FX GOVERNOR RITNER.

We noticed from our sanctum window this morning, the venerable Joseph Ritner, Ex-Governor of Penusylvania, slowly walking along the path in the Capitol grounds, on his way apparently to the Departments. Ex-Governor Ritner looks hale and hearty, though he is now beyond the advanced age of eighty years. Since the commencement of hostilities by the rebels on the federal government, and during the organization of the Pennsylvania forces, we learn that the Ez-Governor has devoted a considerable time to visiting the encampments near Chambersburg, encouraging the soldiers by his presence, as well as giving the officers the benefit of his experience and counsel.

Thus shut out from the association and recognition of those from whom they expected so much sympathy-refused a recognition because of their utter abasement, and deprived of an asylum abroad-our rebel belligerents are send. ing their wives and children to the north. The hospitable and gay cities of Pennsylvania afford such asylum to thousands, while thousands more are now hamleted among our hills and vallies, secure from the rude touch of war. Nor is this all. Those who have money in the south, who have escaped the vulture eyes of the rebel government, have deposited such resources long since with the bankers of the north. Everything that was valuable and movable, has been long since in some safe depository in the north. There is a simple argument in these facts, which does more to destroy secession than all the diplomacy could effect in years of correspondence. There is an admission of a lack of confidence in their own demands, a want of devotion to their own cause, that leave no room to doubt the actual result of the struggle. The movement that is unworthy the confidence of our mothers and sisters, and in the progress of which we cannot trust our wives and children, must indeed be piratical and uncertain. It leaves the world but to a single conclusion, that those engaged in it are unwilling to trust their wealth to its fluctuations-the best evidence we could have that this rebellion is bound to be a failure.

THE ST. LOUIS DEMOCRAT advocates the arrest and punishment of Gov. Jackson, of Missouri, as a common disturber of the peace; and prononnces him a traitor in law and in fact--worthy in all particulars of a traitor's doom.

THE WAR DEPARTMENT IS now moving in ear-

Pennsylvania has been ready to pay her militia two months since, and we want this fact dis-where. While other states have been boasting, and receiving credit for what they have not done, the authorities of this state have the want of proper officers to disburse her funds.

There is another matter connected with the payment of the volunteers, which we trust our own authorities, as well as the War Department, will vigilantly guard. The army is filled with hordes of "shysters" and speculators, who have been taking advantage of the failure of the men to receive their pay, to advance some of them money at exorbitant interests, to trust others for the most valueless articles, and thus to impose upon the soldier in every possible
