singing, or as it may be termed, the art of breathing, is one of the best preventatives of, and surest remedies for, general weakness of the chest; and that its use, provided always it be proportioned to the other physical powers of the singer, is calculated to exert a most favora-ble influence on delicate constitutions, to impart vigor to the organs connected with the lungs, and thus to conduce to a healthy state of all parts of the body.— Mainzer's Singing for the Million.

Awrol .- In Crawford county, Pennsyl vania, an awful accident occurred on Friday evening, which resulted in the death of a daughter of Mr. Robert Harrington, who owns a saw-mill and lath-machine near the aqueduct in Meadville. The lath-machine was under full headway, when the father observed some pregularity in the movement, and going down below the mill he found to his horror that his child had been caught by her clothes upon a revolving horizontal shaft, and was whirling round it at
