AS A MEDICINE it is quick and effectuals, curing the most aggravating cases o Dyspepsia, kidney Complaints, and all other derange ent of the Stomach and Bowels, in a speedy manner. It will instantly revive the most melanc: ly and drooping spirits, and restore the weak, nervous and sicily to health, strength and vigor.

Persons who, from the injudicious use of liquors, have become dejected, and their nervous a yetems shattered, constitutions broken down, and subject to that horribis curse to humanity, the Dariatum Trears, will, almost immediately, feel the happy and healthy lavigorating efficacy of Dr. Ham's invigorating Spirit.

WHAT IT WILL DO.

Does.—One wine glass full as often as necessary One dose, will remove all Bad Spirits.
One dose will remove all Bad Spirits.
One dose will store the distressing and disagreeable effects of Wind or Flatuience, and as soon as the stomach receives the invigorating Spirit, the distressing load and all painful feelings will be removed.

One dose will remove the distressing pains of Celic, either in the stomach or bowe?

A few doses will remove all obstructions in the Kidney, Bladder or Urinary Ofgaps.

Persons who are seriously afficied with any Kidney Complaints are assured speedy relief by a dose or two, and a radical cure by the use of one or two bottles.

The Post Office in Chicago was thrown into a state of great excitement day, before yesterday, says the Innes of the 24th, by the strange antics of a negro woman, who had just received a letter or package from one of the general delivery clerks. The woman was wringing her hands, screaming and acting like one in a man still like one in a m across the noor towards she door. This Artemic Cleopatra, it appears, has a Mark Antony living: trious predecessors, their social relations have not been of the most setimated. trious predecessors, their social relations have not been of the most satisfactory description.—But the socty Antony was quite as deeply en amored of his Cleopatra as was his Roman prototype, and being unable to possess her he resolved that no one else should. So he caught the adder, enclosed it in a pasteboard box and forwarded it to the object of all his troubles.—She, upon receiving it, was slightly surprised at hearing a hiss in the box, and almost instantly the green head, glittering, eyes and barbed tongue of the aforesaid adder shot up before her astonished gaze. She dropped the

Marion, October 17th, 1860. DEAR WIFE: I must tell you that I do love you with all my heart, and no other but you. How do you think I can live without you, dear, loving wife? How my very heart does ache for you. Now dear wife, do believe me what I tell you, for God's sake, for I never loved any other but you. Here is one of your dear loving pets, and take it and kiss it for me, now, dear pets, and take it and kiss it to he, how, day, affectionate wife. Why don't you come home, if you can, and take your dear little Simon in your arms and press him to your bosom, as you had so much love for me. Margaret, I must say that this will be the last that I ever will write to you, and another thing, if you would live with me I would never live with you, for

I am afraid of you.

After me writing to you and telling you that After me writing to you and telling you that I would live with you if you would promise me that you would do right by me. Well, by G-d, if I can't get along without you, I will kill myself for I will never bother you any more. I am'a going to get a bill from you, now, sure, but I did want to live with you, but dont now, and never will so long as I live, but I must say that I love you, but that don't amount to anything now, and I don't want it to amount to anything, but you shall have Simon's picture, sure. If you don't get it this winter you will never see him, for I am going Simon's picture, sure. If you don't get it this winter you will never see him, for I am going to take him with me and I would like to have his society. I am going so far that you will never see him. Simon is sick, now, Yours truly, for a gonner, PHILANDER PIERCE.

Horrible Affair in Missouri--Two Men Arrested for Murder

The St. Louis News has the following item: The most beastly murder we have been called upon to record, was committed near Chambers-burg, in this county, on the night of the 7th instant. The full particulars of the vile affair have not been developed; but so much of them as we have been able to gather are about as follows: Whiteford, the murdered man, owns a farm near Chambersburg-he lives in Canada-farm near Chambersburg—he lives in Canada—and is a man, we learn, of considerable property. He was out last fall to settle hie affairs here; and it is alleged by those birds now in custody on charge of the murder, that Whiteford stole a horse from one of the party on leaving for home in Canada, last fall. But this has not yet been substantiated, and it is thought that there is no ground on which it can be confirmed. Some little confusion was created about the alleged charge at the time, can be confirmed. Some little confusion was created about the alleged charge at the time, but soon died away. A few weeks ago, Whiteford again visited his farm. He was immediately taken in charge by the clique in question—without a warrant—to answer for horse-stealing. A warrant was finally issued, and one John Beard—the man from whom it is supposed the horse, was stolen—had himself appointed Deputy Constable, and took Whiteford in hand to await a trial on Monday following. pointed Deputy Constante, and took with the in hand to awaita trial or. Monday following. This was on Saturday, the 6th instant. It is reported that the man was hung and beaten in the most beastly manner on Saturday and beaten in the most beastly manner on Saturday night, for the purpose of making him acknowledge that he committed the offence with which he was charged. Finally, on Sunday night following he was brutally, murdered—apparently having been beaten to death with clubs. The next morning, when the citizens gathered in for the trial, it was announced, by those who had him in charge, that Whiteford had made good his escape: and that a number of the and nin in charge, that whitelook had made good his escape; and that a number of the party were in pursuit of him. The search was extended for a time with seeming indifference; and the confused statements of the affair directly created suspicion; and ten of the party were forthwith arrested and taken to Athens were forthwith arrested and taken to Athens and pur under guard for further inquiry. The people then instituted a search for Whiteford, who, they were almost assured, was murdered; and late last Monday, the body was found buried about two feet under ground, with some brush carelesly thrown over the place, near the residence of the same John Beard who had him in the page. On the recovery of the body the ten
