THE PEOPLE'S CHOICE FOR PRESIDENT. ABRAHAM LINCOLN

HARRISBURG, PA.

SATURDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 6, 1864.

Postal Reform.

There is no department of the Government in which the people are more directly interested than in that which has the regulation and control of the system for the transmission and the distribution of private letters and printed matter conveyed by the mails. -The reader will find in another part of to-day's paper an interesting table containing a statement of the manner in which letters are distributed in the principal countries of Europe, and also the mode in which postmasters receive their compensation in such countries. It will be seen that the earrier system universally obtains, and that this service is in most cases perform ed without fee-the exceptions being confined to localities where the sparseness of the population justifies a departure from the system. The generality of the rule, however, shows the direction in which postal reform, under this head, has steadily tended in Europe.

The National Intelligencer says that we are indebted to the present efficient Postmaster General for the partial introduction of this system into the administration of our postal service. The law authorizing the free delivery of mail matter by carriers took effect on the first day of July last. About that time the system was put in operation at forty-nine of the larger offices, with a competent corps of carriers to each, numbering in the aggregate four hundred and forty-nine, at an aggregate annual compensation of $300,680. While we cannot hope, with the present distribution of our population, and the extent of our country, to attain the point reached by European Governments under this head, we may at least mark the progress they have made as indicating a reform which should be adopted wher, ever the conditions of its existence are found. We have the best reason to know that Mr. Blair is disposed not only to give the system in our country a fair trial, but to promote its extension as far as practicable. Ample but well guarded provision to this effect has been made in the revised code of the laws relating to the Post Office Department, which was submitted by him at the last session of the Thirty-seventh Congress, and to which the attention of the present Congress is again invited in his last annual report.

There is also in this proposed revision of our postal laws (which is for the most part but a digest of existing legislation, the provisions of which would be but slightly affected by the are determined to burden the people with modifications suggested) and other recommendations as to which the practice and experience of Europe may be studied with advantage. We allude to the mode in which postmasters are remainerated for their services. It will be seen that it is everywhere regulated by fixed rates in the shape of a salary, and not left to be ascertained by calculations based on the number of letters received and apparent amount of service rendered. This latter method involves the keeping of cumbrous accounts for no other purpose than to ascertain what is to be paid in any given and interests of negroes in an unsettled state case, when in points of act the Department unless the government of the State be in the can readily arrive at the approximate rate of hands of a community founded for the puroffice during a series of years. Hence Mr. Blair proposes in his revised code to divide post offices and the compensation of postmasters into five classes, and to fix these classes according to the annual average of compensation to the postmasters during four years last past, with a provision to meet the cases where returns may not have been received for each quarter, and confining the average to a less period when revenues are increasing. It is not proposed in a y case to change the present amount of pay. The first class comprises all offices where the annual pay has been between $3,000 and $4,000: second class, between $2,000 and 3,000; third class, between $1,000 and $2,000; fourth class. $100 and $1000; fifth, less than $100-Salaries thus ascertained by the annual average for four years are to be fixed in even sums, but in no cases to exceed the average.

The advantage of this change, whether re gard be had to the convenience of the Department or to the satisfaction of postmasters, would seem to be apparent. There are many other provisions of the revised code which strike us as being judicious, and we hope the suggestions of Mr. Blair may receive at the hands of Congress the attention to which they are entitled. There is one point to which, in conclusion. we would particularly advert. We allude to the recommendation which the Postmaster General has renewed in his last annual report. that a postal money order system be established to facilitate the transmission of small sums of money through the mails, which would not only prove a great convenience to civilians and soldiers, but would almost entirely obviate the loss of money letters, the great majority of which enclose small remittances. The present Congress has shown itself properly mindful of the comfort of our soldiers in the field by providing that articles of clothing comprised in a package not exceeding two pounds in weight, addressed to any non-commissioned officer or private serving in the armies of the United States, may be transmitted in the mails. By authorizing "the postal money order system" Congres would conduce to the increased comfort of our soldiers, while placing at the same time within the reach of all a facility for the safe remittance of small sums. It is a matter of surprise that this desirable reform has been so long postponed in the United States.

SECRETARY CHASE has received many communications from the West, asking that a prohibitory act be passed against the use of grain for distillation, inasmuch as the crops are short. It is estimated the corn crop will be short 130,000,000 or 150,000,000 bushels. This is a good move, and we should like to see such a law passed by Congress. We are in favor of putting arentire stort to the distillation of whisky and all kinds of spirits, except alcohol, of every description, from any and everything whatever. It is the true temperance reform that is needed in this country. Stop the manufacture, and stop also the saleexcept as medicine.

WHAT PROLONGS THE WAR. -Mr. E. L. Pratt, refugee from Alabama, says that the rebels are holding out in hopes-that a Democratic triumph at the next Presidential election will enable them to obtain the rights they have been fighting for. To encourage and sustain that hope is the object of the speeches of such men as Fernando Wood, such Messages as Governor Seymour's and the daily efforts of such papers as the Tory Organ, the Chicago Times, Cincinnati Enquirer and New York World, as well as of the leading Copperheads and their organs generally. Let there appear to be a prospect of electing such men as McClellan, Seymour, Vallandigham or Wood, as our next President, and they would be sure to hold out until the question was decided at least, and perhaps longer, if such a man should be elected. The re-election of Mr. Lincoln will change the entire programme of the rebellion and leave the rebels without a hope of success. Of course the people in the free States understand these facts, and intend to be governed by them accordingly.

MEN ENLISTED INTO THE REGULAR ARMY. The Secretary of War has informed the Governors of the loyal States that all men enlisted into the regular army since September 3, 1862, will be credited upon the quota of the State in which they were enlisted. The superintendents of regimental recruiting service have been directed to forward to the different State capitals, as soon as possible, a list of all men enlisted into the regular army by recruiting officers under their commands from September 3, 1862, to January 1, 1864, giving the names of the men, and whenever they can do so, the districts in which they were enlisted. Hereafter, also, tri-monthly reports of men thus enlisted will be forwarded to the several district of enrollment, town and county in which they were enlisted, such reports to commence from January 1, 1864.

—In the face of this decision, we are astonished that the President of the City Council suffered himself to be cajoled into signing the card which appears with his name appended in this morning's issue of the Tory Organ. Boston, New York and Philadelphia, as well as all other cities, are taking advantage of this decision, a decision at once founded in justice and honor. But the authorities in this city are either anxious to spend money, or they another draft.

SENATOR LIANE, of Kansas, accompanied his bill to designate a region on the Rio Grande for a State for negroes, by a report, in which he sets forth the necessity of separating them from the whites to protect them from the grasping cupidity of the latter. The only safe place and bulwark of the negro are the low latitudes; and there they may become rulers, law-makers and lords of the soil. The majority race, or whites, will keep the rights payment from the average revenues of the post | post. Amalgamation is impracticable in this ulation have no prejudice against color, and intermarriages are not forbidden by law or custom. The country proposed to be set apart for an exclusive colored population stretches from the Gulf of New Mexico, and from the Rio Grande to the Colorado. It is in a genial and productive region, easy of access, &c. It is confidently believed that the State of Texas, under proceedings that may bring that State back into the Union, will relinquish her right to the territory in question.

ARKANSAS is to come into the Union once more, not, however, that "Union as it was," or her "Constitution as it is;" but as a free State with a free Constitution. If Arkansas can be (and there is no reason why she should not) again made a party to the great national compact of the Union, as a free State, it will be the signal for the return of every revolted State on the same basis. In this manner the great problem of treason, as it was presented by the slave-holding traitors, will be solved. Every State that revolted for the purpose of increasing and strengthening slavery, will be revolutionized, re-organized and returned to the Union as a free commonwealth. And for these results the friends and the enemies of the attacked the enemy on the 25th, and after a Union, will have the slave-holders' rebellion to stubborn, fight drove them from the field. is alone due the great fact that slavery cannot reinforced. exist in the American Union, after the expiration of the present century.

THE ELECTION IN LANCASTER, in the early part of the week, resulted in the election of the copperhead candidate for Mayor, by a greatly reduced majority, in comparison to that which he received a year ago, and by large Union gains in the council, by which one branch is made a tie, and a majority of one gained for the Union men in the other. ular firing on the city of Charleston, aver. These results are of course very cheering. The Union men in two of the wards in Baltimore have been doing equally as well for the cause of the country. In the Eleventh and Twelfth wards in that city, at an election for members of the city council, the unconditional Union candidates received overwhelming majorities. There was no real opposition. The secessionists, seeing their humiliating weakness, pretended to disregard the election by not showing themselves at the polls. They begin to realize that their days are numbered.

DEPOSITORIES OF PUBLIC MONEY.—The folowing banks in Pennsylvania have been de signated as depositories of public money First National Banks of Carlisle, Erie, Meadville, Philadelphia, Scranton and Towanda.

LITTLE DELIWARE has not gained a great tion of the rebellion, he was very active to plunge the Blue Hen's Chickens into the fight against the Union, making speeches and forming cabals for the purpose of securing a collision with the Federal authorities. Hence his presence in the Senate will not help the cause of Liberty and the Union, Administrator, Important to Iron Masters!

Important to Iron Masters!

THE great difficulty and expense heretofore existing in rossting over highly impregnated with sulphur, for wanter a proper furnace; has induced some Iron Masters to abandon their use altogether.

After much investigation and experimenting Cleauser B. Grubs; of Lancaster, Pa., has erected an improved furnace for rossting such ores, in connection with St. Charles Furnace at Columbia, where it has been in page for three months past, giving the most satisfactory results.

It is now proved beyond cavil; that by the use of this IMPROVED FURNACE the most refractory ores are effectually de-sulphurized, at a trifling expense of labor and fuel, resulting in, a large yield of a superior quality iron, so that such ores can now be used and made to a profit of 50 per cent, over other ores in use including the expense of rossting.

Persons desiring further information or rights to use said Furnace will please address the under signed at Lancaster, Pa. [540-341].
