infantry posted at Patterson creek bridge, 8 miles east of Cumberland, was attacked at 1.30 yesterday aftermoon, by 500 rebel cavalry, under Col. Rosser, and after a spirited resistance, in which two of our men were killed and ten wounded, the greater part of the company were captured.

This accomplished, the rebels set fire to the bridge, and leaving it to destruction, started off with their prisoners in the direction of only slight damage to it.

General Averill, with his command, who had been sent out from Martinsburg by Gen'l Kelley this morning, overtook the rebels near Springfield, and a severe engagement ensued. The rebels were driven through Springfield, and thence to and south of Burlington.

Many of the rebels were killed and wounded, and our captures are large, including the recovery of our own men taken yesterday at Patterson's Creek, and many horses.

The enemy are making backward tracks the back country pursued by our cavalry.

The intended raid on New Creek has been thwarted by Gen. Averill's quick movements, and the other ample arrangements made by Gen. Kelley and their anticipated success turned to a complete route and discomfiture.

The Baltimore and Ohio road is now entirely clear of the enemy and the full operation of the line will be at once resumed. The weather is clear and cold.
