TOWN AND COUNTRY. HARRY DAVIS exhibits his panorame of the rebellion at Frederick City, Md., this week THE net profits of the late soldiers' fair, at Lancaster, amounted to the handsome sum of $12,191 51. The regular monthly meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association will be held this evening at half-past seven o'clock, at the usual niacě.

BE VACCINATED-The prevalence of small pox all over the country admonishes all who have not been vaccinated to have it done without delay. There is no telling how soon it may prevail in our midst, and this precaûtionary measure should not be neglected.

NEW RAILROAD CARS .- The Pennsylvania railroad company are building, at their extensive shops in Altoona, a number of first class passenger and baggage cars, which are superior to any now on the road. They are furnished with new iron trucks, improved brakes and all the modern safeguards and improvements, and are painted in beautiful style. A number of the new cars were run over the mountain on Friday last, and were universally conceded to be not only the most comfortable, but the finest cars yet placed upon this splendid line of railroad. The new cars will soon be placed upon the road for through travel.

A FAITHFUL CONTRACTOR. --- We understand that many of the beef contractors furnishing meat at the different military posts throughout the State, have thrown up their contracts, unable to supply the beef required of them. This is owing to the great rise in cattle in the West. But one among all these contractors has remained faithful to his obligations, and is now furnishing the best beef which the market supplies, at rates which are really a a loss to him. Mr. Alexander Koser is the contractor alluded to, one of our most popular and enterprising victuallers. He is now supplying this post with beef, and is doing it at rates which no other butcher in the city could stand. It takes a good man to do a good thing. Hence the success of Koser.

ABBIVAL AND DEPARTURE OF THE HEBO OF THE WAR. -His Reception and Appearance.-Lieutenant-General U. S. Grant, the officially recognized hero of the war to crush the slaveholders' rebellion, arrived in the city this morning, at 6 o'clock, en route from the West to the Federal Capital, in obedience to a summons from the President of the United States, In anticipation of this distinguished: arrival. and in order to give the gallant hero the welcome which was his due, the Legislature appointed a joint committee to wait on and receive General Grant when he arrived. Resolutions of congratulation, and tendering to the hero the hospitalities of the State Capital were also passed and directed to be conveyed to General Grant. Accordingly, this morning, at 6 o'clock, the Legislative committees were in attendance at the depot, and with the arrival of the train from the west, General Grant made his appearance. He was most enthusiastically greeted by the immense crowds of soldiers who thronged the depot and lined the walk to the United States Hotel. Indeed, it was a work of great difficulty for the committee to convey the hero and his staff to the hotel, the soldiers almost becoming uncontrollable in their enthusiastic demonstrations in his favor. After having partaken of a breakfast prepared expressly for the distinguished guest, (as only Hutchinson, of the United States Hotel, can serve up those luxuries.) General Grant repaired to the parlor, and received and conversed with as many as could get near to talk with and shake him by the hand. His conversation of course only related to the great struggle in which the nation is now engaged for its life and its honor. . Of the result of that struggle, he expressed himself sanguine, because, as he also declared, he had faith in the valor and the patriotism of the people. From an effort of a few mad, politicians to advance their own selfish ends, it had become a people's war-a struggle of the masses to preserve their nationality and their social status from the conspiracy of an as piring aristocracy, who had banded together to destroy the republic that they alone might rule in the land. General Grant referred to the position of General Sherman, for whose safety fears had been expressed in the newspa pers. He had every confidence in his safetyhe felt that Sherman was all right!

Leave Man. - Go and See It !- A play that will draw a crowded house on eight different occasions, in Harrisburg, is certainly one of extraordinary merit, and a theatrical troupe that can command the patronage of Harrisburgers seven successive weeks, without the least apparent decrease in numbers is in-deed popular. To hight Rouse's Star Combination Company will give their forty-first entertainment in Brant's Hall. On this occasion The Ticket-of-Leave Man will be produced for the eighth time. The success of this great moral play is unparalleled in America.

In all the large cities it has been produced in the principal theatres, and has been received with unbounded enthusiasm. We believe that Harrisburg is the only place in which it has been performed in Pennsylvania, except Philadelphia and Pittsburg, and the best of indges inform us that the style in which it is presented here has not been excelled in Philadelphia, while it is far superior to the manner in which it is produced in the Smoky City. The character of Robert Brierly, the Lancashire lad, who is first charged with forgery, and is imprisoned, and after being released is continually persecuted and "hunted down," by those who had professed friendship, is nobly sustained by Mr. Rouse. Through all his struggles to do right, and resist the temptation to do wrong, he portrays human nature in a style that cannot be surpassed: Mr. Jennings, as, Hawkshaw, the detective, in the various disguises incident to a detective's life, stands without rival anywhere. Mr. Crossen admirably represents the villainous Jim Dalton, who engaged in all manner of crime, but is finally arrested in the graveyard, after robbing the office of Mr. Gibson. The latter character is sustained by Mr. Dunn. Melter Moss, the passer of forged notes, is a good character, and provokes applause from the audience. notwithstanding the grave character of the play. Mr. Kent appears as this individual. Sam Willoughby (Miss Fanny Denham,) is a mischievous lad, who is up to all sorts of pears as the fascinating May Edwards, the by her personation of the old dame. The other characters are finely distributed among the members of the company, but limited space forbids an extended notice of them. We would remind our readers that this evening the Ticket-of-Leave Man will be played for the last time... Do not let the opportunity pass by unimproved. You will regret a failure to attend. Go early, too, or you will not obtain a seat.

Rouse's Star Troups is the best that ever visited Harrisburg, and its success here has never been equalled.. Its popularity is increasing daily.

DIBECTORS ELECTED. -The stockholders of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company yesterday elected their Board of Directors for the ensuing year. The following were chosen: J. Edgar Thomson, Josiah Bacon, Thomas Mellor, John Hulme, G. D. Rosengarten, Wistar Morris, G. W. Cass, Pittsburg; Wm. H. Smith, Pittsburg; Samuel T. Bodine, Jos. B. Myers.

PROMOTED.-Alf. C. Pettitt; formerly Hospital Steward at Camp Curtin, has been promoted to Acting Surgeon, U. S. A., and is in charge of the second and third wards of the general hospital, and the small pox hospital, at Camp Curtin. This is a merited promotion. Mr. P. labored hard to prepare him self for a position such as he has attained. and we are pleased to notice that he has been successful.

ROBBERY, Yestorday, Dr. Lazarus, of the firm of Rosendate & Co., opticians, when about, to purchase a ticket at the depot, placed his values on the floor. After procuring the ticket he discovered that the valise had been stolen. It contained a large number of gold spectacles, etc., bestder considerable money. A soldier named Robert Cowles was subsequently arrested, on suspicion of having stolen the property of Mr. Lazarus, and after a hearing before Alderman Kline, was committed to prison. A portion of the goods have been found, in a field near Shupp's, a mile from the city, and ansindividual who was seen there has been "spotted," and will probably be arrested. Several dozens of gold spectacles are yet missing, besides a number of other valuable articles.

Gen. Grant looks and acts and talks like a soldier. His appearance is very striking; almost all the protraits and photographs yet published of him, possessing some of the points of his resemblance. Parent," indulges in certain anterences to our System of Common Schools, which are at once highly important, while he promises still further to discuss the subject in a manner that has elicited our deepest interest and liveliest anticipations. As much as we can infer from the first communication from the pen of "A Christian Parent," we are led to understand that he is in favor of graded schools, until the highest discipline of education has been reached in a school which is to rank with the most elevated and successful private seminaries in the land. There is no doubt whatever, that the founders of our present system of education had such gradation of schools in view when they established the free education of the free boys and girls of Pennsylvania; so that until such graded schools are permanently established, our system will never be regarded as a complete success. We intend to watch the course of articles alluded to, and as we find them interesting, print such of them for the benefit of our readers as we may have room to insert in our columns.

ABREST, OF A SWINDLER -Neal Gwynne, Of the Seventh Pennsylvania Cavalry, recently succeeded. in swindling a number of recruits that had been obtained for his regiment. He had been soting as a recruiting officer here, and not content with the profits afforded by that business, succeeded in obtaining the bounty money of the recruits for "safe-keep ing." Having secured a handsome sum in this way, he "skedaddled," taking with him his ill-gotten gain. Gwynne visited Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York and Boston, in the order named, in company with a female. He was, however, doomed to arrest. C. B. Franklin, special officer of the Government, was on his track, and followed him to Bos ton, where he was discovered, "arrayed in fine, clothes," and living at one of the prin-cipal hotels. On the 29th ult., the officer succeeded in arresting him at one of the thea. tres, where he was, in company with the woman alluded to, and at two o'clock, this morning, Franklin and Gwynne arrived in Harrisburg. The swindler was lodged in our jail, where he will remain for the present. He will doubtless have a trial at an early day. Officer Franklin, as a detective, has in several instances proven himself fully competent for the position he holds, and has succeeded by his shrewdness in bringing to justice a number of Uncle Samuel's "beld soldier boys" who had committed various offences. He is "the right man in the right place."
