Government Bounties to Soldiers Continued

The Governor received official information from Washington, last evening, that under the joint resolution passed by Congress yesterday; the payment of Government bounties to the soldiers will be continued until further orders.

Legislative Corruption.

The Philadelphia Evening Bulletin repeats its charge of corruption against the Pennsylvania Legislature, and counts THE TELEGRAPH as the defender of men engaged in such despicable transactions, simply because we had the courage to defend the interest of our great commercial emporium, the city of Philadelphia. Let us for a moment examine the facts in the case. A railroad company, already in existence, asks the privilege of extending its road for two MILES, in order to secure direct communication with the city of Philadelphia, not only for the convenience of a large number of the citizens of Northampton county, but to afford the citizens of Philadelphia additional facilities for the importation of coal, an object in which every citizen of the metropolis is interested. Indeed we are in favor of the extension of all railroad facilities. The Bulletin denominates the TELEOBAPH B defender of corruptionists. Will our cotemporary tell its readers candidly a fact well known to frequenters of our legislative halls, that when unfair means are suspected of being used to obtain legislation_ its own friends and neighbors have been charged as being the parties guilty of such unfairness. Does the Bullelin not know the fact that wealthy railroad companies are annually crowding the halls of legislation, in order to prevent competition in the coal trade, and thus monopolize the mining and carrying of coal to the city of Philadelphia?

We do not for a moment believe that un fair means were used to obtain the legislation which has proven so obnoxious to the Bulletin men; notwithstanding charges were made to that effect by two members of the Legislature. But we begin to suspect very strongly that foul means were resorted to to prevent its passage. The Bulletin makes annual charges of corruption against the Legislature of Pennsylvania. These charges are greedily republished by the New York press. Against this practice we enter our solemn protest. If the editors of the Bulletin are cognizant of corruption, let the charge be specifically made, so that a committee of investigation may be appointed and we shall do our ntmost to bring the guilty to punishment. We believe that the great majority of our legislators are honest and upright men, and it is doing them injustice to be charged with corruption, because they happen to extend railroad facilities two miles. We may refer to this subject again, when we shall endeavor to place the saddle on the right horse. In the meantime let the Butletin nag stop its prancing.

he refers to, that we characterized the Quakers as cowards. The history of the past and the present attests the valor of the disciples of Penn, wherever a good deed was to be accomplished or a great principle defended.

Mr. Lincoln in Pennsylvania. We undertook, some time since, to make a list of the papers in the State of Pennsylvania, that had either placed the name of Mr. Lincoln at the head of their editorial columns, as a candidate for re-election to the Presidency, or that had declared emphatically in favor of his re-nomination After making a record of two-thirds of the loyal papers, we ceased for the action of the other third of our loyal cotemporaries, and now we have the satisfaction to announce that every journal in the Commonwealth, faithfully supporting the policy of the Administration in the effort to orush rebellion, is faithfully advocating the re-election of Mr. Lincoln. Added to this fact, there are newspapers which have always occupied neutral positions in reference to nominations, acting independent also after parties had made their choice of candidates, which now heartily endorse the movement of the people in favor of Mr. Lincoln, taking the broad view that his re-nomination is essential to the final overthrow of the rebellion and the complete safety of the Government. -It is not to be supposed that the unanimity of the press is altogether the result of the personal preferences of these journalists. Newspapers are but the reflex of public sentiment, and when they seemingly lead the people, are actually being led by the people themselves. This is the fact in relation to the unanimity of the loyal Pennsylvania press in favor of the re-election of Abraham Lincoln. As if by inspiration, the masses of the people were unanimous on this subject-county after county recording itself in favor of Mr. Lincoln's re-election-organization after organieation avowing its faith in his administration -until the enthusiasm in h is favor has become a power which it is dangerous to resist and popular to acknowledge. Never, before, in the history of the country, since Jackson elicited the liomage and the confidence of the American people, did popular favor run higher and stronger for any man than it now does for Abraham Lincoln. He has earned, by the purity of his private course and the patriotism of his public career, the confidence of the American people. And out of this confidence must spring that success which is to ensure the regeneration of the nation.

of a Martinet-Gen. Seymour in Florida.

The Tory Organ, with the other represents tives of the rebel cause in the North, has undertaken the defence of Gen. Seymour, whose sad blunders in Florida cost the nation the lives of so many gallant men. It is fitting that Seymour should have a defender, and no sheet in the Commonwealth is fitter for the labor of such a defence than the Tory Organ, simply because a falschood will serve to save him from the indignation he has incurred. Seymour's conduct in Florida was alike infamous and characteristic. He rushed on danger, simply because he would listen neither to the counsel of his own officers, or obey the ordinary precaution necessary while penetrating an enemy's country. The people in this bonds for any other than municipal purlocality, who had occasion to observe Seymour while in command of a camp in the suburbs of Harrisburg, have no hesitation in declaring that he pushed the negro troops in his command into the very jaws of death, to satisfy his implacable hatred of the race; nor do we hesitate to add to this declaration our belief that when the circumstances attending this gross negligence are fairly examined, Seymour will be found guilty of an act which will insure his immediate disgraceful dismissal from the army. To defend such a man, becomes, certainly, the peculiar business of the organs which are daily engaged in assaults upon the Goverment in teacht fans 68 h

A CENTRE COUNTY correspondent, writing from Bellefonte, seems to think that we have done the "Quakers" injustice in an article on the subject of "Monopolies," that appeared in the TELEGRAPH of the 29th ultimo." In the course of that article, we asserted that owing to our indifference to the encroachments of English capitalists, who are now monopolizing the resources of the coal fields, John Bull began to imagine that we were a set of "Quaker cowards." Our correspondent will observe, that we did not accuse the Quakers of cowardice ; we only insisted that Bull would regard our apathy while he was robbing us in our necessities, with the affected scorn with which he has ever looked upon the sublime doctrines of peace as they have been proclaimed to the world by the Quakers. A man can be a friend of peace, without being a coward. Thus it is with the Quakers. Their very advocacy of peace has cost them sacrifices of the noblest and most heroic character. Even now the the commissioners and assessors of Allegheny Quakers are peace men-their sons are fight-ing for PEACE in every regiment sent out by Pennsylvania.
