THE THREE MILLION LOAN.

PENNSYLVANIA AND THE WAR.

Millions for Defence-Not One Cent for Tribute.

The credit of a people like that of an individual, is best tested when threatened with embarrassments. If the capitalists of a countrymostly the shrewdest and most observing of all other men—refuse their aid and confidence to Kittaning Bank, Kittaning, Pa., a movement, its success is not only doubtful Bank of Middletown, Middletown, Pa., but the efforts of those engaged in it soon beMichael F. Clark, Philadelphia, comes wearying, burdensome and abortive.-In the great struggle in which the loyal states are engaged, they could schleve nothing withare engaged, they could achieve nothing without money. However thousands of men might obey the summons to arms—brave and ardent as our armies might be, without money to provide the means for defence, the rebellion Charles McCowan, at the south could spread its horrible phalanx John B. Rowbotham. over every loyal state, burn our towns and cities, devastate our fields, and level to their R.S. Walton, own barbarism, the proud structure of the freest Jao. Roset, Bucks county, and most beneficent government on God's foot | Ellis Lewis and others, Philadelphia, stool. The State of Pennsylvania has proven Henry Duhring and others, that she has men who do not pause to have a Henry Hebsacker, summons repeated for them to enter the Sarah A. Brown, summons repeated for them to enter the James W. Healy, ranks of the army in defence of a common G. S. Gillette, Union. Her regiments now not only fill Henry Williams, several encampments in her own borders, and Joshua J. Barnes, do battle in the face of the enemy for the compacts and compromises of the country.

In view of all these truths, it seemed almost fitting that a portion of the people of Pennsylvania should come forward to sustain their brethren in the camp and on the battle field, in a manner peculiar to themselves. It was ntting that while one portion of the people James Wilson, Adams county, were arming, another should be pouring their treasures into the treasury of the state, to sustain the common cause against a common enemy. The loan which was taken yesterday, is the best evidence that could be adduced of a free people's confidence in a free government and when this tender of money is added to her offering of men, we are almost confident that it will spare to Pennsylvania many a gallant son Mary Oceanan, who might otherwise have fallen in battle; as Andrew C. Cummings, it must inevitably prove to the rebels of the John'A. Brown, and that a people who are thus willing to J. A. Eyster, Chambersburg, Eire Inc. Co. of Northampton co. One of the most gratifying features connectat par. We all know that Pennsylvania has Drexel & Co. Philadelphia, already a considerable debt, but her willingness and ability and intention to pay have here been questioned. Her ordic is as good W. H. Report Report while the confidence which is reposed in her by her own people, is as much an evidence of the purity of the policy which governs them, as it is an illustration of their own loyalty and patriotism. Is must be remembered that this loan was effected when the market was filled with applications for similar negotiations, and when the market was filled with applications for similar negotiations, and the load of the l when, too, United States Sixes were salling at Thus.
