the ingitive stave law, and the discharge of their conjutante dutios, and with the view of re-noving this subject of reproach, I carnestly re-contacted their unconditional repeal.

While a majority of judges of the Supreme Court of the United States, in the Prigg case, Coart in that a State had no constitutional right to held that a state had no constitutional right to provide by legislation for delivering up fugiprovide by residue on the territoring up rug-tives from labor, a minority were then of the opinion that State laws, consistent with, and in the judgment of the present court, as recently indicated in a case which arose in the State of indicated in a case which arose in the State of ment tha illinois. There is, therefore, nothing to pre-vent the revival of the act of 1826, and its res-toration to the place in our code to which, by its merits, it is so justly entitled. This would the office place him again in the same position.

the state be given, that the master, while sojourning in our State, for a limited period, or pusing through it, may be accompanied by his without losing his right to his service. while such legislation is due to the comity which should ever exist between the different states of this Union, it would undoubtedly tend greatly to restore that peace and harmony, tena greathy to restore that peace and nationly, which are not so unwisely imperiled. By it pennsylvania would concede no principle—we would simply be falling back upon our ancient policy, adopted at a time when our people were themselves struggling for their rights, and never departed from, until, by a misconception of its meaning, one of our most important statot its meaning, out of constitutional. From 1780 to 1847, a period of sixty-seven years, Pennsylvania, herself a free State, permitted the citizens of other States to sojourn within her limits, with their slaves, for any period not exceeding six months, and to pass through the State, in traveling from one State to another, free from all molestation. Was she injured, or was the cause of human freedom retarded by the friendly grant of this privilege? This question cannot be truthfully answered in the affirmative ; but it may be safely averred, that by changing our policy, in this respect, we have in some degree, at least, alienated from us the feelings of fraternal kindness, which bound together, so closely, the sisterhood of States. Let us, then, renew the pledge of amity and friendship, and once more extend a kindly welcome to the citizens of our common country, whether visiting us on business or notwithstanding they may be accompanied by those who, under the Constitution and the laws, are held to service and labor.

The Territories of the United States belong to the General Government, and in those territories the people of the several States unquestionably have equal rights. They were acquir-ed by means of the common expenditure of blood and treasure. By the Federal Constitution power is given to Congress "to dispose of and make all needful rules and regulations respecting the territory and other property be-longing to the United States." Whether under this, or any other power conferred by the Con-stitution, Congress can prohibit or protect slavery in the territories, has been seriously ques-But, if the power to legislate upon this delicate and important subject was clearly vested in Congress, in my judgement it ought not to be exercised. To declare that slavery shall not exist in the Territories, is calculated to exclude from their occupancy the citizens of the southern or slaveholding States; while, to make it a legal institution in all the territories of the United States, by Congressional enactment, and to provide for its continuance during their entire Territorial existence, would be equally injurious to the people of the free States. The principle adopted in the Compro-mise measures of 1850, for disposing of the question of slavery in New Mexico and Utah, and reiterated in the Kansas and Nebraska bills of 1854, of non-intervention by Congress with slavery in the States and in the Territories, is the true rule. It is the duty of Congress, when pioneers find their way into our distant Territories, to furnish them a shield of protection subject only to the Constitution of the United

The people of Pennsylvania are devoted to the people of Pennsylvania are devoted to the Union. They will follow its stars and its stripes through every peril. But, before assuming the high responsibilities now dimly foreshadowed, high responsibilities now dimly foreshadowed, it is their solemn duty to remove every just cause of complaint against themselves, so that opinion that State taws, consistent with, and in they may stand before High Heaven, and the aid of the constitutional injunction, were valid civilized world, without fear and without rear and without rear and without rear and without rear and without the proach, ready to devote their lives and their formation of the present count of the present o they may stand before High Heaven, and the ment that has ever been devised by the wisdom

In accordance with the provisions of the Constitution of the State, I shall soon resign toration to the place in our code to which, by its merits, it is so justly entitled. This would lave to the option of the claimant, whether he would seek his remedy under the State or Na-tiond laws. He had this right before the re-tiond laws. He had this right private the state or he him whom they have chosen as my successor. I shall carry with me into the walks of private tion i nuws. SENATE.

TUESDAY, January 1, 1861. This being the day required by the Constitution for the meeting of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania, at 3 P. M., Mr. PALMER, SPEAKER, called the Senate to order, there being a quorum of Senators present. The Secretary of the Commonwealth being atroduced, presented the returns of the late elections, by which it appeared that the follow-iog gentlemen were duly elected Senators of the several districts named.

The roll of Senators being called, the followng answered to their names: First District-Philadelphia-Jeremiah Nich

Chester and Delaware-Jacob S. Serrell.

Carbon, Monroe, Pike and Wayne-Henry Mott. Berks-Hiester Clymer.

Snyder, Northumherland, Montour and Co-umbia-Franklin Bound. Dauphin and Lebanon-A. R. Boughter.

Westmoreland and Fayette-Smith Fuller. Lancaster-Wm. Hamilton and John A. Hiestand.

Washington and Greene-George V. Law

Lawrence, Mercer and Venango-James H

Wharton. Ail the Senators were present except Mr. M

Clure.

The SPEAKER laid before the Senate a writ issued by him during the interim to Jeremiah Bitting, Sheriff of the county of Berks, direct ing a special election to be held for a Senator from that district in the place of BENJAMIN NUNEMACHER. deceased.

Laid on the table. The Chair was then vacated by the Speaker

ro lem

Mr. WELSH. I now move that the Senate proceed to the election of Speaker, and that the Clerks act as tellers,

Which was agreed to.

The Senate then went into an election for Speaker which resulted as follows, viz : Messrs. Benson, Boughter, Bound Connell, a sufficient number of hardy and adventurous Finney, Fuller, Gregg, Hall, Hamilton, Hiestand, Imbrie, Irish, Ketcham, Landon, Law-rence, Meredith, Nichols, Parker, Penney, Roband a form of government; but to the people themselves belongs the right to regulate their own domestic institutions in their own way, Messrs. Blood, Clymer, Crawford, Mott, Palmer, Welsh-6, voted for JEREMIAH SCHINDEL ROBERT M. PALMER having received 26 votes, and JEREMIAH SCHINDEL 6 votes, ion that their general adoption, and faithful en-forcement, would have preserved, and may yet restore, peace and harmony to all sections of our country. I am payartheless in the payarth of this State are unfavorable to the execution of great Union, that the hearts of the people, and dren, the present and future welfare of mankind, all join in solemn protest against the present attempts at the destruction of the Constitution and the Union. It cannot, must not, shall not be, if Pennsylvania can prevent it, and this she will endeavor to do, if necessary, by all the means that God and nature have placed in her power. [Applause.] But it has been alleged against Pennsylvania, by persons high in authority in our sister States, that there are laws on our statute books in de-rogation of the Constitution of the United States, and of the acts of Congress passed in accordance with its provisions. If this be so, which I am not prepared to admit and do not believe, the country ought to know that it was not intentionally done. This great State has given sufficient proof by her acts in the time past, that she is conservative, law abiding, conservative, law abiding st, that she Union and Constitution-loving, to relieve her from any imputation of intentional infringe-ment of the Constitution, or wilful nullification of Constitutional Congressional enactments.

But let us be sure of our position, not only in intention, but in fact. I venture to suggest the hope that the whole body of our law bearing upon the subject matter of complaint allu ded to, the rendition of fugitives held to labor or service in other States, will be referred to the committee on the Judiciary system, or to such other committee as the Sevare may direct, and carefully examined and reported upon, and that if any just cause of complaint exists, that it will be promptly removed. Pennsylvanta is of the people of a single State to absolve themtoo just to be guilty of intentional injustice to other States, and too g eat, weakly to refuse to acknowledge and to rectify errors in her legislation, when pointed out to her and her legisla-ture n.ade sensible of their existence. And this without regard to what other States are doing or may do, not for fear of threats or conse quences, but cheerfully, freely and gladly, beause she loves the Constitution, ordained "to form a more perfect Union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, promote the gen-eral welfare, and secure the ble sings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity." and desires to see it perpetuated in its integrity. SENATORS : Your attention will be necessarily called to these and other matters of the gravest importance, and never was there greater occasion for the exercise of the highest wisdom on your part, never greater necessity for assistance from that higher than human Wisdom, to whom our fathers uniformly looked in their great emergencies. May we all be enlightened to a faithful, able and conscientious discharge of our whole duty. You will please designate a Senator to administer to me the official obligation required by the Constitution.

The SPEAKER then desired the new Sena tors elect to present themselves at the bar in rder to take the oath of office. This request was complied with.

ELECTION OF CLERK.

Mr. WELSH I now move that the Senate oceed to the election of Chief Clerk, Which was agreed to.

The Senate then proceeded to the election of Chief Clerk, which resulted as follows : Messrs. Benson, Boughter, Bound, Connell, Finney. Fuller, Gregg. Hall, Hamilton, Hies-tand, Imbrie, Irish, Ketcham, Landon, Lawrence, Meredith, Nichols, Parker, Penney, Rob-inson, Serrell, Smith, Thompson, Wharton, Yardley and Palmer, Speaker-26-voted for RUSSELL ERRETT. Messrs. Blood, Clymer, Crawford, Mott, Schindel and Welsh-6--voted for F. M. HUTCHINSON.

The Tellers reported that Russel Errett was luly elected Chief Clerk.

The SPEAKER then called upon Mr. Errett to take upon himself the oath of office. Mr. E. appeared in front of the SPEAKER and took upon himself the oath of office.

Mr. SMITH offered the following: That a committee of two members be appointed to wait upon the House of Representatives and and other proper departments of the National Government. 2nd. Resolved, That the people of Pennsylvania entertain, and desire to cherish, the most fraternal sentiments for their brethren of other States, and are ready now, as they have even been, to co operate in all measures needful for their welfare, security and happiness under the Constitution which makes us one people: That while they cannot surrender their love of liberty, inherited from the founders of their State, sealed with the blood of the Revolution and witnessed in the history of their legislation, they nevertheless maintain now, as they have ever done, the right of the people of the slave holding States to the uninterrupted enjoyment of their own domestic justitutions, and all their Constitutional rights in relation thereto. 3d. Revolved, Unanimously, that we adopt the sentiment and language of President Andrew Jackson, expressed in his message to Congress on the sixteenth of January, one thousand eight hundred and thirty-three, that the right selves at will, and without the consent of the other States, from their most solemn obligations, jnn1-8t4a3+w and hazard the liberties and happiness of the millions composing this Union, cannot be ac-knowledged, and that such authority is utterly repugnant both to the principles upon which the general government is constituted and the objects which it was expressly formed to attain. 4th. R-solved. That the Constitution of the United States of America, contains all the powers necessary to the maintenance of its authori ty, and it is the solemn and most imperative duty of the government to adopt and carry into effect whatever measures may be necessary to that end ; and the faith and the power of Penn-sylvania are hereby pledged to the support of such measures, in any manner, and to any extent that may be required of her by the constituted authorities of the United States. 5th. Resolved, That all plots, consultacies and warlike demonstrations against the United States in any section of the country are treasonable in their character, and whatever power of the Government is necessary for their suppression, should be applied to that purpose without hesitation or del y. 6th. Resolved, That the Governor be, and he

SENATORS :

The duties of the position with which you have honored me are delicate and important, and require for their proper discharge a more enlarged experience and higher qualifications than I can hope to bring to them, unless sustained and assisted by your kindness. So far as earnest effort and that restriction upon slavery was removed, and the people of all the Territories were left free to justify your confidence.

the people of all the Territories were left free to decide the question for themselves.
