WEDNESDAY EVENING, MARCH 2, 1864. FOWN AND COUNTRY.

Police affairs are dull. WISTAR'S COUGH LOZENGES can only be and at the drug store of Kunkel & Bro., No. 118 Market street, Harrisburg. mar2-3t*

WORKMEN are again engaged at the West Harrisburg market-house. Passers-by can hear the "sound of many hammers."

THE fair at Brant's Hall is under full headway. There is a fine display of fancy goods, etc. Go and see them. You will be well repaid for the visit.

Last evening a fracas occurred on Market street, between some soldiers and other persons, in which one of the parties received an ngly cut on his frontis-peice. Better let fighting whisky alone.

THE disagreeable weather of yesterday was followed by an article of a different character. To-day the sun is shining "in all its glory," and the snow is skedaddling as rapidly as pos-

UPWARD, STILL!-This morning our tenderhearted country friends demanded from 45 to 60 cents per pound for butter; $1 25 to $1 50 per pair for chickens, and other articles were sold at equally extortionate prices.

CIGARS! CIGARS!-Just received from New York, a fine lot of a new brand of cigars. which will be sold at low prices to suit purchasers. Give us a call. Kunkel & Brother, No. 118 Market street, Harrisburg. mar2-3t*

DEATH OF AN ENTERPRISING BUSINESS MAN. -The community heard with deep regret, the death of Mr. William Dock, Jr., long one of | years old. It is supposed that the father and our most prominent and enterprising young a son have enlisted in the Tenth Pennsylvabusiness men, and his funeral, this afternoon, was attended by a large concourse of those who knew and loved and respected him while he lived. His was indeed a painful and lingering sickness-vibrating as it were between the hopes and the horrors of that relentless destroyer of the human race, consumption. He will be mourned by many, and missed from mercantile circles as one of those who gave energy and security to business.

His theme was the Bible. He spoke of the regenerating influence of the book upon individuals, beautifully comparing it to an audience chamber, in which the individual and insignificant, man, was permitted, as it were, to look face to face on God. Rev. Jackson then went on to treat of the effect and the influence of the Bible upon nations. How it prepared people for improved government on earth, and ultimately thus fitted generations for the pure and incomparable government of Heaven. From this point the reverend orator proceeded to discourse of the condition of our own nation. All the great changes worked in the progress of the American people, sprung directly from Bible influences. The war of the Revolution was the direct result of Bible inspiration. From teaching God's fatherhood, it equalized all men-made us brethren, made us, in God, of one family! The religion of Jesus, eloquently exclaimed Rev. Jackson, is the purest form of Repulicanism ever devised. Four million of men were now stretching out their hands to the people of the free States for this same religion, this higher order of Republicanism! They appeal to us, as sons of a common

Father, as brothers in a common hope of salvation, for the freedom of the Bible! Shall they have it? At this thrilling point of the sermon, when the intelligent and Christian portion of the audience were bending with rapture to the guidance of the eloquent and sublime truths thus boldly spoken, a lady in

The old man who had agreed to carry the children as far as Culpepper Court House, seeing the utter helplessness of the party when they reached that point, agreed, in pity, to carry them as far as Brandy Station. It must be remembered that this journey was tedious, sad and weary. Two weeks were occupied in reaching Brandy Station. While the party had sufficient food, the children suffered severely from the cold, the tender babes particularly, with the mothers, suffering intensely. At Brandy Station the party took passage on the regular military train for Washington city, and thence to Baltimore, reaching Harrisburg, as we have stated, yesterday morning.
