Tuesday Afternoon, October 16, 1860:

FOR PRESIDENT:

ABRAHAM LINCOLN

OF ILLINOIS.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT: HANNIBAL HAMLEN

OF MAINE.

What has Been Achieved by the October Victory.

The result of the October election has established the precedence of Republican principles in Pennsylvania for the next sixteen years, but this is not the most gratifying achievement of the Republican claims our attention most, and now most deserves our gratitude, is the vindication of the labor which has so long been ne glected by the politicians of opposing parties. The laboring men and mechanics. of Pennsylvania never declared a bolder preference for principles, because principle was never more fairly presented and discussed. From the Gubernatorial candidate, whose manly declarations of the admiration and support of hundreds and thousands of men who were formerly attached to one or the other of the Democratic factions, to the candidates for Congress, the discussion of the Republipride in themselves as of justice to the people whose support they solicited. The question of protection was inscribed on that produced the real wealth of the country, was a sentiment in the last campaigh that animated every man who struggled as a candidate or battled as an adherent of the Republican party. The result has demonstrated the necessity of protection, while the principles inducing men to the declaration of this devotion, will hereafter be recognized as the only safe and reliable securities on which a

With this vindication of the necessity of protection, the right of free labor to an undisputed possession of the territory of the country has also been established .-Without this right, the hope of progressand prosperity would be vain and impracticable—because only as free labor is elevated, as its productions are protected and its interests recognized, can and will the territory of this country be developed and enriched by the blessings of civilizaincrease these riches, to maintain every the defeated candidate for Congress in this dis. | were 1810 in State at the call and of bonor. youchsafed to us by the provi-Pennsylvania. Protection to free labor, and the confining of slavery to its present defined limits, were the principles on support. What else does this prove but the three great issues were fairly discussed. On the side of the opposition, that record is against the opposition. Every leader of the fac- fore the people as Henry D. Foster came, with tions into which the Democracy are divided, is opposed to protection, because such a system would curtail the power of slavery—is opposed to the Homestead, because it would restrict the spread of that institution, and opposed to free territory, because every State formed from scribed by a correspondent of the Telegraph. such free domain would diminish the influence of the slavery oligarchy in the of grain cannot be produced anywhere, not Senate of the United States. We ask our readers to ponder these truths as they contest the canvass for President. They are the truths that were established by the last victory, the issues that were then recognized, and the principles that now enter into the present canvass. Let every voter remember that he is struggling for the protection of labor, the vindication of freedom and the establishment of the Homestead law. When he remembers that these are the issues, that these are the principles inscribed on the Republican banner, we will have no fears for the success of Lincoln and Hamlin by an overwhelming majority.

FROM CENTRE COUNTY.

ace of the Telegraph. PLEASANT GAP, October 15, 1860.

I have been here in as quiet and secluded a nook as can be found in the commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and hoped when I got here that I would be reliëved, at least for a few days, from hearing or saying a word on the subject of politics. But I was too sanguine in such a hope. Among these hills, where one would suppose the voice of contending parties could never penetrate, there seems to be as much excitement as is so earnestly cultivated in the capital and cities of the old Keystone State.-Here that excitement is composed of a sentiment instead of a display, as is mostly the case among the rural districts of every common-wealth. In large towns and cities, the people wealth. In large towns and cities, the people Gen. Garibaldi, the Cicilian dictator, denies are governed very often by their impulses in the statement that he had given orders forcibly deciding a preference for a candidate or maintaining an adherence to a principle. In the rural districts, men have more time to think, are less corrupted by association, and cling to a measure or, a man with a purer motive and a nobler devotion: A French statesman once de clared that as the rabble of Paris were checked. the success of the government was secure; and every voter in this country remembers the fact that it was a Parisian mob that dethroned party in that struggle. That which Louis Philip and placed on the throne a much greater man and in reality a sterner tyrant. Happily for this government this centralization of force and mob violence has never been ef-fected or recognized in any of our larger cities be worth from $30,000 to $40,000, up n which fected or recognized in any of our larger cities. A riot in Philadelphia does not affect the price of stocks, or strike terror into the hearts of the people, simply because the actual influence and sentiment of this government is confined to that class of people who are either the inhabitants of northern mountains and vallies southern savannahs, or western prairies. And this is the secret power that will forever pretruth of Republicanism challenged the serve the strength and force of the American Union. This sentiment of devotion to principle among the masses of the country, so faithfully displayed at the late election, is what gives security to government, prosperity to trade and glory to the country. The sentiment that predominates in such a locality as this, is can principles was as much a matter of pride in what they do politically, not an anxiety for political preferment or profit. In this assertion I am justified by the sentiment which I have heard expressed in relation to the result. Men seem to be satisfied. Even those here who all our banners. Protection for the labor opposed Andrew G. Curtin, willingly admit that their opposition was on a principle of distinctive party demand, and for no reason of personal or social objection. They admit that a change was necessary, and since success has growned the efforts and principles of Republicanism, they are willing to acquiesce in the result, and rather rejoice that the preference was for a man whom the people of this county have so long known and so highly respected. There is no mistaking this sentiment among the honest yeomanry of Centre county. However much Col. Curtin was opposed and landsord how they invaded decency and violated truth by these assaults, the people of his native county have nobly sustained him and the cause he has always so ably advocated.

In this secluded spot I have had in two days a good opportunity to judge of the current feeling of men in relation to the principles which produced such a great change in the politics of Pennsylvania in so short a time. This is a great mineral and agricultural region. Here men feel the lack of Legislation, and the rade to-night. want of the fostering care of the government. and for these reasons the people are losing their confidence in the Democratic party. To prove tion. To further this development, to this I will allude to the fact that Gen. Fleming, ct, as I am reliably informed, made the most sions of the Constitution, the Republican radical speeches in favor of protection, but Norfolk train this morning. party achieved their late triumph in the people in these iron and coal regions would not believe him sincere, because they had been deceived by every Democrat who had hereto the establishment of the Homestead law, fore secured their confidence by such professions, and they indignantly refused him their which the late contest was decided. These fact that the Democratic party has lost lits power and influence over the masses of the people, and that the laboring man and mechan ic will no longer allow themselves to be deluded triumph has ended, that its prestige is gone, and that in its stead some other system of po-In the approaching contest the same litical legerdemain or jugglery must be inventburg when he inquired why we have no tariff. as the men who have deprived Pennsylvania of a Tariff. HATTRAX, Oct. 16. The steamship Arabia has arrived. The principal features of her advices are embraced in the dispatch from Cape Race, published this norning.

The latest dispatches from the seat of war, say that the Piedmontese lancers galloped close to the gates of Rome, in their pursuit of the Pontifical troops. M. Balam, late Secretary of to oppose the entry of the Piedmontese troops the Neapolitan territory. He also says that neither he nor Garibaldi counselled an immediate occupation of Rome, at the risk of a conflict with France.

Syria.—Letters from Syria say that many additional arrests of distinguished chiefs had produced a panic among the Druses concerned in the massacre of the Christians.

Extensive Coal Oil Works Burned.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 16. The extensive coal oil works of Messrs. Helmo Co., on Bridgewater street, near Race, in the 24th ward, were totally destroyed by fire last night, together with about 2,500 gallons o there was no insurance. The combustible na-ture of the building and its contents, prevented any of the property being saved. The firemen were out in great numbers, but the want of water at this point prevented their services from being of much avail.

Another Brutal Prize Fight.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16th. A prize fight occurred on Sunday near Bull's Ferry, between Dunkirk and Malloy, two New York bruizers. Thirty seven rounds were fought in fifty-five minutes, when Dunkirk striking a foul blow, the fight was decided in favor of Malloy, who was the worst punished. A match for one thousand dollars between Aaron Jones and George King has been arranged, to take place in four months.

Southern view of the Late Elections.

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 16th. The Richmond Enquirer alludes to the late lections as showing that Lincoln will the North over all opposition, while the South will unite on Mr. Breckinridge as the candidate of the Democracy, but fears it is now too late to prevent Lincoln's election. The article closes by urging the South to harmonious action in the coming contest.

The Prince at West Point.

WEST POINT, Oct. 16. The Prince was received here yesterday with salute of seventeen guns; witnessed a review of the Cadets, attended a "hop," and started for Albany this morning. It is stated that the Prince will visit America again next winter, so as to visit the Southern States.

Another Fatal Railroad Accident.

The engine of the Express train, bound east on the Central Ohlo Rallroad, yesterday, flew the track near Cambridge, killing James Free the engineer, and Chas. Rush the fireman.

Hon. Hannibal Hamlin at Boston.

SOYER'S SULTANANA'S SAUCE

This most delicious and appetising Sauce, invented by the renowaed "Sover," for the London. Beform Club, is, since his decease, manufactured by the well-known house of Crosse & Blackwell, London, from the original recipe. It is the favorite Sauce in England, and on the Continent, with a high and grow ing reputation among American Epicures, and is much approved of as a stimulant to the appetite and sid to digestion.

OPINIONS OF THE LONDON PRESS. OFINIONS OF THE LONDON PRESS.

"We recommend our correspondent to try Mons, Sermis's new Sauce, entitled the "Sultana's Sauce," It is made after the Turkish recipe; its favor is excellent, and it affords considerable aid in cases of slow and weak digestion." The Lancet.

"Savory, Piquant, and Spicy, worthy the genius of Soyer." Observer.

"A most valuable adjunct to 1th, Flesh, and R.wl, and should have a place on every vable." Atlas.
