The Present State of the World.

The world at the present time, says the Buffalo Commercial, presents an interesting aspect. The elements are in unusual commotion. There are wars and rumors of wars. Events have just transpired, and others are transpiring which must materially affect the destinies of the world, and which constitute the present epoch in the world's history.

China has just been the theatre of a struggle in which the haughty spirit of that old Empire has been humbled by the arms of England and France. Here a blow has been struck whose results must be on the side of progress.

If we turn to Europe, we find a similar contest going on between the old and new order of things, with even more gratifying results. Russia has just ushered in the year 1861 with a most magnificent triumph over the barbarisms of a past age, the abolition of serfdom.

Holland has recently perfected an arrangement by which slavery expires in her colonies. France is moving forward in the cause of reform, and granting her people a large liberty.

A similar contest has for some time existed on this side of the Atlantic. In Mexico the struggle has been between priestly despotism, and a new liberal and progressive policy.

HURRA FOR YADKIN! The people of Yadkin, North Carolina, had a Union meeting the other day. It was rousing and enthusiastic. On the occasion the national flag was displayed, with thirty-three stars emblazoned on its folds.

Words of Sobriety from the South.

It is comforting, amid the bravado of the rampant Secessionists of the Yancey school, to find that the wisdom of the fathers of the Republic is not all gone. Hon. John P. King, of Augusta, Georgia, one of the ablest men in that State, has published a series of articles in the Georgia Constitutionalist, against Secession.

This panic has already cost our planters millions in the depreciation of their property; and if it continues long, must prove disastrous to all classes, and to the debtor class must attend with absolute ruin. I wish to show that no immediate danger is to us threatened; that so far as any material interest is concerned, the Union is safe, and that the equality in the Territories—the main question involved—is practically a mere abstraction.

Secession and Its Effects.

While the secession tide is rolling on, the people who first put it into practical operation are reaping the reward of their folly. There are reliable assurances, thro' private sources, that South Carolina is fast drifting into anarchy.

under pretence that they are Abolitionists or Union men. The same condition of things is more or less apparent in the other States that have united, or are uniting themselves, with South Carolina.

MALICE AFORETHOUGHT.—The New York Times says, upon authority, that during the year which has just closed, there were sent from the Springfield armory alone, to South Carolina, 15,000 muskets; to Alabama, 15,000 muskets; to Georgia, 20,000 muskets; to Louisiana, 30,000 muskets; to North Carolina, 25,000 muskets.

From the Springfield (Mass.) Republican. A Springfield Man in Georgia.

Mr. John D. McKnight of Tilly, Haynes & Co's, great clothing house in this city, returned last Saturday evening after a two weeks absence, having been to Georgia on business. He was in Georgia, at Savannah and Macon, for only a week, and although confining himself to these principal towns, he says no one who has not been there can imagine the strict espionage that exists over all strangers, no matter how quietly they deport themselves.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18, 1860.

The papers in the South, and hereabouts, publish a statement that Commodore Shrubrick, of the United States Navy, died recently at Pensacola, Florida. This is not true, as the Commodore is in Washington to-day, attending to business, and is perfectly well.

Defences for the capital are still under preparation, and it is believed they will be more than adequate to resist any invasion.

From present appearances the bids for the new $10 million Treasury loan will run ahead of the amount required, that the average interest will be about eight per cent.

The President has appointed Mr. Holt as permanent Secretary of War, and his appointment has been sent to the Senate. The nomination will, no doubt, be confirmed.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18, 1860.

House.—Mr. Moore (Ky.) rising to a personal explanation, said, that if Mr. Adams' resignation, as reported, had been simply one of the kind of a resignation which could be withdrawn, he would have done so.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE STOCKHOLDERS OF THE EAST PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD COMPANY.

Table with financial data for the East Pennsylvania Railroad Company, including annual meeting details, stockholder information, and financial statements for 1860.

To place the Company in an independent position, clear of debt, and the road properly equipped, it will require about $100,000 over and above all the present resources.

During the year $51,990 69 were expended for locomotives and cars, in addition to the $40,816 62 previously laid out for this purpose, making the whole cost of rolling stock of the road $92,807 31.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18, 1860.

The President has appointed Mr. Holt as permanent Secretary of War, and his appointment has been sent to the Senate. The nomination will, no doubt, be confirmed.
