THE PEOPLE'S CHOICE FOR PRESIDENT ABRAHAM LINCOLN HARRISBURG, PA.

SATURDAY EVENING, MARCH 5, 1864.

Who are the Friends of the Soldiers!— The Democratic Leaders Opposing the Increase of the Pay and the Enfran-chisement of our Fighting Men.

There is no longer any necessity for the Republican press of the State to indulge in broad charges as to the hostility of the Democratic leaders to the men who are perilling their lives in the defence of the government. These leaders are placing themselves right on the record, by avowing and practicing a hostility to the heroes of the war for the Union, at once unjust and malignant. In the Senate. yesterday, on the vote to secure the increase of the pay of the soldiers, every Democrat but one voted nay. We give the resolution and the vote as follows:

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same. That our representatives in Congress be requested to vote for, and use their influence for the passage of a law increasing the pay of private soldiers and non-commissioned officers in the army of the United States.

On the final passage of the bill, The yeas and navs were required by Mr. Beardslee and Mr. Clymer, and were as fol-

YEAS Messrs. Champheys, Connell, Dun lap, Fleming, Graham, Hoge, Householder, Johnson, Kinsey, Howry, M'Candless, Nich-ols, Ridgway, St. Clair, Turrell, Wilson, Worthington and Penney, Speaker—18.

NATS-Messrs. BEARDSLEE, BUCHER, CLYMER, DONOVAN, GLATZ, HOPKINS, LAMBERTON, LATTA, MSHERRY, MONTGOMERY, REILLY, SMITH, STARK, STEIN AND WALLACE-15. So the bill passed finally.

Every Democrat but KINSEY, of Bucks county, VOTED AGAINST INCREASING THE PAY OF THE SOLDIERS.

Among the amendments to the Constitution, is the following section:

Section IV. Whenever any of the qualified electors of the Commonwealth shall be in any actual military service under a requisition from the President of the United States, or by the authority of this Commonwealth, such electors may exercise the right of suffrage in all elections of the citizens, under such regulations as are or shall be prescribed by law, as fully as if they were present at their usual place of election

The vote on the passage of this amendment stood as follows:

YEAS-Messrs. Champneys, Connell, Dunlap, Fleming, Graham, Hoge, Householder, Johnson, Kinsey, Lowry, M'Candless, Nich-ols, Ridgway, St. Clair, Turrell; Wilson, Worthington and Penney, Speaker—18.

NAYS—Messrs. BEARDSLEE, DONOVAN,

GLATZ, LAMBERTON, LATTA, MONT-GOMERY, SMITH, STARK, STEIN and WALLACE-10.

The amendment was agreed to, Kinsey, Democratic Senator, voting in the affirmativeand five Democratic Senators dodging the question-by which they admitted the infamy of the course adopted by their leaders in the

The Election of Delegates to the State Convention.

Two important facts should be well considered by those all over the State, who have outmanaged and defeated the politicians, on the Presidential question, when they select were drawn, have actually governed, Had delegates to the State Convention. The the people governed as they should, the govmasses of the people must see to it and select only such men as are known for their faithfulness to the Government, to the Administration, to the cause of the country-men who will conscientiously represent the wishes of the people in securing the renomination of Abraham Lincoln. The mere form of the proceedings of this renomination seem unimportant to the great mass, but if true men are not made delegates, it will then only be seen how much we have lost in neglecting an important duty. And as the movement in favor of Mr. Lincoln is one purely originating with the people-one which has defeated the machinations and the plans of the politicians in and out of place, we trust that the delegates will be selected with a view only to their discharging a defined specific duty, and not for the purpose of entering into a combination for their own glorification and profit. No one man must come up to claim that he brought about the re-nomination of Mr. Lincoln. No faction or clique must be allowed to boast that they are the custodians of the man nominated. It must be left for the people to claim the candidate as their choice—the man as being tried and preferred and elevated again to power alone by the desire and the will of the whole people. The spirit which is now abroad among the people—the prominence which this great struggle for civil liberty has given the masses indicate that the people are about to govern. The masses who can rescue a land from so now involved, surely have also the ability to conduct the affairs and select the representatives of the Government.

MR. DILLAYE, of Syracuse, N. Y., who in 1862 severely injured himself by falling through a cattle-guard of the R. R. Co., at Clyde, was nonsuited on the ground that Mr. Dillaye had no business where he was, and that the cattle-guard was where by law it ought to be.

DIPTHERIA is making such havoc in Lunenburg, Vermont, that there is not at present a single school in the town in operation.

In the war of the rebellion, the loyel men of the land have learned at least one great lesson, namely, to resist treason and preserve their Government. Twelve years ago-yes, three years since, the people of the free States were regarded with great contempt by those of this and other nations who made pretensions to martial valor. The Yankees vere esteemed as industrious, intelligent, ingenious and indomitable in labor. As a higher order or class of laboring men, than were contained in other countries. The masses of the people of the free States were still looked upon as unfit to govern, inferior as belligerents, without the proper attributes either for the forum, the cabinet or the battle-field. And for awhile, the people of the free States actually believed that nature and education had, as it were, disqualified them for martial deeds or statesmanship. Hence, in talking of the valor of the American nation, it was always as if by rule and law, ascribed as located entirely below Mason and Dixon's line-and in referring to the thrift or laborious energy of the people, it was yielded to the Yankees or Northern "mud-sills." But in the great struggle for civil liberty—in the effort to preserve the only free government on the face of the earth, the people of the North have suddenly become acquainted with not only the might and influence of their numerical strength, but they have learned the wonderful and irresistible power of their martial valor and fortitude: Never was a lesson inculcated, which carries with it, influence of more danger to the peace of the monarchial world, as that which has unfolded and developed to the contemplation of the people of the North, their own personal valor and prowess in war. Three years ago, the North was like unto an overgrown boy, ready and willing to bear all sorts of taunts and contumely, provided he was not absolutely forced to contend with an adversary. Suddenly pushed to the wall-beaten on the forehead and spit upon, the boy became for a moment almost frenzied and appalled, but instantly arousing himself and becoming inspired with the force of the great law of selfpreservation, the whining and blubbering strippling has become a giant full of vigor, full of youth, stalwart and valorous, he stands forth defiantly before the world. He has learned to fight! The men of the North, before excelling in all that requires genius, energy and education, have suddenly learned that they can right and amid the solare and thursder and glory of this knowledge, it is hard to tell who are most astonished, the people of the new or those of the old world. One portion of the lesson thus suddenly learned is, however, certain, and that is, the tyrants and aristocracy of the old world would do well to profit by the knowledge thus inculcated. -The lesson thus instilled into the hearts of the people of the free States, must not stop with a knowledge of being able to fight. We must not depend upon, our fighting qualities for prosperity. No nation won lasting honor or permanent good on the battle-field. War is always a scourge, whatever the good it may indirectly effect-and only when the sword is beaten into a ploughshare and the spear into a pruning hook," will the nations of the earth actually become prosperous. Hence, the American people who have thus suddenly learned that to the calm consideration of the people of they know how to fight, must as effectually, Pennsylvania—to the serious reflection of if not as suddenly, learn also that they know the men who are perilling their lives in de- how to govern. The masses—the men of toil fence of the national honor, and perpetuity -the producer the great laboring multiof the National Government. The disfran- tudes who left plow and anvil and bench and of the service which he is now rendering the fight the battles of the nation and win glorination, have become the clearest and the ous victories for its eternal preservation strongest points in the policy of the Demo- all these and their representatives henceforth without distinction, must learn that they know how to govern. Though a selfgoverning people though invested with invaluable political privileges and power, it is notorious that the American people, at no Brigadier General, Commanding the Expe time in their history, since strong party lines ernment would have been preserved in its purity. Had the interests of all classeslabor as well as capital - been fairly legislated for and represented, treason would not have essayed to tumble down the fairest hopes of the nation. Equally as well as the people know how to fight, so will they learn, as the fiery ordeal through which they are passing, ends, that they know, how to govern. The people who are capable of preserving their forms of government from the assaults of treason, as well as tyrants, surely understand also how to govern themselves,-And by this we mean that the masses of the people will no longer suffer themselves to be ruled by faction or party. That they will not subject themselves to the dictation of demagogues in the form of ambitious politicians, ever aspiring for self-aggrandizement, power and glorification ! A National Currency. The only bond that we now need to render the confidence of the people firm, and protect us in any emergency that can possibly arise, is the complete acceptance and operation of Mr. Chase's great plan of a national currency. Under any circumstance, the system of State banks has been, is and will continue to be a loss and an embarrassment to the people. By that system, laboring men and mechanics and merchants are compelled to take the paper representations of a value of which they know nothing-endorsed by men who are irresponsible, and mostly ungreat a crisis as that in which our country is known to the receiver. All this has tended to render men dissatisfied with the Government. When these banks have heretofore failed, the Government has always been held responsible for the failure, when in reality the authorities were no more to blame than they should be reprimanded for the losses of the most unscrupulous specula tor in the market. What we want, then, and what we must have, is a general system of national banking with the securities for every dollar of paper issued in the hands of the Government-in the vaults of the National Treasury. When such a currency is put into

The People—What they have Learned they take—and everyman holding five dollars and What They Must Still Further learn. terested in the safety and the stability of the Government. As the land is now deluged with a ragged currency, the issue of mere shaving shops, no man is secure that keeps a dollar of this money between the rising and the setting of the sun. It is of no value beyond the shadow of the doors of many of the institutions issuing it—while the large majority of it is utterly worthless beyond the States which authorized its issue. .. Certainly, then, only those who are interested in such a system of financiering will oppose its entire abolishment. The National Banking system will give us a currency as good in San Francisco as in Bangor—as reliable in Maine as in California. It will form the bond of our strength, and prevent communities from being robbed to enrich individuals. Its adoption should not be delayed, as its operation involves not only the entire security of busi### ness, but the very life of the nation itself. Personal and Political.

Maj. GEN. CRAWFORD, commander of the Pennsylvania Reserves Corps, was in the State Capital yesterday. His reception, by the members of both Houses of the Legislature, was highly flattering and enthusiastic. No other man has more faithfully served his country in the effort to crush rebellion. Mr. REYBOLD, of Delaware, has 1,000 acres devoted to peach culture. Two steamboats are kept constantly running to carry off the crop whilst it is ripening, and the profits for ast year have been estimated at $300,000.

LENT, the circus proprietor, now giving exhibitions in New York, has trained one of the sacred bulls of Burmah to perform in the arena.

Col. Basil Duke was removed from Camp Chase Ohio, a few days since, and passed through Harrisburg yesterday, in conformity to an order from the War Department, to Fort Delaware, that he may be exchanged for a Union prisoner of similar grade.

Mr. A. P. HUGHES, of Nassau, N. H., well known as a leading Democratic politician and able lawyer, died on the 23d ultimo, after an illness of a few days, of congestion of the

GEN. KILPATRICK'S EXPEDITION.

OFFICIAL DISPATCHES OF CENERALS BUT LER AND KILPATRICK.

COLONEL DAHLGREN NOT HEARD FROM.

Washington, March 5. The Republican publishes the following: We are permitted to publish the following dispatch received this morning by the Presi dent, from Major General Butler, covering another dispatch from General Kilpatrick: HEADQUARTERS FORTRESS MONBOE, March 4, 1864.

To the President. I forward the annexed account from Gen.

Kilpatrick: YORKTOWN, March 4.—General: Col. Dahlgren was directed to make a reconnoissance with 500 men, on the James river. He attacked at 4 P. M., on Tuesday evening, and drove the enemy in on Richmond. The main attack having failed Col. Dahlgren attempted to rejoin me near the Meadow bridges. H and Col. Cook were with the advance guard.

Some 50 men became separated from his main force, since which nothing has been heard from them. The main force reached me with slight loss. I have hopes that he may yet come in:

J. KILPATRICK,

dition.

In addition a rebel deserter informed one of my aids that a one legged Colonel and about one hundred men were taken prisoners. I shall hear by flag of truce on Sunday night, and will telegraph again.

(Signed.) BENJ. BUTLER,
Major General Commanding.

GEN. SHERMAN'S EXPEDITION.

GRAND MANŒUVERING.

THE REAL OBJECT OF THE EXPEDITION.

NEW YORK, March 5. The Tribune's Washington correspondent says that Memphis advices of the 1st say that after reaching Meridian, Sherman waited to hear from Smith's cavalry; but no news came for three days. He had a short allowance of provisions. By a rapid move he turned Aberdeen and Columbus, in the richest part of astern Mississippi, where his army was sure to find an abundance of provisions.

By this he turned his back on Selma and Mobile, marched towards Logan, who had advanced to meet him, and by an audacious stroke of strategy placed himself at a distance of 100 miles from Johnston's flank, now menaced by his advance.

The rumor spread concerning the attack on Mobile and Selma by Sherman, was simply meant to divert public attention from the real object of the expedition which aims at an invasion of Georgia somewhere between Trenton and Lafavette.

Capt. Westervelt's Body Found. THE REBELS THREATEN NEWBERN, PLY-MOUTH AND WASHINGTON.

The Citizens Ordered to Arms.

UNION SOLDIERS HANGED What 50,000 Men Could Accomplish.

NEW YORK, March 5. The following letter has been received from

Newbern: NEWBERN, N. C., Feb. 29.-The body of Captain Westervelt, of the late gunboat Underwriter, has been found in the river with a bullet through his head, which confirms the report that he resisted to the last.

The firemen, together with all the citizens from 18 to 50 years of age, are under orders to be ready at a moment's notice to meet the enemy, who are said to be massing a large force a final atttempt to repossess Newbern

Plymouth and Washington.
The attack will be of the most formidable character, and may take place at any mo

The report that a large fleet of gunboats are on the way here, accompanied with reinforcements for our army, has encouraged all with the belief that with this aid we can resist successfully any efforts made to capture these important points.

The Newbern Times says, we are informed the rebel General in command at Kingston, has hung several members of the second North Carolina Regiment (white) captured by him in the recent movement on Newbern.
The same paper says that an army of fifty thousand men marched to the heart of North Carolina, giving an assurance of protection from confederate vengeance, would ensure the political conquest of the State.

Viewed simply in a military light, an army of fifty thousand men here could effect all the Army of the Potomac has been three years in attempting to accomplish. They could take and hold both the grand lines of railroad and communication through this State, by which the rebel army in Virginia is replenished, and could cut off all his supplies from the South and Southwest, and Lee must evacuate Virginia or stayre. ginia or starve.

California.

THE GOLDEN CITY ARMED BEFORE SAILING. San Francisco, March 3. Since the sailing of the Golden City, it has transpired that she took $773,000 in treasure for New York, instead of the sum before reported. Twenty soldiers went as guards, designing to return from Panama by the return steamer. In addition to her regular armament, an extra 100-pounder Parrot gun was ment, an extra 100-pointer rarrot gain was mounted on the forward deck, so that, con-sidering her speed, even the Alabama would find it a difficult job to capture her. No armed passenger was allowed to go in her did so much toward making California loyal, while his untiring zeal in forwarding every benevolent enterprise made him generally be loved.
