The Cotton States After Secession.

We hear it frequently said that secession is revolution. It is revolution, but in a far wider sense than is generally understood. The St. Louis "Democrat," published in a slave State, says that secession will lay bare all the depths of Southern society. It will let loose the conflicting theories of the politicians as well as the passions of the people, and it is difficult to say which are the more destructive. How will it be possible to build a Southern Confederacy, when the right of each State to secede is to be the corner stone of the structure? Dissolution, and not organization—anarchy, and not order—must be the immediate result of such an undertaking, to be followed in due time by some new form of monarchical despotism. The secessionists are preparing a Pandemonium for themselves, the like of which the world has not yet seen, in fact or fable. The disfranchisement of the poor whites, especially of foreigners, will be one of the structural characteristics of the new republic. The aristocratic idea once fully recognized, it will develop itself in the formation of castes. The grand principle of the Declaration of Independence repudiated, we shall see all the gradations of rank and class established by law. If the cotton lords carry out their own logic, working men of the white race will be the Pariahs of the Southern Confederation. Property and birth united, will be the joint standard of political rights and social privileges. He who has been born an alien will die an alien. The power to confer citizenship on foreigners will be denied to the legislative power. Democracy will fly from the recreant land, and hardly leave the traditions of her glory and beneficence behind. The great subdivisions of society will be slaves, foreigners, plebeians, and patricians—the last, as a matter of course, the owners of the first. The avatar of the cotton States, which is the dissolution of the Union, will be mainly a reproduction of forms of society, which it was supposed had passed away forever, and which are all but unknown, except to the antiquarian, or the traveler who has wandered and meditated on the banks of the Ganges, the Nile and the Tiber. No doubt the new birth will be distinguished by lineaments entirely original; but such as will impart to it neither nobleness nor dignity. Society will unfold itself from the elementary organism of the plantation, exclusively—Manners, laws, institutions, governments, sects, and systems, will be developments of that primal entity, in form as well as in spirit. All things heterogeneous and dissimilar will be eliminated; the freedom of the press, the pulpit and the rostrum will be formally, as they are now practically, abolished; and the slavery idea will overarch all, like the grim canopy of Tartarus. The aim of the government will be suppression and repression. Freedom will have no wider temple than the soul of the individual, which will also be her prison. There will be no growth, for growth is only possible by differentiation, which is only possible by virtue of freedom, which is the very sun of the intellectual world. Hence the richness of variety which distinguishes all free countries—variety in productions, in literature, art, philosophy, occupations and associations—and the dreary rigorous uniformity which prevails wherever despotism rules—dreary and rigorous in proportion to the despotism of the ruling power. This explains the immutability of China and India for thousands of years, and it is into such a Dead Sea that Southern society will plunge if it escape the destructive forces which Secession will be sure to liberate. The whites of the cotton States—the plantation caste—will realize in themselves the fable of the Lotus Eaters; but for all others nothing will remain but toil and suffering combined with political impotence—an unenviable destiny, if, as we are told, to be weak is to be miserable, doing or suffering.

Union-Saving Meetings.

The Republican papers throughout the State are severe in their denunciations of the late Union meeting in Philadelphia, and of the humiliating position in which the people of that city placed themselves by the adoption of resolutions which are a disgrace to the State. The Germantown Telegraph, an influential independent journal, rebukes the "dirt-eaters" as follows: Of the resolutions concocted for the occasion, we refrain from speaking, rather than to say that they are couched in language the most craven, cringing, hypocritical and humiliating that could be invented. Instead of saying in a manly voice, with erect posture, and looking "our Southern brothers" honestly in the face, we have prostrated ourselves, and crawling upon our bellies, humbly beg to be pardoned if we have done wrong; and in order to ascertain that fact, we will "carefully search our statute books," &c. We fear that the effect of this meeting will be the reverse of that anticipated for it in the South, as it assuredly has been in this city and State. While we should do our whole duty in the present emergency—indeed leave nothing undone that ought to be done in the name of our common manhood, let our behavior and actions be worthy of the position we occupy, the soil we own, the institutions we live under, and Independence Hall, within whose shadow we are.

For the credit of the Capital City of the old Keystone State, we hope the meeting to be held here this evening will not make a similar mistake, and degrade its participants to a humiliating level with the dirt-eaters of Philadelphia. The mass of the people of Pennsylvania are now, as they have always been, loyal to the Union and the Constitution. They never resisted the will of the majority constitutionally expressed—never threatened to secede or rebel, no matter how hardy they were pressed. In the emphatic language of a Republican cotemporary, "there is no real cause for this superserviceable eagerness to express a devotion to the Union, which in this region is universal, and which only leads to declarations which are derogatory to the dignity, and unjust to the principles, of the people of the free States."

Senator Wade's Speech.

The Patriot and Union criticizes the late able and patriotic speech of Senator Wade with much severity, denouncing it as fanatical and incendiary. The New York Herald takes a different view, as will be seen by the following extract from its columns. Describing the scene in the Senate, and commenting upon the speech, that paper says: The Senate of the United States presented an interesting scene during the delivery of Senator Wade's speech, which occupied two hours and a quarter. An attentive throng in the galleries above him, a listening Senate around him, and the members of the fourth estate, largely represented, catching every word and commenting to the winged lightning of the great public in every part of the country, were among the features of the occasion. Many of the ablest men in the nation, of all parties, Senators, Representatives, and others, from the North and South, who listened to Senator Wade, agree that while he uttered some of his ideas in strong language, a style peculiarly his own, that as a whole his speech was eminently conservative, strictly within the Constitution, and exactly such a speech as the times demand. Wade represents the honest feeling of the North. The growing opinion is that the North should speak out first what it means—should withhold nothing, but present boldly and manfully, yet kindly, the real position they intend to assume in the event of secession by one or more States from the Union. Senator Wade's reference to the record of his father, who gallantly fought the battles of the country and sustained the flag; and his splendid peroration and pledge to follow the example of his father in upholding that flag with his life, not only won applause from the galleries but drew tears from many eyes.

REPUBLICAN SENTIMENT.—The Republican Committee of the State of New York have issued a circular expressing their strong conviction of the justice of the principles embodied in the Chicago platform, and the determination of the party to abide by the policy which has so signally triumphed in the election of Lincoln and Hamlin. The Committee recommend the continuance of the Wide Awake clubs as permanent political organizations—acknowledging the great indebtedness of the party to their efforts during the recent Presidential campaign.

Great Pow-wow in Michigan.—The Indians Hold a Thanksgiving.

The Indians of Pentwater, Oceana county, were served a good Thanksgiving dinner, by Mr. A. M. Fitch, the Indian Agent of the State. It will be remembered that a greater portion of the Indians in the vicinity of this city, removed to Pentwater some time since, who, together with the settlements in the neighborhood, were invited, on Thanksgiving Day, to a grand feast by the whole-sovereign Indian Agent. The number present was estimated by Mr. Fitch, at about eighteen hundred. To enable our readers to form some estimate of the amount of "good things" the Indians were feasted with, we enumerate the following:—Two oxen, two barrels of pork, four barrels of flour, eight bushels of potatoes, fifty heads of cabbage, &c., &c. The dusky sons of the forest appeared to enjoy themselves hugely, and Mr. Houseman tells us that he never attended a gathering where all seemed to enjoy themselves more heartily—through everything passed off with order and decorum. At the conclusion of the dinner, the agent of Mr. Charles Mears, (a large mill owner) brought out several boxes of pipes, and the aborigines proceeded gravely to "smoke the Calumet of peace." Altogether, the affair made a deep and lasting impression on those present.—Grand Rapids Eng.

THE OLD PUBLIC FUNCTIONARY, in his Proclamation recommending a day of humiliation, fasting and prayer, says, "Hope seems to have deserted the minds of men," and that "God's arm alone can save us from the awful effects of our own crimes and follies." There is a constitutional way to save us from the further "crimes and follies" of the President, and a bill of impeachment in the House of Representatives might do more to awaken him to a sense of his imbecility and treachery than anything else that could now be suggested.

Signs of Returning Reason.

While Southern extremists have been saying very harsh things of the North, they are beginning to feel the force of the world by their violent expulsion of peaceable men and women. This has been carried to so great an extent, and with so little reason or decency, that the authorities of Savannah have felt called upon to interpose. The Mayor of that city, in conjunction with the City Councils, denounces the recent proceedings, and expulsions from that city, and offers a reward of $100 for the apprehension and conviction of persons implicated in those affairs. These outrages are perpetrated by a self constituted Vigilance Committee—class of men who are doing more mischief than all others combined in the present crisis.

NEWS FROM HAYTI.—ANOTHER CONSPIRACY AGAINST THE GOVERNMENT DENIED.—FROM the Watchman of Kingston, Jamaica, we learn that a plot has been laid to disturb the peace of the country. The conspirators, having been discovered, were apprehended, and having been tried, three were sentenced to be shot, which sentence had been carried into execution.—Throughout the entire country, congratulatory addresses from the inhabitants had been sent in to the Government, expressive of their readiness, at a moment's call, to put down anything or persons that would tend to disturb the peace of the country. The new crops had just commenced to come in, and the currency of the country had considerably changed for the better. In general, business was in a very healthy state. The Government had commenced their plan of establishing model farms, and was making great progress in irrigation, for which purpose stone-cutters were in very great demand.

AN UNHUNG TRAITOR.—The whole country breathed freer when John Brown and his fellow conspirators were hung. But during all that time one traitor at least was plotting treason while in the Calais Jail. Howells Cobb was a disunionist when called to the Cabinet, he was a disunionist previous to that time, and he is now acting with traitors to his country. He has deliberately planned the bankruptcy of the Treasury, so that his successor and the Government might be embarrassed. Having done this, he writes a letter full of treasonable sentiments, and goes home to plot destruction to the best government on earth. John Brown could get but a handful of followers; Cobb gets thousands. Which most deserves the gallows?

OUTWITTING THE ENEMY BY A FLANK MOVEMENT.—The Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial says a new scheme is talked of by which a flank movement will astonish the Southern Confederacy. A prominent Republican member, astonished Southern gentlemen by indicating that when the South moves in the march of disunion, the Republican, after Lincoln is inaugurated, will acquire Mexico by treaty and flank the Southern Confederacy by free States.

THE ONLY DISCOVERY

WORTHY OF ANY CONFIDENCE FOR RESTORING THE BALD AND GRAY! MANY, since the great discovery of Prof. Wood, have attempted not only to imitate his restorative, but to have discovered something that would produce results identical; but they have all come and gone, being entirely unavailing. The results of Prof. Wood's preparation, and have been forced to leave the field of its restless sway. Read the following: Bath, Maine, April 18th, 1859. Prof. O. J. Wood & Co., Gents.—The letter I wrote you in 1856 concerning your valuable Hair Restorative, and which you have published in this city and elsewhere, has given me great satisfaction, and has induced me to try the same. The enquiries are, first, is it a fact of my habitation and name, as stated in the communication; second, is it true of all therein contained; third, does my hair grow again, and if so, how long it has been growing; and to all I can and do answer invariably. My hair is even better than in any stage of my life for 40 years. More soft, thick, and more colored; the same is true of my whiskers, and the only cause why it is not generally true, is that the substance is washed off by frequent use of the soap, when it care were used by wiping the face in close connection with the whiskers, the same result will follow as here. I have been in the receipt of a great number of letters from all parts of the country, asking me if my hair will grow again, and as to the fact, I can assure you it will, and it will do so much faster than the original was. I have used various compounds as well as all this, but no doubt have been basely imitated and been used, not only without any effect, but to the injury of my hair. I have not used any of your Restorative of any account for many months, and yet my hair is as good as ever, and hundreds have examined it with surprise, as I am now 60 years old, and not a gray hair on my head, or on my face, and to prove this fact, I send you a lock of my hair taken off the past week. I received your favor of two or three weeks ago, and I send you a test by which you can discover if it is the Restorative, sold by many, I fear, without authority from you. A pure article will insure success, and I believe where good effects do not follow, the failure is caused by the impure article, which causes the inventor or of the good. I seem it my duty as heretofore, to keep you apprised of the continued effect on my hair, as I assure all who enquire of me of my unshaken opinion of its valuable results. I remain, dear Sir, as ever, A. C. RAYMOND. AARON RUS, Ky., Nov. 30, 1858. Prof. O. J. Wood: Dear Sir,—I would certainly be doing you a great injustice not to make known to the world, the wonderful results I have experienced from using one bottle of your Hair Restorative. After using every kind of Restorative extant, but without success, and finding my hair nearly destitute of hair, I was induced to try a bottle of your Hair Restorative. Now, candor and justice compel me to announce to whoever may read this, that I now possess a new and beautiful growth of hair, which I pronounce richer and handsomer than the original was. I will therefore take occasion to recommend this invaluable remedy to all who may feel the necessity of it. Respectfully yours, RAY. S. ALLEN BROCK. P. S.—This testimonial of my approbation for your valuable medicine (as you are aware of) is unsolicited; if you wish it to be placed among the rest, insert if you wish, if not destroy and say nothing. Yours, &c., Rev. S. A. B. Depot, 464 Broadway, and sold by all dealers throughout the country. The Restorative is put up in bottles of three sizes, viz, large, medium and small; the small holds 1/4 a pint, and retails for one dollar per bottle; the medium holds at least twenty per cent more in proportion than the small, and retails for two dollars per bottle; the large holds a quart, 40 per cent more in proportion, and retails for $3. O. J. WOOD & CO. Proprietors, 42 Broadway, New York, and 114 Market Street, St. Louis, Mo. And sold by all good Druggists and Fancy Goods Dealers.

MOTHERS, READ THIS.—The following is an extract from a letter written by the pastor of a Baptist Church in the State of Ohio, and published in the Ohio, and speaks volumes in favor of that world-renowned medicine—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children's Coughing.

"We are an advertisement in your column of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup. Now we never said a word in favor of a patent medicine before in our life, but we feel compelled to say to our readers, that this is no humbug—we have tried it, and know it to be all it claims. It is, probably, one of the most successful medicines of the day, because it is one of the best. And those of your readers who have babies can't do better than to try a supply." REV. J.
