A Powerful Speech.

JAMES KERR.

JOHN GREER.

We print this afternoon, on the first page of the TELEGRAPH, an abstract of a speech delivered in Philadelphia by Hon. A. H. Reeder, for which we are indebted to the Daily News. We should have been pleased to print a fuller report of this eloquent effort, but the crowded condition of our columns, and the shortness of the time before the election, induces us to print only this abstract, so as to get it in time for our weekly edition. Even in ab stract form, our readers will be able to perform. If the labor of this Commonget a good idea of the style and manner of the Ex-Governor of Kansas. His bold and carnest discussion of the leading issues of the campaign had before made him hosts of friends and admirers throughout the State, and this last effort must certainly add to the number of his friends abiding faith in the triumph, through unwherever it is read.

The Approach.

Every day brings us nearer to the election, and as we approach the occasion the importance of the event is increased as the interests of the contest are augmented. Since the formation of the Falser Constitution, no other Presidential elect ion assumed so grave an aspect, because at no other period since the history of our government began, have more varied issues or more important principles been involved in any political contest. Now, if ever it can, it must be decided what is the governing influence in this nation. Now must be fixed a policy in the government which will be permanent. Now and the agitation of sectional questions tlement, or surely we must have a rupture, not so much of masses or of classes. as of the interests which involve our liver in a powerful union of powerful commonwcalths. The approach of such a he be a man appreciating his own interests and estimating properly the influence of his single vote, there can be no doubt of the character of his politics or devotion to Republican principles.

It has been asserted that the election o Abraham Lincoln would be the signal for a crusade on the institutions of the South We deny this assertion most emphatically We dony that there is a single aggressive tendency in either the platform or the never was a more conservative or national political organization than the Republican Union, and as long as freedom is recognized as an integral element of the government, or industry maintained as its true source of wealth, so long will the ot the census of 1850, 2,957,657 of the calculated to injure the humblest citizen were mulattoes. The mulattoes are more in this humblest rights. Admitting all than half the number of the free blacks. this to be true, and no sane man can doubt its truth, instead of any evil being pro now rules so arrogantly, in the event of success, would announce new rights ic the shape of increased wrongs, and assert a superiority over the labor that is free and independent, by practising an oppression which was the cause of our first revothe first Declaration described as being born free and equal, and recognizing in the decision of the people the expression rights. No greater calamity could possipeople. Defcat Abraham Lincoln, and the slave question will never be settledfree white labor will never be recognized as a power in the government worthy of being heard in its legislation-the industry and the genius of the North would be reduced to a servitude worse than that of the South, by being brought into contact and competition with slave labor on the one hand and foreign pauper labor on the other. Nor is this all that would be achieved by the defeat of Abraham Lincoln. Besides opening our ports to slavery, it would devote eternally to the uses of slavery every acre of our public domain ty and freedom.

-The contemplation of such a result renders the approach of the Presidential election in November decidedly important and impressive. It is too near longer to indulge in argument, and too important to neglect the simplest duty that would tend to the success of Lincoln and Hamlin. In the struggle for this success Pennsylvania has an important part to wealth is not active for its own protection and support, certainly the people of no other locality can have more reason to rouse them to its vindication. But we have faith in Pennsylvania. We have faith in Republican principles, and an ceasing vigilance and steady labor, of Lincoln and Hamlin in November next.

The Homestead Bill. Compare for a moment, the two Homestead Bills, offered last winter in Congress, the one by the Republicans, the other by the Democracy. The bill proposed by the Republicans, supported and carried through the House of Representatives, where they had the power, gave to every male citizen, or foreigner who had declared his intention to become a citizen, of the age of twenty-one years, the privilege of going on to the public domain and choosing for himself a quarter section of the public land, without money and without price. The Democratic bill, brought formation a Democratic Senate in the snows on the mountain melt under the influence of a vernal sun, disappear almost unobserved, and run off? No, sir! No, sir! I will not state what might produce the disruption of the Union; but, sir, I see as plainly as I see the New York Wire Railing Company, against Joseph W. Brock, of Scranton, Penna. The concurrent agreement of all the members of the New York Wire Railing Company, against Joseph W. Brock, of Scranton, Penna. The concurrent agreement of all the members of the New York Wire Railing Company, against Joseph W. Brock, of Scranton, Penna. The concurrent agreement of all the members of the New York Wire Railing Company, against Joseph W. Brock, of Scranton, Penna. The concurrent agreement of all the members of the Steamer Arabla.

Salling of the Steamer Arabla.

The royal mail steamship Arabia sailed for tatives, where they had the power, gave voice in its own free behalf in a government based on free principle white the organization of parties was and is tending, and the agitation of gratient of gratient and the agitation of gratient agreement of all the members of this great Republic to separate! A voluntary separation, with alimony on the one side and on the other! Why, what would be the result? Where is the line to be drawn? What States are to secede? What is to remain American? What am I to be? An American and the agitation of gratient agreement of all the members of this great Republic to separate! A voluntary separation, with alimony on the one side and on the other! Why, what would be the result? Where is the line to be drawn? What states are to secede? What is to remain American? What am I to be? An American and the agitation of gratient agreement of all the members of this great Republic to separate! A voluntary separation, with alimony on the one side and on the other! A voluntary separation, with alimony on the one side and on the other! Why, what would be the result? Where is the line to be drawn? What states are to secede? What is to remain American? The royal mail steamship Arabia sailed for Liverpool to-day, with 74 passengers, but with no specie list. States, take the same amount of land, by longer? Am I to become a sectional man, a longer? increasing daily, it is time to have a set-Neither a foreigner, even if he had declared his intention to become a citizen, nor an unmarried man, could have the ing, and the bonds which bind us togeth. advantage of the Democratic bill. If a poor man, he must wait till he had laid up twenty-five cents for every acre of the land he proposed to occupy, for the Democracy are not in the habit of trusting poor men, and waiting till they have had an opportunity to pay.

This was the kind of Homestead Bill press of the Republican party. However which the Democratic Senate substituted, tures of which we have above briefly quirer is egregiously mistaken in supposing sketched; and yet, in the face of these party of 1860. It is made thus national facts, these barefaced Democratic leaders, because it is founded on the very princil orators and editors, pretend that their ples on which rest the corners of this party is the friend of the foreign and until some act has been committed which is an workingman.

BLACKS AND MULATTOES.—According Republican party represent and advocate slaves of the United States were black, or a policy most productive of good and least of unmixed African descent, and 246,656 whilst the slave mulattoes are only about one-twelfth of the slave blacks. Whilst Secession.

We never had any faith in any of the declarations of southern men on the subject of secession. Their threats have always reminded us of the whinings of spoiled children on taking their first les- folk, viz: Would the election of Mr. Linlution, and which would be maintained son in the realities of out-door life. Acuntil a second treaty of peace could be customed to the control of the nursery, made, ensuring freedom to those whom when a boy first finds himself in the street, and is jostled by some new com- he says: "I love the Union, but the panion hurrying to play or to school, he feels as if his rights were invaded, and of their wants and the declaration of their becomes prolific in complaints and threats at home of what he will do, but never bly befall this country than the defeat of does, when he gets abroad. And thus it the Republican party at the present junc- is with the southern States. Accustomed ture. Defeat this organization and you to the control of the government, they open to agitation all the exciting issues begin to imagine that unless they supthat were ever discussed to perplex the ply every place with an occupant, the harmony and progress of the American Constitution was in danger and the Union was bound to be dissolved. But new Commonwealths, like the boy on his path to play or to school, have entered the lists, each anxious for excellence, and all striving for progress and improvement.-In this lively contest they must either participate or be left behind. They see that they must "roll up their sleeves" and go | geographical section of the country, has to work, for it is the struggle of manly his first affections, his supreme love, and labor emulous for a superiority in devel- what he has to spare of the article he oping the resources of the earth, and in gives to the Union. Yet the Douglas and maintaining the dignity of industry in Bell men of this State shake hands with every department of society. As the Mr. Breckinridge, all "to beat Mr. Lin-South is unequal just now, for such a coln," with whom the Union is a first and struggle and competition, they are bound engrossing love. O consistency ! that is yet in its virgin condition of puri. to complain and threaten the country with secession. As the views of Mr. WEBSTER on this subject cannot fail to command the attention of his countrymen, as long as we have a Constitution to defend and a Union to preserve, we cite from his celebrated speech delivered in the Senate of the United States, on the 7th of March, 1850, the subjoined weighty reflections and patriotic admonitions:

"Mr. President: I should much prefer to have heard from every member on this floor, declarations of opinion that this Union could never be dissolved, than the declaration of opinion by any body, that, in any case, under the pressure of any circumstances, such a dissolution was possible. I hear with distress and anguish the word 'secession,' especially when it falls from the lips of those who are patriotic, and known to the country and known all over the world for their political services. Secession! Peaceable secession! Sir, your eyes and mine are never destined to see that miracle The dismemberment of this vast country, without convulsion! The breaking up of the fountains of the great deep without ruffling the surface! Who is so foolish-I beg every body's pardon—as to expect to see any such thing?— Sir, he who sees these States, now revolving in harmony round a common centre, and expects to see them quit their places and fly off-without convulsion, may look the next hour to see the heavenly bodies rush from their spheres and jostle against each other in the wreck of the universe There can be no such thing as peaceable secession. Peaceable secession is an utter impossi-bility. Is the great Constitution under which we live—covering this whole country—is it to be thawed and melted away by secession, as the snows on the mountain melt under the in-here, or who fill the other House of Congress Heaven forbid! Where is the flag of the Republio to remain? Where is the eagle still to tow-er? Or is he to cower and shrink and fall to er? Or is he to cower and surink and iail to the ground? Why, sir, our ancestors, our fa-thers, and our grandfathers, those of them that are yet living amongst us with prolonged lives, would rebuke and reproach us; and our children and grandchildren would cry out shame upon us, if we of this generation should dishonor these ensigns of the power of the Government and the harmony of that Union which is every day felt among us with so much joy and gratitude."

Another view of secession is given by correspondent of the National Intelligencer, who writes as follows in regard to the position of Virginia on this subject:

"It is evident to my mind, from what I have seen and heard through western Virginia, that if John Letcher and the Richmond junta at tempt to drag Virginia into secession and defence of South Carolina if she secedes, Vir ginia will be two States before it is finished.— If eastern Virginia goes western Virginia will not; and if eastern Virginia alone goes, no weight will go with her. Virginia contributed more than any of the States to the formation much our enemies may seek to create the impression to the contrary, there yet Republican House Bill, the liberal feamajority of the people of Virginia will vote for sustaining South Carolina. Put it to the vote, and the people of Virginia will, by a majority of 50,000, go for sustaining the General Government and Lincoln and his Administration invasion of their rights.

With such a majority against the Richmond Enquirer and the would-be secessionists, we dare them to attempt to hitch Virginia to the Thus it will be seen that while a few of 'the bloods" are advocating secession, the sober second thought of the people is against such a movement, and that Virginia of all other States would labor most to prevent such a sad occurrence. it proves, too, that while Northern doughcase, and endless shame and misery and doubtless desolation would follow its over throw or defeat. The slave power that slaveholding States are mulattoes than blacks.

To which the attention of the Public, Committees of Libraries, Teachers, Country Merchants and purchasers generally, is invited.

As all have been purchased far below the regular prices, they can and will be sold at but a small advance on the cost, insuring to purchasers a saving of 10 to 25 throw or defeat.

The slave power that ries there are more mulattoes than blacks.

The Loves of the Fusionists.

Dr. Cohoon, the Mayor of Elizabeth City, North Carolina, recently wrote to Mr. Breckinridge, propounding to him the question put to Mr. Douglas at Norcoln be a sufficient cause for the dissolution of the Union? In reply he received a letter from Mr. Breckinridge, in which South better," and does not answer the question put to him, except by referring to his speeches, which are not explicit.

"How can two walk together except they be agreed?" The declaration of the Douglas men and of the Bell men is that they love the Union with a supreme affection—that before their ardent love for the Union the distinctions of East and West and North and South are entirely dissolved, each being regarded with an equal attachment, and the whole with an engrossing ardor. Mr. Breckinridge, on the other hand, reverses the order of the objects of his passionate devotion. He "loves the Union" a little, but but he "loves the South better." The South, a

THE LOUISVILLE Journal says that the wags have found out the way to settle the "irrepsessible conflict" without coming to blows. One asserts that the best way to "fire a Southern heart" is to make love to a Southern belle, and another says the "cotton region" may be "precipitated into a revolution" by marrying her. To which the National Intelligencer replies, that the foregoing theories read very well, but it would be impossible to reduce them to practice without a resort to arms.

THE Charleston Mercury says that "if Mr. Lincoln were to come out and declare that he held sacred every right of the South, with respect to African slavery, no one should believe him; and if he was believed, his professions should not have the least influence on the course of the South." That may fairly be called ob-
