Thursday Afternoon, February 14, 1861.

Position of President Lincoln. The following article from the Springfield Journal, published a day or two pri-

Tue Compromise Question. — There are s few letter-writers in Springfield who are en deavoring to create the impression that Mr. Lincoln has committed himself to some paricular compromise of the existing difficulties. We have steadily denied this, and time will any that we are correct. We are opposed to show amily. Advantages and rights worker any conternal, drawied no principles will cheerfully affirm to the alter of peace, but principle we will never yield, come what may. On this point we believe that Mr. Lincoun and ourselves agree perfectly. We are in daily contact with Mr. Lincoun and those who are intimate with him, and we have yet to hear a word from him or them complaining of the course of the Journal. When Mr. Lincoln was nominated for the Presidency he assured the country that the principles embodied in the Chicago Platform were his own, and that, if el cted, he would act upon them. His earnest and able advocacy of those principles for years past, in every part of our country—his unflinching firmness in every hour of trial—his devotion to freedom, and his high character for honesty, all warrant us in saying that he will never surrender those principles nor play the traitor to the great party that elected him.— Those who are looking to see Mr. Lincoln lower the Republican standard, are looking in vain. While he lives he will hold it aloft. In less than one month, ABRAHAM LINCOLN, if he lives, will be inaugurated President of the United States of America. From the steps of the Capitol he will proclaim his purpose, his policy, his principles; and our word for it, that address will strengthen all weak backs, make every true Union man's heart bound with joy, and break the ranks of treason. We say again what we have often before said, in substance Mr. Lincoln is not a trailor. He is not composed of material out of which a traitor can be made We will so far play the "organ" as to say to all compromisers and temporizers, go ahead, but don't count ABRAHAM LINCOLN "in" for any plan of adjustment that surrenders the princi-ples upon which he was elected.

Secession for Seceders.

Coercion is a hard word for the seces sionists to hear pronounced, but it trips over their tongues, it would seem, most glibly. Says the Nashville Banner:

Quite an exciting scene occurred at the Alabama convention, after that body had refused by a decided vote to submit their action to the people. The Hon. Nicholas Davis, of Hunts-ville, declared his belief that the people of north-Alabama would never abide the action of that convention, if denied the right of voting upon it. Mr. Yancy thereupon denounced the peo-ple of north Alabama as tories, traitors and rebels, and said they ought to be coerced into a submission to the decree of the convention. Mr. Davis replied that they might attempt coercion, but north Alabama would meet them upon the line and decide the issue at the point coercion, then it should offer itself at once of Maryland and the consent of the inhabitants of the District, nor without compensation. peaceful enforcement of the federal laws. If it deny the right of "coer cion" for the sake of saving "secession," then there are signs that, rather than be taken out of the Union, northern Alabama will secede from southern Alabama, northern Georgia from southern, western Virginia from eastern, and the western half of Maryland from the eastern shore

GOV. SEWARD'S VIEWS ON SAVING THE UNION -A Washington correspondent of the Boston Advertiser gives the following reply of Gov. Seward to the urgent requests that he would assent to measures of compromise :-

The pressure has been very strong on the Re publicans to yield to something like Mr. Crittenden's measures, but it is of no use. When people press Gov. Seward to yield to this, in order to save the country, he replies: "Gentlemen, you think I can save the country by sac rificing myself. Suppose I were to save the country, as you wish, I should have put an end to my power for good or evil forever. I shall have to go back to Auburn and amuse myself with writing history for the rest of my life.—
I am not so blind to experience as to suppose that I can both sacrifice myself and remain leader at the same time. Now, do you want me to retire from public life?" The answer is of course, "No, Governor; we can't do without you." "Then," returns he, "you must let me save the Union in my own way!"

NOT SO ANXIOUS FOR A FIGHT.—The Floridians and Alabamians, it seems, are not so anxious for a collision with the General Government as the South Carodeneral Government as the South Caro-linians appear to be. A messenger arrived the Convention of Texas to refer the se-in Washington from Pensacola, who re-cession ordinance to the people, would who ever doubted that the North and West ports the arrival there of the sloop-of-war strengthen the hands of Houston and the Brooklyn, and states that as soon as she Union men, by making more offensive the made her appearance off the harbor the arbitrary illegal acts of that unauthorized secession troops made arrangements to assemblage, chosen by less than one-third withdraw from the neighborhood, and of the voters of the State. WE continue to receive renewed accounts of great suffering and starvation of the reality.

A Hint to Brigham Young. or to the departure of President Lincoln less Brigham would be pleased could he "civilization," "religion," "progress," for Washington, is significant, emenating sever, with impunity, the relations that bind the spirit of the age and the free instituas it does from a journal which is gener- him to the Federal Government. But under the new doctrine of secession, it has only got to get into the Union and it can step out the next moment. Then if the Federal Governmen attempts to enforce the laws the tion will be be made inere, its acgranded with the terrible name of coercion, and all the secession and anti-coercion presses on the cotinent will be in paroxysims of patriotic and virtuous indignation. Once admitted into the Union the next news would doubtless be that Utah had "resumed the rights delegated by her to the Federal Government," that henceforth and forevermore she would enter into no confederation with any except polygamous States, and that five commissioners, neither of whom had less that fifty wives and four hundred children, were on their way to Washington, to ask old Buck to deliver up all U. S. property within the sovereign State of Utah, and to inform him that Uncle Sam might transport the mails to the "Saints" as long as he chose to do so at his own its Constitution may determine.

AN EXTENSIVE GOLD FIELD.—Thos. Starr King, in a letter about the California gold region to the Boston "Transcript," says: "It is an area equal to the whole of New England, and its riches are scarcely touched as yet. There is no more danger that the wheat produce will give out than that the gold harvest will. The hydraulic pipes, fed by 6,000 miles of aqueduct, may pour out their wrath without stint; the 300 quartz mills, that cost $3,500,000, may roar day and night without fear of draining the yellow crop. It is said by some geologists here that there are single quartz veins in the State which contain more gold than is at present in circulation in all the world."

position, is by no means acceptable to those who believe that no more Constitutional guaranties to slavery should be tional guaranties to slavery should be granted. While it may be well to treat with courtesy and due consideration all such propositions made with an honest purpose of settlement, yet any yielding on the part of the North to innovations upon the present Constitution, with the purpose of present conciliation, will but render more certain and effectual the final oversthrow of the Government. The Border throw of the Government is substantially as follows:—

"I have examined Mitoeri's New General Atlas and find it to be the best work of the kind that I have ever seen. As a map view of the world it seems to leave nothing to be desired. The statistical tables, and the plans of the principal cities, evidently prepared with much care and accuracy, add greatly to its worth. The enlarged maps of the several States, showing the county boundaries—and also, of all the counties to which any special interest attaches, add immensely to its value. The typographical execution of the work is beyond all praise, and it is in seed a splendid illustration of the progress of art in that direction. Every teacher should have a copy, for reference, in his school. It should be in every Library and Reading Room—and no family that can afford the expense should be without it.
