The happy Lieutenant, in return for the compliment, prepared a handsome collation for his "soger" visitors, to which all hands did ample justice.

THE WEATHER took a sudden "right about, face," last night, and from a mild, balmy atmosphere, we bounced out of bed this morning into a temperature almost equal to that of a "stiff January day." This change, we presume, will still the apprehensions of many, who were beginning to fear a premature budding of the fruit trees, and a consequent scarci- govern, as it has a soothing, refining, moral ty of fruit next summer.

Peregrinating Porkers.—It may give the streets of our city a charmingly rural appearance to have a fine fat troop of porkers contendedly sauntering around in search of sustenance, or listlessly lying half buried beneath the rich accumulations of an uncleaned gutter; the police, and the paltry proprietors of the same peripatetic porkers be promptly punished

THE CITY. - A promenade about the city will way of building and repairing. We certainly must regard these evidences as encouraging considering the general depression of business caused by the "crisis" in our national affairs. In no part of the city is this indication of prosperity more apparent than in the Fifth and Sixth wards. The opening of the new machine shops of the Pennsylvania Railroad company on the 1st of April will give an impetus to business in that quarter tending to the most beneficial results. In fine, we look forward to the approaching summer as a

SINGING IN SCHOOLS.—The practice of singing lately introduced into our common schools, is becoming very popular. It is certainly an excellent idea. The practice gives relief to the tedium of the exercises and enlivens the pupils so that they can afterward apply themselves more vigorously.

It is not waste of time but an actual gain .-Pupils can accomplish more in a day when the exercises are interspersed with singing than otherwise. It makes a school more easy to izing and elevating tendency.

By its practice the vocal organs are developed, the voice improved and the pupils are enabled following letter in reply to the last remittance to read better. At any rate an education is incomplete without a practical knowledge of this science, and there is no good reason why it cannot be partially obtained in this way.

Marce makes its bow like a modest prima donna. Its voice is as seductive as the Siren's. and its sky is as pure and enchanting as that of tion, and answers to the Passover of the Hefairy land. The clouds borne along in eccentric brews. patches, look fleecy and warm, and the water as rippled by the wind invites one to an excursion out of town. Now nurses treat their precious charges to a change from artificially heated air to pure southwest breezes, from the prostrating heat of a stove to the genial rays of the sun. Kites soar aloft with majestic motions, tops gyrate on the walks, hoops perform their revolving flight, and marbles represent primitive billiards without one or table. The heat of winter is broken, and the wails of its grief will only be heard in blustering gusts at midnight. Another Esteemed Citizen Dead. -- It becomes again our painful duty to record the death of Mr. WILLIAM COLDER, Sr., who died at a quarter past twelve o'clock this morning, at his residence in Market square.

Mr. Colder was born on the 24th day of July, 1788, at Bel-Air, Harford county, Maryland, and consequently was in the seventythird year of his age. He came to this city when it contained but very few houses, in the year 1812, and has resided here ever since. Commencing life as an humble stage driver, he gradually and steadily rose by industry and strict attention to business to the position of one of the largest stage owners and mail contractors in this country. When railroads commenced to interfere with stage coaches, he became extensively engaged in the transporting business, and was a prominent partner in the "Eagle," "Pioneer," and other lines for the transportation of passengers and merchandize. After the completion of the Pennsylvania railroad, the business in which ne was engaged with others, was finally relinquished, and we find Mr. Colder at the time of his death one of the largest landholders in this city, possessing a large portion of the most valuable soil around it, to the cultivation of which he was constantly and actively engaged, almost up to the hour of his final dissolution. He married at middle age, and became father of five children, two daughters and three sons, of which number one son and daughter have gone before him, together with their mother. The two remaining brothers remain among us, one of them being actively and successfully engaged in business, whilst the other studied divinity, and is ardently and successfully engaged as pastor of a large and respectable congregation. The daughter is and respectatole congregation. The tangular is married to Col. Coverly. He has still two.

Dr. Cheeseman's Pills are invaluable, as they will bring on the monthly period with regularity. Ladies why they brothers and sisters living, one of whom rebeen disappointed in the use of other Pills can place the unmost confidence in Dr. Cheeseman's Pills doing all that sides on the old homestead form in Maryland. The death of Mr. C. will be severely felt, not only by his remaning children and wife, (whom he married but a short time since.) but by a large number of persons who were directly and indirectly employed by him. The founders of this city are thus passing rapidly from existence. and but few of the old settlers femain among us. Their days seem to be rapidly numbered.

LECTURE LAST EVENING.—Col. Worrel's reading of the Rev. Mr. Mercer's oration, (for such it really is,) was listened to last evening with marked-attention by a small but apprciative audience, during the two hours required for its delivery, from the Speaker's desk in the House of Representatives.

All parties equally fell in for a share of the censure of this grand production, but its recommendations were healthful and conciliatory. Singularly enough, although the discourse of the Reverend gentleman was first delivered as SALT RHEUM, SCROFULA, SCALL HEAD, early as the 4th of January last, (Mr. Bucha. nan's fast day,) the policy both of the Peace Congress and by the President,s Inaugural are both distinctly forshadowed. The pamphlet is copyrighted, for which we are sorry. as such an essay should be extensively read by all our citizens, and would be no doubt published through the newspapers were it not for this restriction.

AT ALTOONA, the Pennsylvania Railroad company have a building devoted exclusively to their gas apparatus, containing 20 receivers, each of which is ten feet long, twelve inches in diameter, and which will sustain a pressure of 900 pounds to the square inch. By the aid of one of Merrick & Son's gas pumps, the gas received from the Altoona Gas Works is forced into the receivers to a pressure of 600 pounds. By means of pipes, it is conducted to the cars, and there enters a receiver on each car, (7 feet 6 inches high, 14 inches diameter,) which, with a pressure of 500 to 600 pounds, contains sufficient to supply two 6-foot and one 3-foot burner, 16 to 18 hours, or one round trip. The use of gas proves more satisfactory and popular with passengers, but is probably more expensive than oil or candles.

EASTER.—This annual festival occurs, this year, on the last or 31st day of March. Easter was celebrated by our pagan ancestors in April, as a festival in honor of Eostre, the Saxon goddess of love, or Venus of the North. It is now observed by the Christian church as a festival in commemoration of our Saviour's resurrec-

Fun.—Fun is the most conservative element of society; and ought to be cherished and encouraged by all lawful means. People never plot mischief when they are merry. Laughter is an enemy to malice, a fee to scandal, and a friend to every virtue. It promotes good temper, enlivens the heart, and brightens the in. tellect. Let us laugh when we can.

The London Times of Feb. 5th; says the underwriters of Liverpool and London have determined to raise their rate one per cent. on cargoes from the Southern ports of the United States, in order to cover the war and other expenses. There is another 'lift' to Southern direct trade from the secession madness.

COUGHS.—The sudden changes of our climate are sources of Pulmonary, Bronchial and Ashmatic Affections. Experience having proved that simple remedies often act speedily and certainly when taken in the early stages of the disease, recourse should at once be had to "Browp's Bronchial Troches," or Lozonges, let the Cold, Cough, or Irritation of the Throst we ver so clight, as by this precaution a more serious attack may be warded off.
