FIVE LEGGED CALF.—A calf with five legs lately made its appearance at Wescotville, Lehigh county. It ought to be a good traveler.

THE UNION PRAYER MEETING will be held in the Presbyterian church, corner of Market Square, to-morrow (Saturday) afternoon, commencing at four o'clock, as usual.

MORE COTTON -- Over 1800 bales of cotton arrived in Pittsburg in one day, recently, for shhipment over the Pennsylvania Railroad to the eastern markets. Certainly the course pursued by the Southern or Gulf States is working to the injury of their internal improvements. The fact that so much cotton has been shipped via Northern routes, proves that the cotton growers of the South have more confidence in Northern transporters than in the men and institutions of the seceding States.

-"Scoundrelism." - Our item under this caption yesterday has led to developments which excite universal indignation in community.-The insulted females feeling a delicacy about appearing against the "lewd fellow of a baser sort" alluded to, is the only reason why he was not prosecuted long ago. A repetition of his infamous acts, however, will be followed by severe personal chastisement, and the exposure of his name in print, notwithstanding his position in society. In this connection we deem it proper to caution parents not to send their street for yeast, or to allow them to pass by there at all on their way to and from school.

LOCAL LEGISLATION .- Among the bills now before the Legislature is one authorizing the tion, and to-day but little hope is entertained Governor to commission auctioneers in this of his recovery. We believe his disease is concity. In order to save the public from imposition, irresponsible parties should be prohibited a long time. THE FISHERMEN are doing a good business this season. We learn that eels are barreled in large quantities and shipped to the principal cities, where they command ready Philadelphia Bullein in speaking of the Comsale at fair prices.

Another Man Killed —A few nights ago a man named Hight got upon a Pennsylvania Railroad freight train at New Florence to go to Latrobe, contrary to the rules of the company. The immense shops put up at Harrisburg are now nearly ready for the accommedation of workmen and locomotives. KILLED ON THE RAILROAD. - About five o'clock last evening the dead body of a man was found lying along side of the Pennsylvania Railroad track some three miles below this city. His back and other portions of his body were severely bruised, and one foot cut off. It is supposed that while walking on the track he was little girls to the "old Brewery" on Third run into by the passenger train from the east due here at four o'clock. No reasons could be adduced for the rash deed he had committed, except that he had went security for a certain individual or individuals, and the claim or claims were about being pushed. Mr. Novlit has been a worthy member of society, an excellent neighbor—in fine, an orderly and good citizen. He has left a widow and five children, with whom we sincerely sympathize in this dreadful calamity.

As it would be difficut to supply his place, our people prefer to "hold fast to that which is good;" and if the Judge desires it, they will retain his services for another in this dreadful calamity.

We trust the new article will be an improve ment on that manufactured of strychnine and rain water.

LLOYD'S MINSTRELS.—In another column will be seen the advertisement of this troups. The pany pays them the following handsome compliment:

LLOYDS MINSTREES.—A large and fashionable audience assembled last evening, at Musical Fund Hall, to witness the debut of this great troupe. From our personal knowledge of the abilities of the members of this great star combination, we were led to expect a great treat, and our fondest hopes were more than realized. Minstrelsy has long been our favorite amuse-ment, and we never allow an opportunity to pass by without witnessing the performance of all troupes that visit this city. We have heard them all, and are free to confess that "Lloyd's Minstrels," is the "Model Troupe;" they appear again this evening; let all who can appear again the sevening of the sevening is the sevening of the sevening of the sevening is the sevening of the sevening o preciate good singing and genuine wit attend.

PAPER NECK TIES .- Why not? But a short time since we rejoiced in the luxry of paper collars, and there are still many gentlemen who have not discontinued their use. Paper neck-ties have now been invented, printed in imitation of silk and gingham, with such exactness as to defy detection, save on close inspection. With the advantages of this new invention, the "Beau Brummels" of the present age can sport a "stunning tie," as often as their time or inclination will permit. But why stop here? Why not employ paper in the manufacture of other articles of use and adornment, besides collars and neck-ties? There is no reason why gentlemen's shirt bosoms may not be made of paper, and in either summer or winter they would be decidedly comfortable. In the summer they might be perforated in imitation of lace, and so give opportunity for ventilation, while in winter their texture would be firmer, and consequently warmer, and in ome cases more desirable than linen.

M ODERN CHOIR SINGING.—A correspondent of religious paper, who urges the necessity of a reform in church music, says that our amateur choir singers are too fond of "executing" difficult pieces, and confounding common people with reverberating resonances. The Rector of St. Bardolph's takes off this style most laughably, in describing the singing of the following stanzas :---

"True love is like that precious oil. Which, poured on Aaron's head, Ran down his beard, and o'er his robes It's costly moisture shed."

In the prodigious effort of this performance the ear-splitting combination of the several voices hardly bore a resemblance to that oily current poured on Aaron's head, and which

"Ran down his beard, and o'er his head, Ran down his beard--his robes And o'er his robes-

Ran down his beard-ran down his His robes, his robes, ran down his beard—
