HARRISBURG: Saturday Afternoon, December 29, 1860.

PRESSES FOR SALE. HAVING purchased new presses we will sell two second hand Adams Presses at a very low price. Apply immediately.

TYPE FOR SALE: A LARGE FONT of Brevier type is offered for sale at 15 cents per pound, cash. The type will answer for any country newspaper, but not being of the same cast as those used by us, we will sell the same in order to make room for others. Apply immediately to GEO. BERGNER & CO.

Adjutant General. Among the officers to be appointed by Gov. Curtin, after his inauguration, will be that of Adjutant General of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. For some reason or other, perhaps because of the general prevalence of peace in the country, this office has been regarded as of little importance, and has been administered for many years past by men, to say the least of them, of doubtful capacity.

Entertaining these views with regard to the importance of the office, with which we hope to impress the Governor, the next thing is to look around for the proper man to fill it. We have no desire to dictate on this point, but we do claim the privilege respectfully to make a suggestion to His Excellency: Choose a man fitted for the post—whose civil and military record is clear—who has proved himself more than a "paper General"—who has served his country on the tented field. Such a man is Gen. E. C. WILLIAMS, of this city. He possesses in an eminent degree all the qualifications of a first rate officer, and on the ground of merit, none more eminently deserve the honor. In our late war with Mexico, Gen. WILLIAMS was among the first to volunteer his services to the country. By his own individual efforts he raised a company of volunteers, whose services were tendered to and accepted by the Government, and with this band of gallant men he went through the campaign from Vera Cruz to the city of Mexico. He was, if not the first, among the first to plant the stars and stripes on the heights of Chapultepec, and to carry them in triumph and revelry to the "Halls of the Montezumas."

is a resident of the city of Harrisburg. If appointed to this office, he would be always on the spot, accessible to communications from all quarters, and always prepared to reply promptly to all inquiries on the subject of the military affairs of the State. This is not now the case, nor can it be when the Adjutant General is distant from the State Capital. He should be a resident at the Seat of Government, and his department just as much a department of the Government as that of the Attorney General. The one defines the civil law—the other should be here at all times to define the military law.

Give us General WILLIAMS for Adjutant General, and the military arm of the Government will be strengthened and improved, and will assume that position to which it is entitled on the score both of right and policy.

Why Do We Want Arms?

Our neighbor of the Patriot and Union is much exercised about the article in yesterday's Freeman urging upon the next Legislature to appropriate ONE MILLION OF DOLLARS for the purpose of supplying our citizen soldiers with arms. We can easily explain why we are in favor of such an appropriation. It is simply to supply our military companies with such arms as they are of right entitled to, and which ought to have been furnished them by the United States long ago, but which were given to the Southern Secessionists. It is well known that the few guns in the Arsenal here were stolen, under the Democratic Administration of Gov. Bigler, whilst Gen. Bowman, now Buchanan's right hand man at Washington, was Adjutant General, and that the State of Pennsylvania has been in need of arms ever since. It is rumored now, and confidently believed, that the Democratic disunionists of the South are arming for the purpose of taking possession of the Capitol Buildings at Washington, and thus prevent the inauguration of Lincoln. While we do not believe that all who voted for Breckinridge are disunion men, yet we believe that all disunion men voted for Breckinridge; and that with the latter our friends of the Patriot and Union are classed. We have too much confidence in the members of the next Legislature to doubt, for a moment, that they will not at the shortest notice make proper provision for the arming of our citizen soldiers.—The Southern States have appropriated some three million of dollars for the purpose of buying arms. Should we in the North fold our arms and permit the enemies of the Union to destroy this Confederacy? We say, emphatically, no! and are firmly of the opinion that we express the sentiment of every Republican and Union man. Let those who are favoring disunion think and act otherwise, but we shall advocate the old adage, "in time of peace prepare for war." Recent events indicate plainly that South Carolina wants a good flogging, and we hope that Major Anderson will attend to the "chivalry." After they receive one sound thrashing they will be perfectly satisfied and obey the laws of the land.

The Banks of the Interior.

The interior banks of Pennsylvania have been remitting for their notes, since the suspension, to banks and brokers in Philadelphia; but exchange on Baltimore, Pittsburg, and generally throughout the country, ranging from 1 1/4 to 10 per cent. Pennsylvania currency has been remitted from all parts of the country to Philadelphia to make exchange, and thus a very large and continually increasing amount sent home to the banks in the interior for redemption, while their income of par funds has been most seriously diminished by the suspension.

This process, by rapidly curtailing the means of the banks, is leading to a considerable reduction of their discounts, and crippling the business of the country; while the city banks, which make no exchange with other points, are enabled to keep up their regular business.

We are glad to learn that in consequence of this state of things, the interior banks have agreed not to remit for their notes when sent up from Philadelphia—preferring to keep themselves in position for doing their appropriate current business, and keeping themselves stronger for resumption, when that day comes round. They have agreed also to take each other's notes on deposit and in payment of debts. We have no doubt these decisions will work favorably for the business of the interior.

"YANKEE DOODLE."—According to the Cincinnati Times, a Yankee was forbidden to play "Yankee Doodle," or "Hail Columbia," by a rascal secessionist, on a Mississippi steamer, a few days since. He put up his violin forthwith, and did not favor the company with any further music. "Yankee Doodle" and "Hail Columbia" are National airs, and we sectionalize up North, still glory in them. The "Star Spangled Banner" is still near our hearts. Long may it wave; and may all of the "Red, White and Blue" rally to its defence.

The Republican Party Stands by the Constitution.

The Springfield Journal, the home organ of the President elect, which speaks "by authority," says that the Republican party takes the Constitution of the United States for its guide, and so far as it has power to do so, will never permit its provisions to be disregarded or trampled under foot. Those whom the Republican party place in power are expected by that party to live faithfully up to every requirement of the Constitution—neither to fall behind nor go beyond its commandments. The party want no legislation that does not square with the Constitution, but it requires its representatives to step to the very verge of that instrument to carry out its views. Republicans do not believe that the Constitution contains the "absurdity of giving power to enact laws, and another power to resist them." It has given the power to make laws, and it has provided the means for their enforcement. The Republican party insists upon the employment of those means for the enforcement of all resisted laws. Implicit obedience to the requirements of the Constitution must be yielded by every citizen of the United States, whether in or out of authority. The Republican party plants itself squarely and firmly upon this doctrine, and it will not swerve a hair's breadth from it to please any particular locality. Mr. LINCOLN is at the head of that party. In a few weeks he will be inaugurated President of the United States, and he will take the following oath:

"I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the office of President of the United States, and will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States." The Constitution, in enumerating the duties of the President, says: "HE SHALL TAKE CARE THAT THE LAWS BE FAITHFULLY EXECUTED." The Republican party expects and demands of Mr. Lincoln all that the Constitution expects and demands. Mr. Lincoln will not lightly regard his oath of office. Straightforward honesty and unflinching firmness are the leading characteristics of the man, and he will not try to evade the performance of his duties, however painful, under certain circumstances, these duties may be, by a sophistical construction of the Constitution. Sworn faithfully to execute the laws, he will do it. It would be a gross insult to him to express any other opinion. He will not, we have good reason to believe, use all the power at his command to execute the laws in one section of the country, and permit them to be disregarded and trampled under foot in another. He will, doubtless, construe his oath of office to mean that it is his duty to enforce all the laws, and not one particular law alone. Upon the secession question the Republican party, we take it, occupies the Jacksonian position, and we think that we hazard nothing in saying that Mr. Lincoln stands there. Now what was Jackson's position? In his message to Congress, delivered January 16th, 1833, JACKSON said:

"The right of the people of a single State to absolve themselves at will, and without the consent of the other States, from their most solemn obligations, and hazard the liberties and happiness of the millions composing this Union, cannot be acknowledged. Such authority is believed to be utterly repugnant both to the principles upon which the general government is constituted, and to the objects which it was expressly formed to attain."

And again, in the same message, JACKSON said: "While a forbearing spirit may, and I trust will be exercised toward the errors of our brethren in a particular quarter, duty to the rest of the Union demands that open and organized resistance to the laws should not be executed with impunity." The Republican party is, we are satisfied, planted immovably ON JACKSON'S GROUND. The Democracy of the North cannot well occupy any other. We think it might as well get abroad among the people that the incoming Administration will be constitutional, anti-secession, and law enforcing. Pass the word.

THE LAST SOUTHERN "COMROMISE."—A new and rather startling series of "comromises" measures is proposed by the Montgomery (Alabama) Mail. The following are fine specimens: "Make a full and complete surrender of all fugitive slaves to the South, and also all that are in Canada, and pay two hundred and fifty dollars per annum hire for the men, and one hundred and fifty dollars hire for the women, from the time of their escape to the time of surrender." "Surrender immediately, dead or alive, the confederates of John Brown." "Hang Lincoln and Hamlin on the same gallows on which John Brown was hanged." "Congress to pass a law making it treason for any man to introduce the subject, either by petition or otherwise into its halls, and make the punishment imprisonment for life."

SECESSION ILLUSTRATED.—The Hon. Mr. Vinton once said the threat of secession reminded him of a man in Buffalo who fastened an old scow to the stern of a steamer, to be towed up the lake. After the boat had got under way her wheels threw water into the scow, and she was in danger of sinking. The owner cried out to the captain: "Hold on there! If you don't stop throwing water into this scow I'll make you!" "Well," says the captain, "what will you do?" "Do?" shouted the enraged man, "I'll cut the rope, and let your old steamboat go to thunder."

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE DAILY TELEGRAPH.

ALARM AND EXCITEMENT IN GEORGIA.

RUMORED RISING OF THE SLAVES. AN INSURRECTION ANTICIPATED.

Planters Preparing to Send their Wives and Children to the North.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29. The following dispatch, dated at Macon, Ga., on Thursday, Dec. 27, reached a Georgian gentleman here last night, who has allowed me to copy it: "Rumors of a rising among the slaves in the south-western part of the State prevail here. It is impossible to say, with certainty, whether an insurrection has really taken place, or is only threatened. The greatest care is taken to keep the matter secret, but most exaggerated reports are whispered aloud in this town to day. There is certainly much excitement among the negroes everywhere, and the occasional rumor of fighting at Charleston makes them restless and very dangerous. I am told that some planters are hastily getting all things ready to send their wives and young children to the North."

Doings of the Rebel Convention.

CHARLESTON, Dec. 29. After the usual preliminaries, the PRESIDENT read a communication from W. F. Calcock, Collector of the Port of Charleston, informing the convention that all the officers of the customs had entered the service of the State. He also states that he had commenced receiving duties and transacting other business.

Mr. DUKKEN said that the act of Congress requiring the payment of duties in specie, but as the act of the Legislature, recently passed, permitted the banks to suspend, specie here is selling at 4 per cent premium. It was therefore unfair to require the payment of duties in specie, when the State taxes are payable in bank notes.

Mr. DUKKEN offered a resolution that the Collectors of the State be authorized to receive duties in the bills of the State bank.

Mr. MANSURE said that, if necessary, "the banks might increase their circulation so as to render any embarrassment possible."

A motion to refer the resolution to the committee on commercial relations was lost.

The PRESIDENT received a communication from the Governor, through Mr. Q. Watts, in relation to the Harbor.

The Convention then went into secret session and it is understood that the military bill is under consideration.

Caucus of Border State Congressmen.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29. About seventy five Border State Congressmen met in caucus last night. Senator CRITTENDEN presided, and Messrs. COLFAX and BARRETT were the secretaries. The following propositions were offered:

By Mr. BARRETT, eleven amendments to the Constitution on the slavery question. By Mr. PRYOR, that any attempt to preserve the Union between the States of the Confederation, impolitic and destructive of republican liberty. By Mr. VALLANDIGHAM, the Crittenden resolutions. By Mr. COLFAX, that the laws of the Union should be enforced and the Union of the States maintained, and that it is the duty of the Executive to protect the property of the United States with all the power placed in his hands by the Constitution. By Mr. MORGAN, of Illinois, that in maturing any plan for the adjustment of existing difficulties, we will keep steadily in view the preservation of the Union, under the Constitution, as a paramount consideration.

After a desultory debate, in which Messrs. Cox, Fryer, Smith of Virginia, Clemens, Sherman, Staunton, Calfax, Noel, Hinckman, Montgomery, McClelland, Harris of Virginia, Harris of Maryland, participated, all the pending propositions were, on motion of the latter gentleman, referred to a committee of one from each of the fourteen States represented, to report at a future meeting to be called by them, if they agreed. Adjourned.

Rumors from Charleston.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 29. The Sun has a special dispatch from Charleston, reporting that the carpenters and bricklayers from Baltimore, employed on Fort Sumpter, refuse to bear arms against South Carolina, and have been discharged by Major Anderson. They will return home in the steamer Keystone State to-day.
