HARRISBURG. Monday Afternoon, December 24, 1860.

PRESSES FOR SALE. HAVING purchased new presses we will sell two second-hand ADAMS PRESSES at a very low price. Apply immediately.

TYPE FOR SALE. A LARGE FONT of Brevier, type is offered for sale at 15 cents per pound, cash. The type will answer for any country newspaper, but not of the same cast as those used by us now, we will sell the same in order to make room for others. Apply immediately to GEO. BERGNER & CO.

A Cabinet Appointment. The report has become general that Mr. Lincoln has intimated to Mr. Bates, of Missouri, that he will invite him to accept the office of Secretary of the Interior.

Got to the Red Sea. A South Carolina clergyman, writing to a Northern newspaper, says: "Providence, which has brought us to the Red Sea, can open for us a passage through 'and out of it.' Many will be inclined to think that this Rev. gentleman, and his secession friends, have made a slight mistake in regard to the analogies of their case. At least the similarity of their circumstances to those of that peculiar people, who, by the interposition of Divine power, were led out of Egyptian bondage, is not apparent to all. In some minds this movement is slightly suggestive of another people, who stood on the banks of the Red Sea, not as God's chosen people, but in the pursuit of an insane policy, that was leading them to ruin. But whatever may be the analogies of the case, it is evident that the only way for the Dominion and his associates to escape the dangers of the Red Sea, is to retrace their steps back to the leeks and onions of Egypt. It is apparent that they have no Moses with them, and no cloud and pillar of fire going before them. And if they undertake to cross it, it is doubtful whether they may not find themselves very much in the predicament of the Egyptians. They may have trouble with their chariot wheels, and the returning waves may be a little too quick for them. And more than all, to add to their mortification, those black rascals, on whose account all this stir has been made, may be on the other bank with timbrels and harps rejoicing over their calamity.

PARSON BROWNLOW ON THE SECESSIONISTS.—Parson Brownlow, of the Knoxville Whig, is evidently not 'in love' with the secessionists, as the following little clipping from his paper amply demonstrates:— This machine of government, so delicate and complex in its structure, and which cost its great architects so much labor and thought, so much of the spirit of concession and compromise, and our fathers so much of blood and treasure, is to be broken to pieces to gratify a set of corrupt, ambitious and disappointed demagogues, who find that they can never preside over these United States, and hence they seek to build up one or more contemptible Southern Confederacies, and to place themselves at the head of these. The fiddling and dancing of Nero, while Rome was enveloped in flames, was not more brutal, hellish, stupid and wicked, than is the conduct of these country-destroying, God-defying, and hell-deserving traitors to their country, who write and talk thus flippantly of the most momentous event that the human mind can conceive!

THE RT. REV. BISHOP SMITH, of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Kentucky, has set apart the following prayer to be used in the churches of that denomination during the present crisis. No comments, which we might make upon it, can add to the simple grandeur, the patriotic fervor, or the Christian inspiration of this heartfelt and eloquent PRAYER FOR THE UNION. O, Eternal God! the supreme disposer of all events, and the rightful Governor of all the nations upon earth, look down in mercy upon our beloved country, and graciously avert from us all those evils which we most justly have deserved, and whereof our consciences are afraid; the evils of discord and dissension. Raise up, we beseech thee, a continual succession of able, wise and good men, worthy to stand in the places of the Fathers of our Country, so that our Union being preserved, our free institutions may be handed down, wholly unimpaired, to the latest generations! Grant this, we humbly beseech thee, for Jesus Christ's sake, our only Lord and Savior! Amen.

A POLITICAL BANQUET.—On the 23rd inst., a grand dinner is to be given at the Sanson Street Hall, in Philadelphia, in honor of the "workers" of the People's party. This party, it is scarcely necessary to say, supported Lincoln. The Philadelphia Enquirer says: The committee having the matter in charge met on Saturday evening to receive the reports of the sub-committees. Provision is to be made for five hundred persons. The committee on invitations read a list of some fifty names, including the President and Vice President elect, William H. Seward, Horace Greeley, Thurlow Weed, F. P. Blair, John Minor Botts, Mr. Evans, of the Baltimore "Patriot," H. Winter Davis, and other prominent Republicans.

NO PRAYERS NEEDED FOR "HUMILIATION."—One portion of the recommendation of President Buchanan is entirely useless. This nation needs no prayers for "humiliation." The election of James Buchanan, and the results of his administration, have proved humiliating enough without prayers for anything more in that line. We trust the people generally will, in mercy to the nation, ask for no further extension of that peculiar condition.

MORE INSOLENT DEMANDS.—The Legislature of Georgia has adopted resolutions declaring the absolute right of any State to secede at pleasure; and upon this "Occasional," in the Philadelphia Press, says: "From this it is evident that the Disunionists have advanced upon their demands, and now stand upon a doctrine which never can be yielded by the Northern States. The repeal of the personal-liberty bills, the recognition of the right of slaveholders to carry their 'property' into the Territories, and hold it there, irrespective of the popular will, the passage of laws recognizing the right of transit through all the free States of slave-owners with their slaves, and even the acceptance of the remedy proposed by Hon. Robert J. Walker that Presidential electors shall be elected in single districts as Representatives in Congress now are; all these concessions, if they could be made by the free States, would not satisfy the fire-eaters if the right of secession were not agreed upon, and made a part of the reconstruction of the Government. Mark the prophecy."

From the Baltimore Patriot of Saturday. Progress of the Rebellion. Sure enough, at six o'clock in the afternoon of Thursday the 20th of December, 1860, the South Carolina Convention met at Institute Hall, in Charleston, and signed the Ordinance of Secession, the first formal act of rebellion ever begun against the government of these States. It had been engrossed beautifully on parchment, says the telegram conveying us this information. The time is not far distant, when that parchment and its contents and its signatures, will have anything but beauty, in the eyes of its signers, and of the people whom they have deluded into revolution against the most just and glorious government the sun ever shone upon.

Yesterday the Convention sat again, and perpetuated the completion to the folly of the previous day, in the form of a Declaration of Independence! It is unworthy of the name of a State paper—the only thing worthy of attention in it, being two or three eloquent passages, stolen from the Declaration of the Thirteen Colonies, and decorated by a forced application to this treasonable act of theirs. This paper is said to be from the pen of R. Barnwell Rhett. We doubt it. It has nothing of his nervousness of style about it, or he has lost it in the new exigencies of his position. It sets out to enumerate the wrongs that South Carolina has suffered at the hands of the Federal Government, and the free States of the Union, and never once reverts to the dignity of a spirited electioneering campaign document. It deals in assertion, unsubstantiated by facts. It is a snarling recital of petty complaints against those who happen to differ with South Carolina upon the underlying principles of the Federal Government. It is a poor rehash of Mr. Calhoun's speeches, without any of his plausibility and freshness. It is the pronouncement of a defeated party, after an election, and abounds in the politician's rhetoric visque ad nauseam. Its authors will live to be heartily ashamed of it.

Messrs. Barnwell, Adams and Orr, have been deputed as Commissioners to proceed to Washington to treat with the government of the United States, for the acknowledgment of the independence of South Carolina, and for an equitable division of the common property of the United States, of which that State claims a share! The appearance of those gentlemen in the Capital, on such a mission, if Jackson were at the head of the government, would be apt to be the most uncomfortable act of their lives. We can imagine the hero of New Orleans, bringing his staff down to the floor, with an increased energy, exclaiming the embers of a state in rebellion, and threatening the United States, with an oath that would overwhelm them with confusion. And we can imagine the next act which the public safety would demand. What will Mr. Buchanan do, when these parties come into his presence? Will he take them to his bosom, or will he—he knows what his duty is. Let us see whether he will perform it.

The propositions submitted to the revolutionary Convention, yesterday, bore unmistakable evidence of the fact, that the authors of secession had got the tiger by the ears—had plunged into a sea of difficulties that threatened to engulf them. Not one was accepted, or admitted, that could lead them out of their perplexities. They are in the wilderness, and they have no cloud by day nor pillar of fire by night to lead them forward. All is darkness, confusion, ruin. Every thing done, was in the way of pulling down. That's an easy work, at all times. They rescinded the oath of allegiance to the Federal Government, on the part of the State officers, and substituted one for the State only. Secret sessions were resolved on, and one was held. They are afraid of the public eye and public ear. How different the course of the body that declared our independence of the Colonies, the news of the act of secession, on the part of South Carolina, is reported to have set the secessionists beside themselves. They burnt powder freely, but as a forerunner of a rebellion, and without any special wonderment, regarding it rather as a theatrical display, than anything else. Not even did stocks fall to zero in New York, as the South Carolina leaders actually thought would be the case. The representatives in Congress from the Palmetto State, were going to make a theatrical exit, yesterday, from the House, but the House, the evening before, suspecting something of such a movement, nipped it in the bud, by adjourning over to Monday, when any attempt at such display, we trust, will be frowned down.

But Mr. Lincoln has spoken at last, and in tones of the border slave States received it as a forerunner of a rebellion, and without any special wonderment, regarding it rather as a theatrical display, than anything else. Not even did stocks fall to zero in New York, as the South Carolina leaders actually thought would be the case. The representatives in Congress from the Palmetto State, were going to make a theatrical exit, yesterday, from the House, but the House, the evening before, suspecting something of such a movement, nipped it in the bud, by adjourning over to Monday, when any attempt at such display, we trust, will be frowned down.

The secession feeling is on the increase here. Ashland Hall was again crowded on Saturday night. Disunion speeches were delivered by Col. Cronk and Gen. Tyler, which were enthusiastically applauded. Gen. Tyler concluded with the expression, "let the Union go to hell." Which was received with loud and repeated cheers.

Latest by Telegraph. SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE DAILY TELEGRAPH. CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS. WASHINGTON, Dec 24. HOUSE.—The Speaker laid before the House a letter signed by Messrs. McQueen, Bartram, Boyce and Ashmore, of South Carolina, in which they say they avail themselves of the earliest opportunity, since the official intelligence was received, of making known that the people of South Carolina in their sovereign capacity have resumed the power which they heretofore delegated to the government and thus dissolved their (the signers) connection with the House of Representatives.

In taking their leave of those with whom they have been associated, they, as well as the people of their Commonwealth, wish to express a mutual feeling of respect, cherishing the hope that in future their relations may be friendly. Laid on the table and ordered to be printed. Mr. MORROW (Ky.) introduced a bill giving a construction to the Fugitive Slave Law of 1793. Referred to the select committee of thirty-three. Mr. MORRIS (Ill.) offered a resolution for the appointment of a committee of five to inquire into the late abstraction of certain bonds from the Interior Department, but suffered the resolution to lie over for the present.

Mr. SHERMAN (Ohio) having stated that he had been informed that the Secretary of the Interior would send a communication on the subject to the House, Mr. Sherman, from the Committee on Ways and Means, reported the Army appropriation bill. On motion of Mr. CHAFFORD (Ga.) it was ordered that when the House adjourn to-day it be till Thursday next. Mr. KILGORE (Ind.) introduced a bill to establish a Metropolitan Police for the city of Washington. Referred to the Committee on the District of Columbia. The SPEAKER laid before the House a communication from the Secretary of the Interior, stating that on Saturday last he was informed by the voluntary confession of an officer of the Department, that State bonds held in trust by the United States for the benefit of the Indians, amounting to $70,000, have been abstracted from his custody and converted to private use. The Secretary says the enormity of the fraud demands full investigation by Congress, in order to vindicate his own honor and expose the guilty and direct. He therefore appeals to the House for the appointment of a committee with full power to send for persons and papers, and asks an investigation, with the view that full justice may be done in the premises.

Mr. SHERMAN said the Secretary of the Treasury, also desired an investigation for the vindication of his character, and introduced a resolution, which Mr. Morris of Illinois accepted for his own, directing the appointment of a select committee of five to inquire into and report the facts in relation to the said fraud; and that the committee have full power to send for persons and papers. Mr. JOHN COCHRANE (N. Y.) offered a preamble and resolution setting forth the dangers which menace the country, and that the removal of the slavery question from our national councils is the only remedy.

The President Wavering. WASHINGTON, Saturday, Dec. 22. It is reported here to-day, on good authority, that the President is beginning to waver in his determination to abet the schemes of the disunionists.

The secession feeling is on the increase here. Ashland Hall was again crowded on Saturday night. Disunion speeches were delivered by Col. Cronk and Gen. Tyler, which were enthusiastically applauded.
