HARRISBURG. Tuesday Afternoon, August 23, '59.

STATE OF THE THERMOMETER. EARLY MORNING, HARRISBURG, AUGUST 23, '59.

Table with 4 columns: 1, A. M., 4, A. M., 7, A. M., 12, NOON, 5, P. M.

BAROMETER AT 7 O'CLOCK A. M. 29.938 2 O'CLOCK P. M. 29.900.

STRAWBERRY BEDS.—According to our agricultural exchanges, the present month is a good time to make new beds of strawberries.

PAINTING THE CAPITOL DOME.—We are informed that the contract for painting the dome of the capitol has been awarded to Mr. John Cruikshank, and that his bid was five dollars higher than that of Mr. George Davis.

UNION CAMP MEETING.—A Union Camp Meeting will be held, God willing, by and under the direction of the ministers and people of the Church of God, a few miles above Mechanicsburg, Cumberland county, Pa., commencing on Thursday, the 25th inst., and to continue about one week.

ANNOUNCING.—A correspondent calls our attention to the constant annoyance of the residents in Market Square—first, from the unearthly noises made by loafers around the melon stands the eve before market, which is kept up by the whole night; secondly, by the butcher boys, who seem to take especial delight in having a "set to" with their fierce whelps and every stray cur that comes near the market house.

CONVICTION.—We published a squib in our Saturday's issue, to the effect that a Telegraphic operator lately "vamosed" from Newport, Perry county, and in his haste forgetting to liquidate his board bill. The young man alluded to is a son of Mr. Bartow, of our borough, who assures us that the publication is a vile falsehood and slander, and adds that his son and family gross injustice.

THOUT FISHING.—CONVICTION.—A correspondent draws our attention to a mistake which occurred some time ago, in stating that a law had been passed at the late session of the Legislature, prohibiting fishing for trout in Dauphin county between the first days of August and April. He is correct—it was a mistake. The law refers only to the counties of Lycoming, Clinton and Sullivan. There is no law prohibiting fishing of any kind in Dauphin county.

A REPRESENTATIVE MAN.—The Wheeling Intelligencer, in a late number, gives a description of a character which is frequently met with also in this and all other localities in the country. It is a traveling type. The one referred to, the editor says, he met in the streets of that city a day before, and that "he has probably seen more of this world, cut more hotel bills, and enjoyed life better, in the twenty-four summers that have passed over his head, than any other man of his years in the profession. He has been in every State in the Union, and has worked on three hundred and thirteen different newspapers. He once traveled from Detroit, Michigan, to Bangor, Maine, on two dollars and a half, and never walked a step or missed a meal. Owing to his peculiar habits he is much subject to drouth, and is one of those who prefer to—

—In their livers heat with wine, Than their hearts cool with mortifying groans." Whatever his condition financially or gastronomically, none of the infectious trops of pale distempers and fogs to life, are ever permitted to cross his path. Always gay spirited and kind hearted, he has accustomed himself to the consoling notion that there is nothing really wrong in the act of swindling a landlord, or "closing the eye" of a steamboatman. He has, of course, been the hero of many odd incidents and adventures, and is as full of pleasant anecdotes as a hired jester. With some few exceptions, his character, he is a representative specimen of the men of his class.

Upon the often delusive hope that "some day" he will turn up. He had but fifteen dollars in his pocket, and when the idea of a new life dawned upon him, he turned on his heels and fled in disgust. Fortune, pleased with his long life with the careless representative, he thinks he will be among the "final ending, and w' hope he may."

COURT PROCEEDINGS. The Court of Quarter Sessions and Oyer and Terminer of Dauphin county, commenced yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, before their honours Judge Pearson, (President) and Elester and Nisley, associates.

REPORTS OF CONSTABLES. The constables of the several wards and townships of the county submitted returns from their respective balliwicks, which, generally, exhibited a very encouraging state of affairs.

THE GRAND JURY. The list of Grand Jurors for the present term was then called over and twenty-one answered to their names. The absentees were Messrs. Leonard Moyer and Moses Nutt.

CHARGE TO THE JURY. His honor Judge Pearson then proceeded to charge the grand jury in his usual clear and lucid style. The offences upon which they would be called to act, as enumerated by him were burglary, larceny, passing counterfeit bills, forgery, spiriting away witnesses, keeping bawdy houses, adultery, disorderly houses, riot, assault and battery, assaults, assault and battery with intent to kill, selling liquor to minors, selling liquor on Sunday, malicious mischief, and hawking and peddling, the law in reference to all of which was properly explained.

ON MOTION OF J. ADAMS FISHER, Esq., Jno. P. Huston was admitted to practice in the several courts of Dauphin county.

NATURALIZATION. Several applicants applied for, and received naturalization papers.

AFTERNOON SESSION. VERDICTS IN COURT.

The first case that received the attention of the Court at the afternoon session was that of Fanny Gish, indicted several months ago for keeping a disreputable house in the northern part of our borough. Fanny, by some means or other, has been playing "bo-peep" with our judicial tribunal for the last two or three sessions, and it was not until the present occasion that she was finally capitulated into the intricate meshes of the law, and made to sniff the odorous atmosphere that lingers around our temple of justice. A charming looking defendant was Fanny! Her skin was of dazzling whiteness; her forehead lofty and peerless; her lips like an opening rose-bud, and her cheeks vied with the fair hue of a summer sunset. Her hair, black as midnight, hung in cork-screw clusters on either side of a face full of vivacity, artlessness and piety, and added much to the natural language of her head. Her form was well developed, and elegantly and fashionably attired in all the pomp of silks, satins, laces, and brooches. She evinced little, or no, concern with the dry and monotonous legal proceedings in which she was so intimately interested, and sat throughout the trial fanning herself with as much complacency and dignity as a queen receiving the homage of her subjects.

Messrs. Allenman and Shell conducted the defence, and Herr attended to the interests of the Commonwealth. The case was submitted without argument; and the jury, after a brief deliberation, returned a verdict of "not guilty" and county for costs; whereupon the bewitching Fanny floated from the court-room like an Aurora-stepped cloud in an autumn sky.

THE "MULTITUDE OF COUNSELLORS" was augmented by admitting to practice at the bar of the several courts of the county, Messrs Jno. P. Penny of Pittsburg, Jno. T. Houston, formerly of Columbia, and Daniel M. Rank, late of Lycoming county, now residing in Millersburg.

Jeremiah Gritner—a rough-looking, costless customer with features and head that would form an admirable vignette to some "yellow-kivered literature" in the highwayman line—stepped over with permitting about $80 in gold to stick to his fingers. It was evidently a bad case; and Jersey to make the most of it, plead guilty; and, of course, will get the bad habits scrubbed from his fingers by the "sword of justice."

Joseph Shipley—a jolly sort of a chap, with a face as full of good humor as it was of bad whisky, which latter fairly oozed out of his skin like molasses from a pitcher of ice-water in dog days—was next called upon to "pay the Piper" for riotous behaviour, disorderly conduct and drunken music generally, furnished without solicitation to the good citizens of Halifax and vicinity. When called within the bar he seemed to regard the whole matter as a remarkable good joke, and we seriously thought at one time he would manifest his high appreciation of it by ordering drinks for all hands—including Bench and jury.

Messrs. Eckles and Shell furnished him counsel; but his case was not submitted to a jury. His Honor summarily disposing of it by ordering the defendant to give security in $800 for good behaviour for six months, and pay the costs of prosecution.

James M'Clester, James M'Maunus, Columbus Wietzell and Lewis Able—all young men—charged with riotous behaviour and committing a brutal assault and battery on Mr. Charles Fleck, in front of Hugh's tavern, Canal street, on the evening of last 4th of July. The particulars of the case have already been published in the INTELLIGENCER.

Robert Muench, Esq., appeared as counsel for defendants, and Messrs. Herr and Scheil for the Commonwealth. At the conclusion of the Commonwealth's testimony, which failed to impeach Lewis Able, Mr. Muench asked that the case of that prisoner be immediately sent to the jury for acquittal, in order to qualify him as a witness for the defence; which was done accordingly. The case of the remaining three of the defendants was submitted to the jury at 7 o'clock, when the Court Adjourned.

MORNING SESSION. TUESDAY MORNING, Aug. 23. Court met at eight o'clock A. M.

THE ASSAULT AND BATTERY CASE. The jury in the case of James M'Clester, James M'Maunus and Columbus Wietzell, charged with committing an assault and battery on Chas. Fleck returned a verdict of guilty. A JUSTICE OF THE PEACE CHARGED WITH VIOLATING THE LAW.

Benjamin Buffington, an elderly gentleman with hair fast silvering by Time's relentless hand, was arraigned for selling liquor to minors, and persons of known intemperate habits. The indictment represents the defendant as a storekeeper and Justice of the Peace, residing in the village of Fisherville, Washington township. Mr. Kunkle conducted the defence. The case was submitted to the jury about 11 o'clock A. M., who after deliberating about one hour, returned a verdict of guilty on both counts.

Richard Snowden and Robert Parker—both descendants of Africa—the former tall and slender limbed, with a pate covered over with a growth of wool as rugged as a stubble-field, and a mustache of luxuriant fullness, snarling lips as plump and red as beef kidneys; and the latter, thin and gawky, with two or three circised gashes in the neighborhood of his stomach ventilator that were frightful to look upon—entered the laws unperpetrated arena in cross action for assault and battery, committed on each other about the 20th of April last, on the bridge leading to ex-Governor Porter's furnace. Mr. Muench counselled Snowden and Mr. Allenman attended to the interests of Robert. The jury convicted Snowden of assault and battery; and Parker pleaded guilty and submitted.

A BLESSING IN DISGUISE.—Many an old friend we hear complaints, repinings and gloomy predications last spring, as to the effects of the late frosts upon vegetation. The croakers everywhere were loud in lamentations over the loss of their fruit and other crops, and the most gloomy forebodings were lavishly indulged. Yet see the result! The very thing that was so foolishly complained of, has turned out to have been a benefit instead of an injury—a blessing rather than a curse.

This idea is very beautifully expressed in an article going the rounds of the papers by a writer whom we do not know, or we would give him credit for it. He says: "All-wise Providence sometimes sees fit to do good to man in a way that, to our finite vision, seems an injury. Who, save a few thinkers and inquirers into nature; thought, or cared to think, when the frosts were chilling the air in the latter part of April last, that they were wisely regulated by the All-seeing Eye for man's benefit? And what small loss occasioned by the injury to fruit, vegetables, &c., was far more than compensated by the immense destruction of animal life, in the shape of worms, caterpillars, &c. &c. &c. which then took place? Never, since my recollection, have both town and country been so free from these noxious pests as at this season; and it will be years, if ever, before they recover from the blow struck by His hand, this spring. Who, for the last ten years, has seen our beautiful lindens and maples in as full foliage as at present? Have they not heretofore been stripped to "bare poles" by the 1st of July, then to put out a sickly supply of leaves, ready for the second crop of worms, that has always been hatched and ready for attack by the 1st of August? Now a worm is a rarity, and all owing to that "blessing in disguise," a "late frost." Never repine, but look to the end!"

THE SCHOOLS.—The schools of the South Ward of Harrisburg re-open on Monday next, and those of the North Ward on Monday of the week following. This is sad news for the juveniles, we know. Nevertheless, much as we may dislike to give them pain, it is one of those stern truths that must be uttered, and one of those distasteful facts of which they must be reminded: Adieu then, boys and girls, to the halcyon, joyful holidays, and prepare for your books and the birch: Apply yourselves industriously to the former, and the application of the latter will be unnecessary. So it will not be hard after all. Cultivate a thirst for knowledge, and determine to be men and women.

More Remarks.—Pot a good Bill of Fare, got this evening to Sanders' White Hall. Among his luxuries will be found the fresh oysters—fried, roasted, stewed or raw; fresh crabs, squab pigeons; spring chickens; corn and corn soup; vegetables of every variety; and something palatable to wash them down. The Prince of Caterers is Sanders! He says he was informed this morning that "his friend is not yet dead."

BORING ORDINANCE.—In our advertising columns to-day, will be found a Boring Ordinance imposing a fine on market people for tying their horses to trees, &c. in Market and Second streets on market days, to which we invite attention. Much injury is sometimes done to property by this practice, and the Town Council is right in abating it.

A LIVING HEAD ON A DEAD BODY.—Mr. Archibald Campbell, a respectable farmer in the township of Camden East, while engaged in finishing a dwelling on his premises, the scaffold gave way, and he was precipitated head foremost to the ground, and dislocated his neck; but very fortunately and mysteriously did not kill him. When his head was brought to its proper position, the vertebrae of the neck returned to their place with a dull but distinct snap. The whole body is paralyzed and dead from the neck downwards. He is not capable of moving a muscle or experiencing the slightest pain. Fortunately the nerves supplying the muscles used in respiration were not paralyzed; and he can breathe and live; had the injury of the spinal cord been a little higher, he would have died immediately. The sense of sight, hearing, smelling, &c., are normal, and his intellect is unimpaired. When last heard from, however, there were some indications of a return of sensation and the power of motion; and it is just possible that Mr. Campbell may partially recover.—Newburgh (C. W.) Index.

GRANDVIEW, IOWA, March 19, 1859. Mr. W. J. B.

Dear Sir:—As I am just about fitting out for an expedition to the Pacific Ocean, and as I am very near certain that this is going to be "Sam Patch's last leap," I am anxious to hear once more from the good old town Dauphin; so I thought to weary your patience a little in giving me the late particulars about my old stumping ground; also, whether any of our old acquaintances have lately gone the way of all the Earth, &c., &c.

Christian came home in October last, and he says it is no manner of use for folks to live in such a thundering cold climate as this is; so he has got us all in the notion to go. Louis was the first one that consented to go, and you may believe me that she is just as much of a "Wandering Arab" as old Andy dare to be.

We are going to start on the 10th of April, or sooner if grass is sufficient for cattle and mules to feed. We have good teams, and plenty of provisions, which you know are very important matters for such a journey. My outfit cost me nearly twelve hundred dollars; but one case is, mules are very high, here. Louis and Emma will travel in a mule carriage, but the oxen must draw the provision wagon, and under that arrangement there is not much danger of the mules making more headway in a day than the cattle can. We take 18 head of cows for the purpose of raising stock. The cattle can graze all winter without putting up feed for them, which you know comes very handy to a lazy fellow.

However, if I get through I will give you a history of a four month journey through an uninhabited country.

Christian had a letter from his mining company, stating that one of the claims was paying $20 per day, and this increases his anxiety to get off. He has made some money at mining, but not as much as he calculated to make when he left home. Yet he has done better than he would have done here. But you could not get him to live in any country except on the Pacific coast, in the south part of Oregon. I have not space to give you the slightest idea of the derangement of financial affairs in our Western country. Confidence is lost between man and man, and suspicion and distrust reign supreme. Indeed the wheel of fate has made a revolution, and the dark side of the picture has turned up. I have seen several pressures in my lifetime, but none to match this. The one attributed to Jackson's veto was no priming to this. I will try to give you some little insight of matters here to let you see how people do get rid of debt by borrowing again. Last August the farmers and business men of several districts in our State held a meeting and appointed a Mr. C. L. Clawson, of Mitchell county, to go to New York and see what he could do in the way of borrowing one million of dollars on Western Real Estate security. But the "Fat Kid" of Wall Street smelt a rat.

However, Mr. Clawson said, that every man he opened his case to seemed to sympathize with him, but at winding up they would let him know that they would sooner loan their money at home at three per cent. than loan it on western property at twenty per cent. Now here you see the innocent have to suffer with the guilty. No doubt Mr. Clawson and his party are sincere and upright men, and wanted this money to save their property from the hammer, but owing to the fraud and rascality committed by others they could not get a loan. Borrowing money to get out of debt, is to my way of thinking, like getting more hair from the same dog to cure the bite.

I know men here that loaned money three years ago at from twenty to forty per cent. interest, who would be very glad to get the principal now, and say nothing about interest; for if they go to crowding they may pay the Sheriff's execution themselves.

If my opinion is worth anything to the people of Iowa, I would advise them to keep down the credit system, now while it is down; for this is what carried people beyond the mark, as John Gilpin's mare took him beyond his stopping place.

There are some few men here who are borrowing money out of the shaving shops at twenty per cent., but they have no idea of ever paying it back again. If the banker can get anything from the property well and good, but that is all he will get.

To make a long story short, if matters go on thus for a year or two more, and times do not get better, then western real estate will not pay twenty cents on the dollar invested.
