Immediately cured, and full vigor restored. This disease, which renders life miserable and marriage impossible, is the penalty paid by the victims of imprudent indulgence. Young men are too apt to neglect the warning signs, and the result is a permanent weakness, loss of vitality, nervous irritability, dyspepsia, palpitation of the heart, indigestion, and a general debility, which may result in consumption, decay and death.

Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, London, graduated by the University of London, and was a member of the United States Army, and the greater part of his professional life has been spent in the hospitals of London.
