DR. JOHNSON OCK HOSPITAL. Bread, Tea-Cakes, all kinds of Pastry, &c.

AS discovered the most certain, speedy Proprietors of Shawmut Chemical Works.

No. 33 INDIA STREET, Boston.

CONCENTRATED LEAVEN is the resource of the control of the chemical research. All its ingredicuts are prepared in the highest state of purity, and compounded with a view to produce bread of a far better quality, and in much less time, than by any other process; and by the manufacturers submit it, with entire confidence, to the judgment of discriminating house-keepers, bakers, &c.

Bread of all kinds made by using Concentrated Leaven is lighter, more digestible and nuitritious; has an agreea, ble, natural taste; is less liable to sour; will retain its moisture longer than by any other process, and the whole preparation for the oven need not exceed ten minutes. DISEASES OF IMPRUDENCE.

RELIEF IN SIX TO TWELVE HOURS. No Mercury or Noxious Drugs.

No Mercary or Noxious Drugs.

BY A CURE WARRANTED, OR NO CHARGE, IN FROM ONE TO TWO DAYS. TO TWO DAYS.

Weakness of the Back or Limbs, Strictures, Pains in the Loins, Affections of the Kidneys and Bladder, Organic Weakness, Nervous Debility, Decay of the Physical Powers, Dyspepsia, Langnor, Low Spirits, Confusion of Ideas, Palpitation of the Heart, Timidity, Tremblings, Binness of Sight or Giddiness, Disease of the Stomach, Affections of the Head, Thro.t, Nose or Skin—those terrible disorders arising from the indiscretion or Solitary Habiss of Youth—those droadful and destructive practises which produce constitutional deblity, render marriage impossible, and destroy both body and mind.

YOUNG MEN. YOUNG MEN.

Young men especially who have become the victims of solitary Vice, that dreadful and destructive habit which annually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of young men of the most exalted talent and brilliant intellect, who might otherwise have entranced listening Senates with the thunders of eloquence, or waked to ectasy the living lyre, may call with full confidence.

whole preparation for the oven need not exceed ten minutes.

It is valuable because it is not perishable, and may be rendered available in places and at times when yeast is not within reach, as at sea. In all climates and under all circumstances, it may be adopted, thus obviating all difficulty of precuring yeast or other ferms, which is frequently of an inferior quality, ret dering the bread more or less unwholesome.

It is also valuable as regards economy, as it has been ascertained that a saying is effected in the flour of not less than 16 per cent. In the common proceess much of the saccharine of the flour is lest by being converted into carbonic acid gas, or spirit, and the waste is incurred solely for the purpose of genorating gas to raise the dough. By using Concentrated Leaven this waste is avoided, and the gas obtained in a manner equally efficacious. Fermentation, as has been stated, destroys a part of the flour or meal, and, in consequence, a barrel of flour weighing 196 bs, which, by the common method, ordinarly makes about 250 bs of bread, gives by this process 290 bs, thus effecting the very important saving of 16 per cent. in the quantity of flour. By conformity to the directions on each package, any person capable of ordinary attention may conduct the process, and the result will invariably be highly satisfactory.

Assayer to the State of Massachusetts.

"I have analysed the Concentrated Leaven, manufactured by Messes. Edw. Chamberlin & Co., with reference to its purity and efficiency of action in producing the effect of yeast in distending dough, and thereby rendering it fit for making bread. This article is skillfully compounded, from perfectly pure material. It raises the dough without consuming the sugar or any other principle in the flour, perfectly; and the same weight of flour will produce more sweet, palatable bread than can be obtained through yeast; while for cakes and pastry it is invaluable, as it saves all risk, and much time of the pastry cook. reply. DISEASES OF IMPRUDENCE—When the misguided and imprudent votary of pleasure finds he has imbibed the seeds of this painful disease, it too often happens that an ill-timed sense of shame or dread of discovery deters him from applying to those who, from education and respectability can alone befriend him, delaying till the constitutional symptoms of this horrid disease make their appearance, affecting the head, throat, nose, skin, &c., progressing on with frightful rapidity, till death puts a period to his dreadful sufferings by sending him to "that bourne from whence no traveler returns." It is a melinchyl fact that thousands fall victims to this terrible disease, owing to the unskilfulness of ignorant protenders, who, by the use of that deadly poison, mercury, ruin the constitution and make the residue of life miserable.

Wonders of Natural History.

[The following curious and beautiful account of the conders of Natural History is taken from St. Pierre, the AT THE NEW CITY STORE! author of "Paul and Virginia." If the same things were told in fable we should be inclined to look upon the auther as a man of marvelous fancy:]

One day in summer, while I was busy in put-ting in order some observations which I had made upon the harmonies of this globe, I permade upon the narmonies of this gleoc, I per-ceived upon a strawberry plant, which had been accidentally placed in my window, some small flies, which were so exceedingly beauti-ful that I took a fancy to describe them. Next day I saw a different sort upon the plant; and these, too, I described. In the course of three weeks, proceeding in this manner, I wrote descriptions of thirty-seven different species of insects which resorted to my strawberry plant. At length they came in such crowds, and pre-sented such a variety, that I was obliged to relinquish this study, though very much amus-ing, because I had neither leisure, nor, to con-fess the truth, expression.

The insects which I observed were all distinguished from each other by their colors, their forms, and their motions. There were some hat shone like gold; others were of the color of silver, and others of brass; some were spot ted, some striped, blue, green, brown, chestaut-colored. The heads of some were rounded like a turban; those of others were drawn out in the figure of a cone; some were dark, like a tuft of black velvet; others sparkled like a ruby.— There was not less diversity in their wings.—
In some they were long and brilliant, like transparent plates of mother-of-pearl; in others, short and broad, resembling the net-work of the finest gauze. Each and a particular main RICH PLAIN AND FIGURED BLACK SILKS, ALL WIDTHS. ner of disposing and managing his wings.—

Some settled upon the plant merely to deposit their eggs; others, to shelter themselves, from the sun. But the greater part came for reasons with which I am totally unacquainted; for some came and went in incessant motion; others remained a considerable time, removing others remained a considerable time, removing only parts of their bodies. A great number were entirely motionless, and were occupied; perhaps, like myself, in making observations. I paid no attention to many tribes that were attracted by my strawberry, because they were sufficiently well known—such as the saail, which nestles under the leaves; the butterfly, which hovers round; the beeile, which digs at the root; the small worm, which finds the means of life in the leaves; the wasp and the bee, which hum around the blossoms; the gnat, which sucks the juice of the stem; the ant, Just received and receiving members.

Upon examining the leaves of this plant with a magnifying glass, which magnified only a trifling degree, I found them divided into compartments, surrounded by canals, and strewn with glands. These compartments appeared to me like large verdant inclosures, their bristles like vegetables of a particular order, of which some were upright, some inclined, some for-ked, and some hollowed into tubes, from the extremity of which a liquid is distilled; and their canals, as well as their glands, seemed full of a brilliant fluid. In plants of a different species these bristles and their glands exhibit forms, colors, and fluids, totally different.—There are even glands which resemble basins— FOR THE LADIES. round, square, or radiated.

It is credible, then, from analogy; that there are animals feeding upon the leaves of plants, like cattle upon our meadows, which repose under the shade of those bristles or bushes, im-Slightly damaged with water—Price 50 and 75 cts.— GREAT BARGAINS. Every part of the flower must exhibit to them spectacles of which we can have no idea. The yellow antheral of flowers suspended by fillets of white exhibit to their eyes double rafters of gold, balanced upon pillars fairer than ivory; the corolla must seem to them an arch of un-bounded magnitude, decorated with the ruby and the topaz; the nectarium, rivers of sugar; the other parts of the flower must show cups, urns, pavilions, domes, which neither the architect nor the goldsmith has yet learned to THE WHEELER & WILSON Manufacturing Company. having gained All their suits at law, with infringing manufacturers of Sewing Machines, propose that the public should be benefitted thereby, and have accordingly reduced the prices of their Sewing Machines. After this date they will be sold at rates that will pay a fair profit on the cost of manufacture, capital invested, and expense of making sales; such prices as will enable them to make first class machines, and, as here clore; guarantee them in every particular. In accordance with the announcement above I will sell their splendid Sewing Machines at prices from $45 to $90 for the fine full case machines. It is, a well established fact that the mitate. I do not say this from conjecture, for, havng one day examined with a microscope the flowers of thyme, I distinguished, with extreme admiration, superb flagons with long necks; which were formed of a substance resembling the amethyst, from the gullets of which seemed to flow ingots of liquid gold. I have never examined the corolla of the smallest flower without finding it composed of admirable substances, half transparent, studded with brilliants, and tinted with the most lively colors. Being which live under their rich canopies, must which live under their rich canopies, must have ideas very different from ours, of light, and of the other phenomena of Nature. A drop of dew, filtering in the capillary and trans-parent tubes of a plant, presents to their eyes a thousand caecades. The same drop, fixed as a wave on the extremity of one of the brisiles, must seem an ocean without a shore.

Such, then, must have been my strawberry plant, and its natural inhabitants, in the eyes of the winged insect which alighted upon it; for the reader will remember that I have been speaking only of those minute creatures which are imperceptible to the naked eye; but if I had been capable of acquiring as much knowledge respecting the plant as is possessed by those itinerant insects, I should still have been far from acquiring the full history of it.

THE TERMS OF UNION.-We have before al-The Terms of Union.—We have before alluded to the one sided compromises proposed to satisfy the South. They all look to concession to the South and not by it. The South demands all that is contained in the Breckin-ridge platform, and will be content with nothing less. As Wigfall says—"When two ride one horse, one must ride behind, and that the South will not do." The quarrel between the two sections is to be settled upon the plan of reconciliation between the two Deacons. Deacon A. called on Deacon B. to whom he had GOUR GOVERNMENT."
