THE TWENTY-SECOND. - The Washington Club, of this city, will celebrate the birth-day of the Father of his Country, by a ball to be given in Brant's Hall, on the evening of said day. From present indications we anticipate. that it will be a success in every sense of the word. Extensive preparations are being made to render the occasion one of enjoyment to all who may attend, and the fact that the limited number of tickets issued are nearly all sold for special notice, because she exhibits more already, is a sure indication that the amusement-loving portion of our citizens intend to that versatility and polish which belong ex-"trip the light fantastic toe," in honor of the illustrious hero, whose name has been adopted as the title of the association under whose auspices the ball will be given.

New Counterfert 3 -A counterfeit bill on the bank of Gettysburg has just been issued. It is of the denomination of $20. It is so well executed that the best judges are apt to be taken in by it, the vignette being pasted on the centre of the note. The signatures on the counterfeits are W. G. MPhersom, cashier, and R. Smith, President, dated 1845; while the genuine are signed by G. Swope, President, and T. D. Carson, cashier.

A rank counterfeit $5 bill on the Union Bank of Philadelphia, has appeared; coarse paper, coarse in execution, and not a good imitation.

THE SINGULAR INFLUENCE OF POLITICS UPON Some Professing Christians.—There is a class of men in every community, absolutely | for skating. so good in their own imagination, that they really become ridiculous in their attempts to appear perfect. Of these, the Christians who affect to despise politics, are perhaps the most peculiar. Our experience in this connection amounts to the knowledge, that the do., $3 60. professing Christian who is constantly gailing. against what he terms political preachers, is himself a political bigot of the dirtiest dye. sorted lot of said medicines in the city. 118

A pure, upright Christian will not object to Market street, Harrisburg, Pa. [feb9-dlw] politics as all true men understand political politics, as all true men understand political patriotism-so that whenever you hear a professor of religion denounce his preacher because he is a warm hearted patriot, ready at all times to speak a word in defence of his country, put that professor of religion down with a broad mark to his cognoman, as an ally of his country's enemies. Instances have come under our observation, during the bloody conflict in which the Government is engaged to preserve its power and authority, of professors of religion leaving one church, because, as they alleged, the pastor thereof was a politician, but forgetting at the same time that the preacher of the church to which they afterward attached themselves was also politician in his own way-the first parson n question being a warm-hearted, generoussouled, fearless and impetuous friend of his country, while the preacher so lately adopted bore the reputation among loval men as either foul defamer of what we love as freedom or value as nationality. There are some fine distinctions in political preaching. Some men love the political preaching which points to duties to our country as well as to our God; and these are of the Christians who lingered longest around the cross of the crucified Jesus-while there are others who are to despise political preaching, and yet patronise every canting hypocrite who has the audacity to revile the country which shelters him-to outrage freedom and insult the Government which fosters him. And these are the professing Christians who betrayed Christ with a kiss for filthy lucre. The good old Saxon

THE DRAMA. - Miss Josephine Tyson. - We have had the pleasure, during three successive playing nights, to be present and witness the dramatic performances at Brant's Hall. It is not our intention to claim for these performances a higher degree of merit than the rank of the actors and actresses deserve; and yet we would be doing gross injustice to the qualifications of the ladies and gentlemen who compose this troupe, if we refused to acknowledge that they each have talent of a higher order than is usually found among "strolling playsurplus change. Drugged rot-gut whisky is ers." Added to this talent, too, there is an their chief assistant. Soldiers, beware of the air of respectability which pervades the social low grog-shops and dens of iniquity, which demeanor of these people, which we cannot reabound to an amazing extent in the alleys and sist, and which has won for them the undoubted confidence and esteem of the best of our citizens.

word of Traitor is the title by which such hypocrites will be known throughout time und eternity, on earth and in hell!

In point of talent real substantial talent, which shows industry and devotion in its cultivation-we have been most favorably impressed with the delineations of Miss Josephine Tyson. Let it be remembered, however, that what we write of this lady, favorably, must not be construed as depreciatory of the accomplishments of others attached to this company. We only single Miss Tyson out prominently than her associates on the stage clusively to real gentus. We have now seen her in three characters, each the opposite of the other-and in all she was perfect. In Colleen Bawn she was all that Bourcicault conceived the character should be-delineating the patience of love and the strength of woman's faith in that which she once loves, with a vividness and a force that reminded us of the palmiest days of Fanny Kemble and Clara Fisher. As Mrs. Haller, certainly nothing could have been more natural-both in the pathos of her elocution and the perfection of her conception. In this character Miss Tyson showed that the great est "acting" consisted only in being true to nature—and thus her delineation of the penitence, hope and abiding faith of the fallen wife, who had found forgiveness from the mercy of Heaven, was a picture upon which no true man or woman could look without the tenderest emotions alike of pity and of admiration. If Miss Tyson never sustained any other character but that of Mrs. Haller, she would find in the success she derives from its conception and delineation a foundation to base the very best of dramatic reputations. Last evening Miss Tyson gave as a specimen of her higher powers as an ac tress, in a character which, while it aims to depict crime in all its horrors, is one of those extravagant conceptions of French sensation which should be banished from the American stage. Her Lucretia Borgia was yet carefully seem to imagine denotes perfect "acting." -We intended merely to give Miss Tyson a passing notice when we started to write this article, and yet we find we have been tempted into a partial criticism of her merits; which many may possibly consider a mere "puff," bu. which we honestly tender to the reader in good with as our candid opinion of her merits. There is un donot of her ability. Her appearance on the stage convinces us that she is a student in her profession, devoted to the drama because she loves its beauties and is wooed by its refinements. We thank her for the improvement she has made, during here short engagement in this city, in the dra vatic tastes of our people. TO THE BELLIEF

THE FREE DELIVERY OF LETTERS. - Numbering the Houses in the Streets of Harrisburg.— The Postmaster General having established a system for the free delivery of letters in the different cities of the country, it now becomes the duty of the citizens thereof, through their municipal authorities, to contribute practically to its success. This can only be effectually done by the numbering of the houses of the cities where these free deliveries of letters are now made; and in order to render such numbering of private and public houses a real facility, regularity and order must be observed in every street, avenue and lane in the city. The subject is not one that admits of much discussion. If the free letter delivery is to become a success in this city, Council must provide immediately for the systematic numbering of all the houses in Harrisburg. We therefore leave this subject to the careful consideration of Council. It need not cost the first to try, as I had laid out money time after city a penny to carry such a project into effect, while the expense to the holders of property would be insignificant. When its importance is fairly appreciated, we have no doubt of the success of the project.

To SOLDIERS AND POSTMASTERS. -Editors of newspapers throughout the United States will doubtless confer a favor on the soldiers in the field, as well as their friends at home, by giving publicity to the following:

AN ACT to amend the law prescribing the articles to be-admitted into the mails of the United States. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That articles of clothing, being manufactured of wool, cotton or linen, and comprised in a package not exceeding two pounds in weight, addressed to any nonmissioned officer or private serving in the armies of the United States, may be trans-mitted in the mails of the United States at the rate of eight cents, to be in all cases prepaid, for every four ounces, or any fraction thereof. subject to such regulations, as the Postmaster General may prescribe.

Approved, January 22, 1864.

POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT, guidance of Postmasters, and is thought to be so fullkand plain that no one can mistake its meaning. Postmasters will, however, bear in mind that packages of clothing entitled to pass in the mails—four ounces for cight cents—must be manufactured from wook cotton or inen, and not exceeding two pounds in weight, and must be addressed to a non-commissioned officer or private serving in the armies of the United States, Consequently a package addressed to a commissioned officer, or composed of other materials than as above specified, such of other materials than as above speciment, such as boots, shoes, &c., if sent by mail, must be prepaid by stamps at letter rates, wize three cents for every half ounce of fraction thereof.

Board of Managers—Rev. E. S. Johnston.

Rev. G. G. Rakestraw, I. M. Kelker, G. W. Parsons, Jas. Patterson, B. J. Harris, J. F. Kerper, Wm. E. Sees.

We would most earnestly commend this association to the attention of the young men of our city. The object for which it is established, is purely a benevolent one. Sec. 2d, art. 1st of the Constitution says: "The object of this association shall be the improvement of the spiritual, mental and social condition of young men."

To this end a reading room has been open ed, whither such as may feel inclined, may resort to spend their evenings. This room is well lighted and warmed, and is supplied with a good selection of newspapers and periodi-cals, religious and secular. In addition to this it contains a fine library, embracing such a variety of matter as to suit almost every taste. Religion, morality, science, poetry, polite literature, general information, all have their place among these yolumes.

The reading room is open daily from 12 months to 10 p. m., and for the sum of one dollar per year, every young man may enjoy its privileges. It is a gratifying fact that many do attend there from night to night, and are thus rescued in some measure from the temptations and corrupting influences which abound on every hand. During the last year sixty-four new members were admitted, and others are constantly joining.

The reading room is in Kelker's building.
No. 18 Market street. The doors-are open wide to all, and to all are extended an earnest, cordial, christian welcome.

It may be well to state here, that the rooms of the association will be removed to Mr. Wyeth's building, corner of Market square, on the first of April next.

New Cumberland, Pa., Jan. 20, 1864. Dear Lady:—Mrs. Ball, will you please pardon me for the liberty that I have taken in Addressing you, a stranger. I feel myself under obligations to you for the benefit I have derived from your medicine and eye salve, having suffered for many years most excruciating pain in my head, breast and side, not being free from pain day or night. And I being free from pain day or night. And I have been doctoring with well-skilled and practical physicians for some years, and all attempts proved a failure. I had given up all hopes of recovery and felt fully resigned to await my fate, which foretold an untimely grave. My father being a resident of Siddonsburg, and living quite a distance from you, I did not get to hear of your medicine—that has proved a wonderful cure indeed. Some few months ago I was 'advised by a lady friend of mine to try your medicine. She stated to me that she made use of your medicine and salve which proved a cure. Heeling rather lother time, which made the expenses very heavy and all for naught. But having great confi-dence in my friend's integrity, I was prompted to hearken to her kind entreaty and try for myself. I therefore purchased two dollars and a half worth of your medicine, and, to my utter astonishment, in one week I felt a great change, and in two weeks was entirely free from all pain, and your eye salve perfected a cure for which all other washes and salves proved useless. My eyelids were so much inflamed that I was forced to wear glasses for some years, and now I have no occasion at all to wear the glasses, my eyes being well. I therefore have resolved, dear lady, to let you know that I could not rest content until I would return my heartfelt congratulations to you, my friend and benefactress, for the good you have accomplished, feeling myself a new

CONSTITUTION LIFE SYRUP HAS PRODUCED

A REVOLUTION IN MEDICINE!

What may seem almost incredible, is, that many discases hitherto considered hopelessly incurable are frequently cured in a few days or weeks, and we cheerfully invite the investigations of the liberal minded and scientific to cures which have no parallel at the present day.

Our medicine is peculiar; by it the seat of any discase is directly reached, and the equilibrium restored.

Those who have suffered longifrom painful and obstinate diseases, those who have vainly sought relief from advertised medicines, those who cannot be cured by other playsicians—
