It is valuable because it is not personable, and may be readened available in places and at times when yeast is not within reach, as at sea. au circumstances, it may be adopted, thus obviating all difficulty of procerring yeast or other ferme t, which is frequently of an inferior quality, rer dering the bread more or less unwholessone. It is also valuable as regards. economy, as it has been ascertained that a saving is effected in the float of noi less than 16 per cent. In the commun process much of the succharine of the floar is lost by being converted into carbonic acid gas, or aprit, and the waste is in-curred solely for the purpose of genorating gas to raise the dough. By using Concentrated Leaven this, waste is avoided, and the gas obtained in a manner equally effi-cacious. Fermentation, as has been stated, destroys a part of the flour or meal; end, in consequence, a barrel of flour weighing 196 fbs, which, by the common method, ordinarily makes about 250 fbs of bread, gives by this process 290 fbs, thus effecting the very important saving of 16 per cent. in the quantity of flour. By conformity to the directions on each package, any person capable of ordinary attention may conduct the process, and the re-sult will invariably be highly satisfactory. CERTIFICATE FROM UR. HATES, Ascept to the State of Masacchuetts., "have analysed the Concent, ted Leaven, manufac-tured by Messrs. Edw. Chamberlin & Co., with reference to its purity and efficiency of action in producing the ef-pet of yeast in distending dough, and thereby rendering eff for making bread. This article is skillfully com-founded, from perfectly pure material. It raises the dough without consming the or actes and pastry it is invaluable, as it saves all rick, and much time of the pastry cok. "The experiments made by me confirm the statements made by the manufacturers, and proves this compound worthy of public approval and extended use. "Respectually. "A. A HAYES, M.
