YOUNG MEN.

Young men especially who have become the victims of solitary Vice, that dreadful and destructive habit which annually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of young men of the most exalted talent and brilliant intellect, who might otherwise have charmed listening Senates with the thunders of eloquence, or waked to ecstacy the living lyre, may call with full confidence.

MARRIAGE.

Married persons, or those contemplating marriage, being aware of physical weakness, should immediately consult Dr. J., and be restored to perfect health

DR. JOHNSTON

DR. JOHNSTON member of the Royal College of Surgeon London, graduate from one of the most eminent Colleges of the U. States, and the greator part of whose life has been spent in the Hospitals of London, Paris, Philadelphia and elsewhere, has effected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known. Many troubled with ringing in the ears and head when asleep, great nervousness, being alarmed at sudden sounds, bashfulness, with frequent blushing, attended sometimes with derangement of mind were cured immediately

TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE

Dr. J. addresses all those who having injured themselves by private and improper indulgences, that secret and solitary habit which ruins both body and mind, unfitting them for either business or society.

These are some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, viz: Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Pains in the Head, Dimness of Sight, Loss of Muscular Power, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsia, Nervous Irritability, Derangement of the Digestive Functions General Debility, Symptoms of Consumption, &c.

MENTALLY.

Mentally, the fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded;—Loss of Memory, Confusion of Ideas, Depression of Spirits, Evil Forebodings, Aversion to Society, Self-distrust, Love of Solitude, Timidity, &c., are some of the evil effects.

Thousands of persons of all ages, can now judge what is the cause of their declining health, losing their vigor, become weak, pale, nervous and emaciated, have a singular appearance about the eyes, cough, and symptoms of consumption.

who have injured themselves by a certain practice, indulged in when alone—a habit frequently learned from evil companions, or at school, the effects of which are nightly felt, even when asleep, and if not cured, renders marriage impossible, and destroys both mind and body should apply immediately.

What a pity that a young man, the hope of his country, the darling of his parents, should be snatched from all prospects and enjoyments of life by the consequences of deviating from the path of nature, and indulging in a certain secret habit. Such persons must, before contemplating reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to promote connubial happiness. Indeed without these, the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage; the prospect hourly darkens to the view; the mind becomes shadowed with despair, and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happiness of another becomes blighted with our own.

DR. JOHNSTON'S INVIGORATING REMEDY FOR ORGANIC WEAKNESS

By this great and important remedy, Weakness of the Organs are speedily cured, and full vigor restored.

Thousands of the most nervous and debilitated who had lost all hope, have been immediately relieved. All Impediments to marriage, Physical or Mental Disqualification Nervous trembling, Weakness or Exhaustion of the most fearful kind, speedily cured.

TO STRANGERS

The many thousands cured at this Institution within the last twelve years, and the numerous important Surgical Operations performed by Dr. J., witnessed by the reporters of the papers, and many other persons, notices of which have appeared again and again before the public, besides his standing as a gentleman of character and responsibility, is a sufficient guarantee to the afflicted.

DISEASE OF IMPRUDENCE.—When the misguided and imprudent votary of pleasure, finds he has imbibed the seeds of this painful disease, it too often happens that an ill-timed sense of shame or dread of discovery deters him from applying to those who, from education and respectability can alone befriend him, delaying till the constitutional symptoms of this horrid disease make their appearance, affecting the head, throat, nose, skin, &c., progressing on with frightful rapidity, till death puts a period to his dreadful sufferings by sending him to "that bourne from whence no traveller returns." It is a melancholy fact that thousands fall victims to this terrible disease, owing to the unskillfulness of ignorant pretenders, who, by the use of that deadly poison, mercury ruin the constitution and make the residue of life miserable

PENNSYLVANIA SS.

L. S. In the name and by the authority of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, WILLIAM F. PACKER, Governor of the said Commonwealth.

PROCLAMATION.

FELLOW CITIZENS:—The revolutions of the year have again brought us to our annual festival of Thanksgiving to Almighty God. In no preceding year have we had more abundant cause for gratitude and praise. The revolving seasons have brought with them health and plenty. The summer fruits and the autumn harvests have been gathered and garnered in unwonted exhuberance. A healthful activity has pervaded all the departments of life, and provident industry has met with a generous reward. The increase of material wealth has been liberally employed in sustaining our Educational and Religious Institutions; and both are making the most gratifying progress in enlightening and purifying the public mind.—While, in Europe, central and absolute governments, by their pressure on personal rights and liberty, are producing excitements which threaten to upheave the very foundations of society, and have led, in some instances, to bloody and cruel wars, we, in the enjoyment of constitutional liberty, and under the protection of just and equal laws, are peacefully pursuing the avocations of life, and engaging in whatever promises to advance our social and individual improvement and happiness. "The lines are," indeed, "fallen to us in pleasant places, and we have a goodly heritage." In all this we see the orderings of a kind and merciful Providence, which call not only for our recognition, but for our public Thanksgiving and Praise.

Under this conviction, I, WILLIAM F. PACKER, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, do hereby appoint THURSDAY, THE TWENTY-NINTH DAY OF NOVEMBER NEXT, to be observed as a day of public Thanksgiving and Prayer, and recommend to all our people, that setting aside, on that day, all worldly pursuits, they assemble in their respective places of worship, and, unite in offering Thanks to God for his manifold goodness, and imploring his forgiveness, and the continuance of his mercies.

Given under my Hand and the Great Seal of the State, at Harrisburg, this Twenty-fourth day of October, in the year of our Lord, One Thousand Eight Hundred and Sixty, and of the Commonwealth the Eighty-fifth.

WM. F. PACKER.

By the Governor,
WM. M. HIESTER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Real Cause for Alarm.

In no other country in the world has the exhaustion of the soil been so rapid and so marked as in the United States. The exhaustion prevails alike in the Northern, the Middle, and the Southern States. Some of the richest soil in the world has been already, in a hand's breadth of time, as it were, rendered unproductive. The evil is a national one, and stalks over the country like a dark spectre, casting his shadows far and wide. The approach of the evil, though comparatively so rapid, has been nevertheless so stealthy and insidious that multitude are not aware of it, and many who know it do not fully realize it. If Humboldt thought it his duty to lift up his warning voice to England, and to point out to her the inevitable consequences of the exhaustion of her soil, when more is done probably to replenish any one of the States of this Union, what would he have said of the exaustion of the soil in a country from which the woods have scarcely yet been cleared away, if he had known to what an extent the depleting process had already been carried? And in view of the general apathy which our people manifest upon the subject, what would have been his alarm at a state of facts unprecedented in the history of any other nation? We are robbing the soil of its very elements of vitality. We are pursuing a course of drastic, almost barbarous depletion. Millions of acres, but yesterday rich, are to-day sterile and bleak, desolation reigns over them. And the process of ruin goes steadily on unabated, never eliciting a thought from the many, never met by a protest from any large-hearted sympathizer with nature, or political economist, who must see in it the certain presage of evils neither few nor small. No warning voice is uplifted against the impoverishing, cruel system. The slumber is profound, and almost universal, and as extraordinary as profound. It is the sure index of national decay. Unless arrested the evil will prove the certain harbinger of national weakness, poverty, and want. From the soil comes our national and individual wealth. Destroy its vitality, or its general productiveness, and a blight as if a plague had passed over the land will rest upon it. Better—a thousand times better—sink every mine it contains in the depts of the ocean than destroy the elements of life in the bosom of our mother earth.—Better that our ships should rot at their warves, and the music of every mill in the country should cease, than to permit the soil of our fields to become sterile. Then indeed would the land mourn, and the people would mourn with it.

In New England the product of wheat fell off in 10 years from 1840 fifty per cent, from two million bushels to one million, and the decline has been going on since. It may perhaps be said that the soil being naturally barren in New England, the people have taken to manufacturing from preference, as more profitable. But in Georgia and the comparatively new States of Kentucky, Tennessee, and Alabama, much of whose soil is naturally rich, the falling off in the production of wheat in the time mentioned has been still more striking. The yield fell off from twelve million bushels to five in a single decade. The decrese in the great wheat-producing State of New York has been equally great. In 1845 the crop was more than thirteen million bushels, while last year it has dwindled down to six. Nothing but the exfraordinary growth of the great Northwest has kept the price of flour from doubling. But the great Northwest is undergoing precisely the same process of depletion, and will at no distant period exhibit the same result of diminished crops. It takes but a comparatively short time to draw the elements of vitality from the soil, upon the present principle of cultivating it, and when this is done, the farmer moves to a still newer "country," and subjects his fields to the same plundering system. That system is a fiery scourge, and it leaves behind it only dreary and bleak desolation; dilapidated fences and walls, forsaken hovels and smoking ruins, the mournful mementoes of the ignorance, indifference, and short-sighted, murderous policy by which such results were brought about. These will constitute, largely, the inheritance of the coming generation.

We have instanced only a single item to show the exhausting nature of the present system of agriculture. We might, were it necessary, instance other crops as illustrations of the same truth. The diminution is not referable to a reduced quantity of land sown, but to a reduction of yield per acre. But for the quantity of new lands every year brought under cultivation, this decline of agricultural products would be exhibited in a more startling light.—How many "old fields" are there even in Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama, where cotton once grew, but which will not now pay for cultivation.

Probably this evil is growing more steadily and rapidly and generally in the South than in any other part of the country. We think so because there is actually no attention paid to the replenishing of the soil, as compensation paid for what is taken from it in any part of the South. There may be exceptionable cases where this is done, but they are too few and unimportant to be taken into account when speaking of general results. This ought not so to be. It is a potent cause of weakness. It is dangerous. It is springing a mine beneath our prosperity, and doing it so secretly and noiselessly that we seem not to be aware of what is going on. Let us not be called false alarmists. Let the facts of the next census speak, as speak they will, and trumpet tongued, to us The South is now relatively decaying; and it is to this exhaustive system of agricultural sterility, to this absence of artificial compensation and internal regeneration and improvements, to the direction of the public attention away from these really momentous questions of home policy, and towards political abstractions, and to these only, that we must look for the true reasons of our comparative decline. Let the Southern people look these truths in the face, and act in the full view and force of them, as becomes them, or they may expect ere long, not only to be distanced in the road to wealth and grandeur, but to sink down into utter insignificance and abject poverty. We repeat that we are no false alarmists; but the hand is writing unmistakably upon the wall, as the figures it is making conclusively show, and he is as blind as a bat who cannot see it. The impending dilapidation may be averted, and ought to be. But it cannot be, without a united and vigorous and prolonged effort, and unless we turn our attention from the exclusive consideration of politics. The Southern people will never apply themselves energetically to remedial measures till the latter are generally and fully considered, and their necessities perceived; and this is impossible so long as mere political abstractions fill completely the public vision.
