Disk ASES OF IMPRUDENCE—When the misguided and imprudent votary of pleasure finds he has imbibed the seeds of this painful disease, it too often happens that an ill-timed sense of shame or dread of discovery deters him from applying to those who, from education and respectability can atom befriend him, delaying till the constitutional symptoms of this horrid disease make their appearance, affecting the head, throat, nose, skin, ac., pragressing on with frightful rapidity, till death puts a period to his dreadful sufforings by sending him to "that bourne from whence no traveler returns." It is a melancholy fact that thousands fall victims to this terrible disease, owing to the unskillulness of ignorant pretenders, who, by the use of that deadly poison, mercury, ruin the constitution and make the residue of ille miserable. Mr. SMITH. But to morrow, we cannot act upon this matter. We will, in all probability adjourn at 12 o'clock M. in order to allow the SPEAKER to appoint his Committees, which is an act of courtesy on our part.

Mr. PENNEY. I shall be among the first to urge speedy action upon this measure, at the arlist moment that it can be had deliberately. I think with the Senator from Philadelphia, purpose of having them properly considered. (Mr. Smrn.) that this is an important matter, and at the same time move that they be read and one requiring prompt action; but I do not Mr. PENNEY. I have no objection to the reading of them.

are movements now being made against the Government that are not characterized by either deliberation or courtesy. They have to be met and ought to be met by prompt action in the Legislature of Pennsylvania. While we have reason, we ought not to wait or delay, yet, at the same time, I would advocate the resolutions taking their natural course, by being taken up for consideration to-morrow.

Mr. HALL. I am disposed to be very cour teous. I regard the idea suggested by the Senator from York, (Mr. Weish;) as worthy of the approbation of the Senate. He now states his villingness to have the resolutions taken up to-morrow morning. I can see no reason why we should not sit here all day to-morrow, it necessary, for their consideration. I hope that the unanimous endorsement of this Senate may be ultimately obtained for each one of these resolutions. Mr. SMITH. If it is agreeable to the Senator from York, (Mr. Weish,) and gentlemen with whom he acts, I would agree that the subject be made the order of the day to-morrow.

At the suggestion of Mr. WELSH, this motion, together with the preceding one, calling a special session, was withdrawn.

ORIGINAL RESOLUTIONS.

Mr. NICHOLS offered the following: Resolved, That Kennedy M'Caugh be appointed Assistant Sergeant at Arms of the Senate.

The resolution being read a second time,

Mr. PENNEY said —I wish to call the attention of the Senate at the commencement of the session, not because I oppose the Senator from Philadelphia in anything he wishes, but it becomes desirable that I should es, but it becomes desirable that I should call the attention of the Senate to the custom which has prevailed here for a number of years, which I think would be "better honored in the breach than in the observance." ed in the breach than in the ebservance. —
It is the creation of supernumerary offices for expectant office holders. Now, I am willing to grant all in my power, particularly to my friend from Philadelphia [Mr. Nichors] which we may consider the claims of other to enable him to provide for his constituents in the way he proposes. I have constituents in the way he proposes. I have constituents in the way he proposes. I have constituents in the same here asking for place; yet, I wish to call the attention of the Senate to the fact that we have all the regularly constituted officers of the Senate now appointed. If the Senator.

Mr. CHEGG said: I result remark to recolution of the Senate. a sufficient number of officers in the department to which his resolution relates, then I am per-fectly willing to support his resolution. But I think the Senate should first determine whether they want any more officers: If the Senate does not start out with this determina.

Mr. McHOLS. I would call the attention of the Senator from Allegheny (Mr. Penney.) to the fact that yesterday a resolution was offered in this Senate creating the office of Librarian and electing Mr. Brady to that place. Mr. PENNEY. The office in question was one created last session. for that se sion.

Some that se sion.

The strick I desire to Mr. LAWRENCE suggested to the Senator Mr. LAWR

Mr. SMITH. I voted for the resolution constituting Capt. Brady Librarian of the Senate, both last session and the present session, with the distinct understanding that that office would be necessary as long as our old friend, Capt. Brady, lived. That is about the plain truth; we might as well say so at once; and I intend to vote as I have before done as long as I am here and Capt. Brady comes here. The office of Sergeaut-at-Arms requires two ssistants. The duty of that officer is to distribute documents and see that every member is supplied. We found some delay this morning, owing to the fact that the Sergeant at-Aims had not sufficient help. Under the rule to which you, Mr. SPEAKER, called the atten-tion of that officer yesterday, it will be necessary for the Seigeaut-at-Arms to keep one of his assistants at the door all the time.

[The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, informed the Senate that Mesers. Seltzer, Brodhead, and McGonigal had been appointed a committee to wait upon the Governor and inform him that the House was organized and ready to proceed to busi-Mr. SMITH, (continuing.) The Speaker will see that there is some force in what I have stated. Both of the Assistants of the Sergeant-at Arms will be required at the door, while the place of that offier is in the chair at the bar of the Senate.— It is necessary that we should have an additional Door-Keeper; and, by the way, I considdesire that, embracing, as those resolutions do. in such decision, but it seems to me more dig-subjects of great importance to us, as citizens of mified to let the resolutions take their natural. resolution.

Mr. WEISH. I do not pretend to raise any objection to the resolution offered by the Sena-tor from Philadelphia (Mr. Nichols); but I would enquire where this practice, thus resorted to, is to stop. I have already been applied to by two or three Senators to give them a helping hand. I believe, sir, we have already one assistant Sergeant-at-Arms, and I have been informed on reliable authority that the very able and efficient Sergeant-at-Arms employed last year was able to discharge his duties, as he ceryear was able to thachage his duties, as he cer-cainly did, with marked ability, being assisted by only one gentleman. I think it is not ne-cessary for us to increase the number of these offices, unless it is clearly proven to the Senate that such are absolutely necessary. I think we have had evidence sufficient this morning to show that our friend who has recently been elected to the office of Sergeant-at-Arms is going to have an up-hill business of it, when he must have two assistants in the discharge of his duty. I shall vote only for the creation of those offices which the Senate in its wisdom deems necessary for the transaction of its business.

Mr. MEREDITH. I find myself in the same ituation as the Senator from Philadelphia [Mr. NICHOLS], for I hold in my hand a resolution I was about offering providing for the appointment of a certain person to a certain place.—

Mr. WHARTON. I understand we have two or three assistant door-keepers, or pasters less this session than we had last year. That being so, I do not see any reason why we should not have the same number as then.

Mr. HAIL: I wish to say a word on behalf of my friend, the Senator, from Philadelphia, (Mr. Nichots.) At the beginning of last session, on the motion of the Senator from Franklin, (Mr. M'Cupre,) the unanimous vote of this Senate was given to create an additional Ser-geant-at-Arms. Every gentleman in the Senate voted aye. The present resolution of the Senator from Philadelphia is to do just exactly what

The resolution being still before the Senate, Mr. GREGG said: I would remark, in rep y to the gentleman from B'air (Mr. Hall), that the unanimous vote given last session, to which he refers, was given under peculiar cl cumstances. In the caucus which nominated offi-cers, Capt. Brady was left out, with the under-standing that he should fill the office of Libra-rian, then to be created. I believe there is a
