

der for me!" This "rabble" consisted of a regiment of the line, a squadron of cavalry, a company of chasseurs, and a company of artillery. The Hungarians without waiting to count the numbers of the adversary, rushed forward and charged with the bayonet. After a contest of twenty minutes, the battery was taken, and once more it poured its storm of grape on the Neapolitan troops, who fled in confusion across the fields. The Hungarians in this encounter, had thirty men put hors de combat, the Neapolitans about two hundred. Garibaldi did not wait to dress his wound, but hurried elsewhere. The day, however, was now won.

Daily Telegraph.

HARRISBURG, PA. Monday Afternoon, November 12, 1860.

Position of the New President. The following extract from a speech made by ABRAHAM LINCOLN at Leavenworth, Kansas, during the contest for Speaker of the House of Representatives, last winter, fore shadows his course towards Disunionists and Traitors. It clearly indicates that while he will administer the Government fairly and honestly, and deal out even-handed justice to all sections, he will not hesitate to visit TREASON with merited punishment, no matter where he may find it. We doubt not that this will be his course. He will extend no sort of countenance to TRAITORS, but HANG THEM UP, and thus furnish an example that others similarly inclined may profit by. Thus will Disunionism be crushed out, and the institutions which our Revolutionary fathers reared be restored to their original strength and purity. But to the extract referred to:

"Our Democrats greatly fear that the success of the Republicans will destroy the Union. Nothing like it. Your own statement of it, that if the Black Republicans elect a President, you won't stand it! You will break up the Union. That will be your act, not ours. To justify it, you must show that our policy gives you just cause for such desperate action. Can you do that? When you attempt it you will find our policy is exactly the policy of the men who made the Union, nothing more nor nothing less. Do you think you are justified to break up the Government rather than to have it administered by Washington, and other good and great men who made it, and who first administered it? If you do, you are very unreasonable."

NEW YORK. able, and more reasonable men cannot and will not submit to you. While we elect a President, it will be our duty to see that you submit. Old John Brown has been hung for treason against a State. We cannot object, even though slavery is wrong. That cannot excuse violence, bloodshed and treason. It could avert him nothing that he might think himself right. So, if constitutionally we elect a President, and therefore you undertake to destroy the Union, it will be our duty to deal with you as old John Brown has been dealt with. We can only do our duty. We hope and believe that in no section will a majority see fit to render assistance."

The Oregon Republican Senator. When the election of Col. Baker as United States Senator from Oregon was announced, it was said that he was a non-interventionist on the slavery question, and in that respect differed from the great body of the Republican party. This report is denied by a western Republican journal, which states that Col. Baker has for several years been a warm hearted Republican, and during the late campaign delivered some of the ablest Republican speeches in behalf of his old friend Abraham Lincoln, that have been heard anywhere; and his name has been mentioned as one of the probable members of the new President's cabinet, more than once. Col. Baker will not be subservient to any pro-slavery doctrines, and believes to the fullest extent that our territories are the heritage of white men in preference to negroes. If he is not "acceptable" to the party, the Democrats will find, when he takes his seat in the Senate, that he will be anything but acceptable to such demagogues as Douglas and Pugh. As Col. Baker was elected to fill a vacancy, he will occupy a seat immediately on the assembling of Congress.

A DOUGLAS PROPHECY FULFILLED. A correspondent of the Albany Journal states that a few evenings since, in company with one of Albany's most eloquent and reputable clergymen, and several other gentlemen, the reverend gentleman said that in the year 1858, in New York, in conversation with the Hon. S. A. Douglas, Mr. Douglas remarked that he knew a man named Abraham Lincoln, who should be ever be nominated for the Presidency, "would go to the White House with flying colors;" and he further added: "I recognise in him all the great qualities that distinguish the upright and honest statesman, and he is a man of uncompromising firmness and great decision of character, inasmuch that his political opponents, with all their spirit of party molevolence, cannot find anything to condemn in him. Such a man, sir, is Abraham Lincoln, of Illinois." Mr. Douglas' prophecy has been fulfilled.

CARRIED THEM ALL.—Lincoln carried his own ward, city, county and State.—He also carried Douglas' ward, city, county and State.

Let Them Slide. The secession demonstrations of the chivalry in the cotton States are rather amusing than otherwise. They certainly do not alarm the people of the North. We have only to say that if South Carolina, Georgia or Alabama, or all of them, desire to withdraw from the Union, "let them slide"—the sooner the better. In the language of a sensible Kentucky editor, "let them form a Republic or Empire, or anything else they may fancy. Let them enclose themselves within a Chinese wall, if they want to, and here is one who will contribute his mite towards furnishing the requisite rocks. Let them do it as they please, and when they please, with one solitary condition, viz: that their separation shall be final. Their absence would be an incalculable and invaluable relief to the balance of the people of these United States. We should escape large quantities of quadrennial gas and noise and confusion and stuff. At every Presidential election, these political filibusters remind us of the poor Frenchman who locked himself in a room with a rich debtor, and threatened to blow his own brains out and charge the rich one with the murder, unless the latter gave him then and there five hundred dollars. Every four years these Southern Quixotes swell up with bad whisky and worse logic, and tell the balance of the people if they don't do so and so, that they—the Quixotes—will secede. Let them secede and be—blessed. We are tired of their gasconade, their terrific threats, and of their bloody prophecies. They were never calculated for any higher destiny than that of frightening old women and young children. They have been revived and repeated until—to use an expressive vulgarism—they are played out. Their bombast is absolutely sickening."

THE SECESSION MOVEMENT.—The excitement in the South still continues, and the Legislature of South Carolina has passed a resolution calling a convention of the SECESSION MOVEMENT. The excitement in the South still continues, and the Legislature of South Carolina has passed a resolution calling a convention of the SECESSION MOVEMENT. The excitement in the South still continues, and the Legislature of South Carolina has passed a resolution calling a convention of the SECESSION MOVEMENT.

DOWN SOUTH.—The result in the Southern States, so far as heard from, justifies the conclusion that Breckinridge has by far the largest portion of the Southern electoral vote. It was on this supposition that thousands have voted for Lincoln. The end justifies them. Had the darling project of carrying the election into the House succeeded, no choice would have followed, and the election going to the Senate, Mr. Jo Lane would have been our next President. It is something to have escaped that disgrace and danger.

THE SOUTHERN CITIES.—Nearly every large city in the slaveholding States, save Baltimore, which is as erratic now as it was in 1856, have passed the most complete vote of censure upon John C. Breckinridge. He is beaten by both Douglas and Bell in St. Louis, New Orleans, Louisville and Covington, Ky., Mobile, Ala., and Memphis, Tenn., and is defeated in Richmond, Va., by Bell, and run closely by Douglas. All these large emporiums of Southern commerce are most emphatically for the Union.

MORMON WIVES.—A "FAIR SHAKE" DEMANDED.—Brother Kimball, in one of his famous Mormon sermons, served the following timely notice on a number of missionaries who were about starting out on a proselyting tour: Brethren, I want you to understand that it is not to be as it has been heretofore. The brother or missionaries have been in the habit of picking out the prettiest women for themselves before they get here, and bringing on the ugliest ones for us; hereafter you have to bring them all here before taking any of them, and let us all have a fair shake.

WORSE AND WORSE.—Gov. Magoffin, of Kentucky, has designated the 29th as Thanksgiving Day in that State. As this is the day that Massachusetts celebrates, it is strange that Kentucky should join. But "ye Democratic" has come down wonderfully since Lincoln's election began to be conceded.

GEN. SCOTT.—General Scott is the largest man in the American service. He is six feet six inches tall, and weighs two hundred and sixty pounds. He is seventy-four years old, yet his health is good and his whole system apparently vigorous, much of which is doubtless owing to his temperate habits.

The Restoration of Tranquility Essential to Trade and Industry.

Undoubtedly the mercantile and industrial interests of the country have suffered from the agitation incidental to the Presidential campaign. The secessionist anti-Republican faction stopped at nothing calculated to prevent the election of Lincoln. They did all they could to produce a monetary panic; and although the result in this respect fell far short of their designs, they nevertheless succeeded in inflicting no inconsiderable amount of damage on the great business interests. The dullness of trade, and the pressure in the money market, involving the suspension of several houses, is wholly attributable to their desperate electioneering schemes; and if there be one man in the nation pre-eminently guilty, it is Mr. Buchanan's Secretary of the Treasury, Howell Cobb. It is certainly a humiliating spectacle to see the Federal Government, the chief officer of it, leagued with a faction which has for its end and aim the destruction of that government; and it seems to us the wish that must now be uppermost in every loyal heart is for the day that shall witness the expulsion of the wolves from the fold—the Buchanan camarilla from the executive departments in Washington. Now that final judgment has been rendered by the national sovereignty on the claims of the several presidential candidates, there can be no excuse, in any quarter, for prolonging excitement. Millions of dollars have been sacrificed by the threat of disunion—betting, as it certainly did, a vague apprehension of coming disaster.

The great commercial emporiums have suffered most severely from the machinations of the anti-Republican politicians. Repose is therefore needed—absolutely needed now. The summer and fall have been devoted to politics; it is but fair that trade should be permitted, henceforth, to carry on its operations, unmolested. The stage so long occupied by the political drama, and the actors in it, should be left clear for the industrial activities of the people. No panic can reverse the result of the election. What is done cannot be undone, and therefore nothing but the inspiration of pure malice can call for the continuance of an agitation which is equivalent to a crusade against the general welfare, in all the material relations of society. Let the Douglas man lay aside his bludgeon or his broom, and the Wide-Awake the torch that lighted the path of Republicanism to victory. Where Breckinridge mounts men have mounted the blue cockade, let them place themselves as quick as possible at the fantail of the gear, and let all parties mutually respect one another's feelings. Next to the grand fact that Republicanism is the faith of the American people, and that it will shape the policy of the government henceforth, stands the fact that the South, as a whole, is opposed to disunion.—The united popular vote of Douglas and Bell in the slave States, will exceed the Breckinridge vote in all the States. Admitting, for the sake of argument, that the Union is composed of two nations, disunion simply means the destruction of the unity and power of one of them—the disorganization and emasculation of the South. Surely, Southern men who are loyal to the Union, (to use their own phraseology) will recognize the duty of accepting the verdict of the people, and that the Union is a sacred thing, and that the Union is a sacred thing, and that the Union is a sacred thing.

Special Meeting of the Cabinet. WASHINGTON, Nov. 12. On the arrival of the news of the resignation of Senators Toombs and Chesnut, great consternation fell upon the Administration, and a special meeting of the Cabinet was immediately convened, which remained in session until a late hour on Saturday night.

The example of Senators Toombs and Chesnut resigning their seats in the Senate, will probably be followed by Mr. Iverson, of Georgia, Brown, of Mississippi, Shidell, of Louisiana; Johnson, of Arkansas, Clay, of Alabama, and Nicholson, of Tennessee. This will give the President elect, upon his inauguration, a clean majority in the Senate to confirm all his appointments.

The Union Men of the South. WASHINGTON, Nov. 12. The Union men of the South are delighted at the prospect of the resignation of the Disunion Senators, inasmuch that they will now proceed to organize a great Union party, and sweep the South—filling the vacated seats with firm friends of the Constitution and the laws—John Forsyth of Alabama, James Gardner of Georgia, Col. Perry, of South Carolina, Col. Wm. H. Polk of Tennessee, Miles Taylor of Louisiana—all Douglas Democrats—are named in connection with the probable election of Union Senators, in the place of those who have resigned or may resign.

Mr. Breckinridge Against Secession. CINCINNATI, Nov. 12th. This morning's Commercial says that Mr. Breckinridge has determined to make a trip to the cotton States, and address his fellow-citizens urging them to abide in the Union.

Should Austria be attacked by Sardinia and the latter supported by another great power, what would be your attitude in the event of another war, and its being transferred to German territory?

SPAIN.—Marshall O'Donnell, in the Spanish Cortez, reiterated that Spain had resolved to remain neutral in affairs in Italy. He also protested against the doubts expressed of the loyalty of Napoleon towards the Spanish government.
