WANTED AT THIS OFFICE an active and intelligent boy, who can read manuscript readily and accurately, and will make himself generally useful.

NOVEL LEGAL DECISION .- Judge Low, of St. Louis, has decided that a paper published in the interest of a religious sect, is not a newspaper, and that the legal notices published in such journals are null and void.

FUNERAL OF AN OLD SOLDIER. - Wm. T. Williams, for many years an Ordnance Sergeant in the army, died at Carlisle on Sunday morning last, and was buried on Monday with military honors-the command at the garrison, and the Carlisle Infantry and Sumner Rifles participating.

Exhibition this Evening.—An exhibition will be given in the Hall of the House of Representatives this evening by the pupils of the Pennsylvania training school for feeble minded children. No persons will be admitted to the floor of the House but members of the Legislature, officers of the Government, and such "outsiders" as may be introduced by them.

THE CITY HOSPITAL .- Last night five unfortunates sought shelter from the "peltings of as opportune now to the unemployed politithe pittiless storm" in the asylum for vagrants, clans, as are shad to the appetite of the good and were properly cared for by the attentive superintendent. Most of them were dilipidated specimens of humanity, "without local habitations," and by friends and fortune quite disowned. This morning they were provided with refreshments, and then discharged to gesume their weary tramp.

IMPORTANT MEASURE. -- A bill is now before the Egislature relative to licensing beer-houses and restaurants. It provides that no beer house, brewery, or eating-house licenses shall hereafter be granted except by the Court of Quarter Sessions. The petitions must be published according the eighth section of the Act of March 81, 1856; and the tenth section of the Act of March 1858, repealing the above.-The Court has discretion to grant or reject a Supposed THIEF. - A drunken Irish woman was picked up on the street vesterday afternoon by officer Wickert, and taken to prison. A few nights previous she was an inmate of the lock-up, and on being discharged begged a quarter from the Mayor to purchase food, as she stated. The money, however, was spent for whiskey, on which she got excessively inebriated, and hence her arrest yesterday. Her bundle was examined in prison, and among other articles contained a whole web of calico. no doubt stolen from some store in this city. The woman is a stranger here, but evidently an 'old traveler' and professional thief.

FORTUME TELLING .- The bill to suppress for tune telling-the main features of which we have already published -passed the Senate finally yesterday. The provision relative to "Spiritual Rapping" was very properly stricken out. The bill, in its present shape, is a good one, and will effectually crush out the swindling impostors who have long imposed upon and filched money from the pockets of Northern Central Railway Company, which the unsophisticated and credulous. WINTER still "lingers in the lap of Spring." For several days past the weather be been decidedly January-like, and this morning our citizens awoke to find old mother earth robed in a mantle of white, about two inches of snow having fallen during the night. In common with our reportorial brethren we were "slightly previous" in announcing the advent of Spring, at the beginning of the month. The little birds which then freated us to such charming morning concerts have folded their wings, ceased their sosses, and sought shelter from cruel Jack Frost, who makes such hideous faces at them as to freeze them with terror .-The "oldest inhabitants" say that they do not remember a colder month of March than the present has been thus far. We long to chronicle the departure of the old frost-crowned Winter King, and welcome the advent of vonthful blooming Spring-

And more wonderful still, we see springing into life a new generation of insects and creeping things, and birds and beasts. "In wisdom hast Thou made them all."

Accordants.—On Friday morning last a man named Thomas Hand, working in the Big Run Gap coal mines, was struck by falling coal and instantly killed. The deceased was an admirable workman, and was much esteemed by all who knew him. He leaves a wife and child in a somewhat destitute condition. On Monday evening a man named John Shenan was seriously injured by falling coal in the mines of the Lykens Valley company. On Tuesday evening a man named Thomas Booker was dangerously injured by being caught between two coal cars. His condition is reported critical.

THAT NUISANCE. - An anonymous correspond ent calls our attention to an underground restaurant on Market street, "patronized principally by a low class of blacklegs," which he says "is conducted in such a manner as to render it a public nuisance." If our correspondent is booked up, as he professes to be, it is his duty to make complaint against the establishment referred to, and crush it out by legal process. If he is a good citizen, and a man of moral courge, he will do this, and not trouble us with anonymous notes on the subject.

PLACE HUNTERS.—Appointments to office are liver. The depression in business has made as many idlers as a carcass attracts flies. The appetite is as keen with the ope as with the other; but the former have a poor prospect of her part of the agreement. This was the case appeasing it. > APPROPRIATION TO THE FIREMEN.-Yesterday pending the consideration of the appropriation House from Lycoming county, to Edeliver bill in the House, another effort was made by Dr. Heck, seconded by Col. Patterson of Juniata, to insert as one of the items an appropriation of one hundred dollars to each of the fire companies of this city. The proposition failed, however, not more than twenty members voting for it, among the number Mr. Clark the Republican member from this county. A motion to amend, by inserting fifty dollars each, was also defeated. The impression having been made upon the minds of Republican members that the defeat of Col. Wallower, last fall, was mainly the result of a conspiracy among our firemen, accounts for the action of the House in this matter. CORPORATION MOONLIGHT .- We certainly think should decide whether they are living in a "one-horse" willage, or in a populous city.-The trouble is not in the unfaithfulness of the gas company or the lamp-lighter, but in the Common Council, who neglect to order the streets to be lit at such times as the almanac tells them the moon will be visible. They contract partly with the moon and partly with the gas manufacturers; and the moon fails to fulfil last night. The "bright silver moon" was tofices cannot be trebled in number, so that there tally obscured by clouds, and after the stores would be a scarcity of employees in mechanical and shops closed, darkness black as Erebus prevalled, rendering locomotion both difficult and dangerous for belated pedestrians.
