other great men are fighting, toiling, and dying for freedom, we shrink back, trembling and abashed, when the name of slave ry is only mentioned. [Long and vehement applause.]

Hereafter freedom was to be the rule and slavery the exception. [Applause.]—But beyond the bonds prescribed by the Constitution we will not go. Col. Baker then gave an impassioned piece of eloquence, in which he traced the history of description of its present triumphant position. It was received with immense ap-plause. He spoke of the position of the party of freedom in California, of his late defeat, to his own eulogy over the body of the slaughtered Broderick. He spoke of Broderick, of his deeds and death, and promised to speak of him in another arena, (unbounded applause,) as sleeping among the people who are not forgetful of the man ner of his life and the manner of his death. His peroration was a beautiful, simple, and yet elequent effort. He thanked the people for their kindness, and bade them an affectionate farewell.

There were loud cries for Fremont, but as it was ascertained that that gentleman was not present, "Uncle Abe's Choir" sang the Anvil Chorus, when the meeting adjourned. The people were upwards of half an hour moving out of the theatre, and none but pondered deeply upon the great truths which had been uttered before them. Col. Baker has never spoken with greater effect than on this occasion. He spoke with unusually rapidity, with a loud and remarkably clear voice. He was repeatedly interrupted by loud and prolonged applause, such as is only accorded to the great orator speaking evident truths. Perhaps Col. Baker has never more emphatically exemplified the type of the great public speaker of the old school than last night .-Every sentence was a text for a speech. -Not a word could be passed over without injury to the careless listener. HARRISBURG, PA.

Friday Atternoon, November 30, 1860.

The United States Senate. The St. Louis Democrat, in an article speculating on the future political complexion of the United States Senate, says, the defeat of Gwin in California will probably secure the election of some gentleman less rabid upon the slavery question than Gwin himself. Probably a moderate man, holding the views of Nesmith, of Oregon, or closely assimilating in sentiment with the late Senator Broderick, will be chosen, and whomsoever the choice may fall upon, he is bound to respect the heavy popular vote in California for Lincoln. This election, with the resignation of the two South Carolina Senators, and the adjournment of the Legislature of that State without electing their successors, almost gives the Republicans the Senate. That body will stand, on the inauguration of Mr. Lincoln, Republicans, 28; Breckinridge Democrats, 31; doubtful, 4;—(Douglas, of Illinois; Nesmith, of Oregon; the new Senator from California, and Kennedy, of Maryland.) Vacancies, 2, (South Carolina.) The Senate will then be composed Parson Brownlow on Mr. Lincoln. concede the State to Lincoln. of 64 members, provided Chesnut and Hammond stay out, and Missouri and Georgia elect, as there seems to be no doubt about any of the other States which cans. Of Mr. Lincoln, he says:are to elect this winter. Georgia is as liable to follow South Carolina as she is to elect a successor to Iverson, and if the State does not attempt secession there will be a fierce contest for Iverson's place between the present occupant and Secretary Cobb. Perhaps, if Senator Toombs does not withdraw his resignation, the successorship to both places may be divided, be given that pledge the day his election was announced, the entire South would have been and one given to Cobb and the other to united in carrying out a most thorough and determined revolution, and thousands of true men at the North would have joined us! But the States wherein an election is doubtful. now that Lincoln is elected, will be execute the The condition of parties in the Legisla-ture renders it impossible to say what may be the result. But if Missouri and Georgia elect, and Toombs stays in, the Senate will only lack the two South Carolina members, who cannot now be elected without an extra session of the Legislature for the Union necessary on the part of the South, that purpose. Of the doubtful members, and thereby involving the North in alarming troubles and certain ruin. The Constitution Nesmith and the new Senator from California, may be counted upon to support the appropriations and appointments of the administration almost every time.—

But let Douglas enter upon a factious opposition to the reasonable measures and Cabinet appointments proposed by the utter groundlessness of the pretended fears of President, and his enemies in Illinois increase four-fold. Thomson, of New Jersey, will scarcely dare to face his sistance to the appoiniments of the Presi- adopted: dent; and if he does not vote outright to confirm them, it is unlikely he will do as freedom to the present day, ending with a Douglas did when the Fugitive Slave law was being voted upon, viz-dodge! With Hannibal Hamlin in the chair as Vice President, to decide all tie votes in favor of the Republicans, the chance is that Mr. Lincoln will have an easy time of it getting his principal appointments through. With twenty-eight out of sixty-four to start, and a broken opposition and the presiding officer, the next Senate may as well be put down Republican already, if DAILY TELEGRAPH South Carolina should remain unrepresented. Times change. Political revolutions never have presented a more remarkable change than the complexion of the next United States Senate, compared with those of former days.

More Wrongs of the South.

During the last nineteen years, from 1841 to 1859, inclusive, the fifteen slave States have cost the Post Office Depart. ment $50,544,416 13, and they have contributed to its support only $27,549,-620 68, while fifteen free States have cost satisfied declaring it to be a Democratic fraud it $60,891,293 34, and they have contributed to its support $68,648,519 70 that is, the slave States have cost the Government $22,994,795 for mail facilities more than they have paid, and the same number of free States have contributed $7,757,218 more than they have cost, being the round sum of $30,000,000 and an amendment which was offered, to ex against the former! The expenses of tend the provisions of the bill against every South Carolina alone to the Department in 1858, beyond the amount she paid, were $211,531 98. Is not this a great wrong to the South?

There is still another striking instance of the grievous wrong the South has suffered at the hands of the free States, and one which the doughface press will find a powerful argument to support them in their war against the North. We refer to the vast sums the Government has paid for the purchase of territory mainly converted into slave States, and in the prosecution of the Florida and Mexican wars, both of which were for the benefit of sla-

The majority for Breckinridge in Josephine county will be increased 15 or 20. Lincoln has about 60 majority in Umpqua county, which is not enumerated in the above figures. Cass, Curry and Ullamock counties are yet to be heard from, and will increase Lincoln's majority.

The people of California are waiting with deep auxiety the Eastern news showing the disposi tion of the Southern States, on the dissolution question.

After hearing of Lincoln's election, all political animosities greatly moderated, the Republicans as well as Democrats seeming to be fear-ful of serious trouble from the present political condition of the country.

Four of the passengers and the conductor were drowned. The announcement of the carastrophe cause
